BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, April 17.—Providing for complete exclusion of Japanese immigrants and a 50 per cent reduction in the number of Europeans admitted, the immigration restriction bill is ready for passage in the Senate tomorrow.

The way was paved today for speedy submission of the measure to the President when the Senate adopted the provision of the House bill fixing European quotas at 2 per cent of the number of nationals of each country living in the United States in 1890.

Under this provision immigration from Europe will be reduced to 160,000 annually compared with the 350,000 now coming in on a basis of 3 per cent on the foreign population in 1910. In taking this step the Senate rejected the recommendation of its committee that the basis be made 2 per cent of the foreign population of 1910 under which 240,000 would be admitted.

FAVORS NORDIC RACES

Under the House provision, now approved by the Senate, only a fraction of the number of Italians, Greeks, Jugo-Slavs and other southern and eastern Europeans now coming in will be admitted, while a larger proportion of northern and western Europeans will be allowed. In 1890 the flood of immigration from Southern and Eastern Europe had scarcely begun and by taking 1890 as a basis, Congress aims to protect and perpetuate the predominant Nordic strain in the blood of the American people.

Both houses have now adopted this scheme of restriction in the face of protests from the governments of Italy, Rumania and other European nations, whose nationals are affected adversely, and which were couched in terms scarcely less offensive than the Japan protest and which aroused almost as much resentment at the Capitol.

TO PRESIDENT SOON

It had been expected that the two houses would fail to agree on the quotas and that the bill would be held up in conference committee for weeks. In view of the agreement on the quota basis reached today, the bill should reach the President with comparatively little delay, although there will be a hitch in the proceedings if the Senate insists on its proposal, that beginning July 1, 1927, the year 1920 be taken as a quota basis, which would have the effect of admitting more southeastern and fewer northwestern Europeans proportionately than now. The Senate, which adopted this provision yesterday, sugared the pill with a limitation of the annual European influx to 150,000.

Secretary of State Hughes and Senator Lodge, Republican, Massachusetts, majority leader of the Senate, conferred with President Coolidge separately today on the Japanese exclusion question, but no authoritative information concern-

TOKIO PAPERS HINT JAPAN MAY RECALL ENVOY TO AMERICA

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

TOKIO, April 17.—The Japanese press today was a unit in crying to the world against America's decision to exclude her nationals from the United States. Japan's move in protesting the action of the United States Congress, according to the Temiuri, one of the leading newspapers of the empire, is the result of Ambassador Hanihara's recall from the United States immediately after the American Senate renders a final decision on the Japanese immigration bill. A message from President Coolidge is awaited with almost breathless interest. The Temiuri also adds that Foreign Minister Hanihara will resign if the immigration bill becomes law.

GOVERNMENT CALM

Japan remains calm, however, and the immigration issue is not an internal problem and Japan is wholly within its rights in the general outcry clearly voices the deep resentment of the Japanese people.

The Asahi Shimbun, a Tokio journal in the discussion of complications, declares:

"Japan should remember that the Hanihara note is the entire Japanese na-

As to the government to consider what steps should the anti-alien measure become a law, the Nichi Nichi suggests discriminatory measures against Americans in Japan or a boycott against American goods.

Mexico Inclined to Look Favorably on Colonization by Oriental Immigrants, Officials Indicate

BY JACK STARR-HUNT
[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

MEXICO CITY, April 17.—Mexico will welcome colonization by Japanese, President Obregon declared today in answer to a direct query regarding the government's attitude in regard to settlement of large numbers of Japanese immigrants in the republic.

Japan has several large ... lishing their business. If they are merely workmen who would compete with Mexican labor and thus force reductions in the wage standard, I am against the idea entirely. As the proposed immigration would have considerable effect on local conditions and incidentally on the nation as a whole, I believe that the Governors in the States where these immigrants would settle should be consulted and their views obtained.

ECONOMIC EFFECT

"Immigration on a large scale would not only affect the wage standard of the country but also the prices of all articles of food and clothing as well as the general economic condition of the country. For that reason the questions should be carefully studied before they are allowed to become effective."

The States most likely to be settled by the Japanese should they come to this country in large numbers are Sonora, Sinaloa, Nayarit and Jalisco. The governors of both Nayarit and Sonora are quoted here as having stated they could each look after 10,000 Japanese immigrants. Newspapers recently have been devoting considerable space to reports that more than 30,000 Japanese intended to come to Mexico in the event that the government does not adopt a policy against such a move.

Fire Razes Signal Hill Residences

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, April 17.—Twenty-four families lost their homes in a fire that swept two bungalow courts, two large garages and a grocery store in the Signal Hill district late tonight. The damage was estimated at $20,000.

Breaking out in a small cottage adjoining the two bungalow courts, the flames were fanned by a high breeze that rapidly carried them to all the near-by structures. The Long Beach fire-fighting equipment was dispatched to the scene despite the fact that the territory is outside the city limits. The apparatus of the Shell Oil Company also helped prevent spread of the fire.

Most of the occupants of the courts had retired before the fire broke out and they ran from their homes in night dresses, carrying what household furniture they could handle to safety.

The bungalow courts and the garages in connection with them were owned by Leon and Burton Benwell, prominent oil and real estate operators. L. Carle operated the grocery store.

Treasury Chief Notes Little of Consequence to Disturb Business

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, April 17.—Secretary Mellon regards present business as in an ebb, but considers the condition is not highly consequential, it was said today at the Treasury where it was disclosed also that the general situation had been discussed at a recent Cabinet meeting. Most of the Cabinet, it was said, hold the same view as the Treasury head, who believes that there is sufficient new business originating to check the present tendency toward a lessening in activity.

The credit situation is regarded by Mr. Mellon as good and indications at the Treasury point to little sentiment prevailing for tampering with the rediscount rates of the Federal reserve banks. The reserve board itself, has only one or two members holding the view that changes in the discount rate are advisable.

Some of the Cabinet members regard present business conditions as propitious in that the stocks held by most retailers are low and their replenishment imminent.

The Cabinet generally believes, it was said, that the administration's efforts toward relieving agriculture have met with a degree of success, and that the results will be much more apparent in two months. President Coolidge takes the attitude, it is understood, that the farm relief program has been directed properly and his advisers insist that the returns to the farmers this year will prove the wisdom of the course adopted.

Cafe Waiters to Demand Levy of Service Charge

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN FRANCISCO, April 17.—San Francisco cafe patrons are facing a service charge which the Waiters' Union wants levied against all customers as an alternative should a wage increase from $3 to $4 be denied. In a plea to hotel and cafe owners, the waiters ask a charge of 20 per cent on all meal checks less than $3; 15 per cent on checks up to $10 and 10 per cent over that. Within a short time, if the plan goes through, diners when they ask for their checks will hear this:

"Your bill is $2.50—without the waiter."

Pekingese "Pingy" Passing, Puts Pathos in Piano Playing

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, April 17.—Dog specialists today gave Pingy, but six days to live, wherefore there is a new note of sadness in the music played by the great Paderewski, for he and his wife are deeply attached to Pingy, a Pekingese, the gift of a Chinese prince to Mme. Paderewski.

The Paderewskis brought Pingy to a specialist here, cancelling concerts. All night they remained awake beside the silk-lined bassinet containing the dog, which, according to the specialist, has indigestion, the result of too many chocolates; gastritis, traced to the same source; inflammation of the stomach, due to improper food and lack of exercise, and finally he is 15 years of age, which is old age for a dog.

Assassination Scheme Against Obregon Nipped

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

MEXICO CITY, April 17.—Press dispatches from Guadalajara quoting official sources state that a plot has been discovered to assassinate President Obregon when he reached Guadalajara en route to the bathing beach at Cuyutlan. Dispatches state that rebel colonels, Jose Basurto and J. Gaona, have been arrested as chief instigators and shot when they attempted fight and also attacked guards. A man named Sauza is also charged with complicity.

Gov. Hunt Threatens Use of Force to Halt Tourists Held at Border

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

TUCSON (Ariz.) April 17.—Over long-distance telephone about midnight Gov. Hunt at Florence told the Arizona Daily Star that he was attempting to get in touch with Gen. Charles W. Harris at Tempe and instruct him to have one company of Arizona National Guard prepared for immediate transportation to Yuma.

His action was taken after officials enforcing the foot-and-mouth quarantine at the border city had advised him that between 500 and 600 automobilists on the California side of the line had held a mass meeting and notified them they were "coming through" in the morning despite the Governor's quarantine order forbidding it.

"I don't want to work any hardship on anybody," Gov. Hunt said, "but self-preservation is the first law of nature and so long as the prosperity and even the lives of Arizona people are endangered by the cattle epidemic I don't intend to let down the bars one bit. I don't know how many troops will be needed at Yuma, but I will stop at nothing to enforce the order."

HATFIELD GETS THE CASH

"Rainmaker" Paid $8000 for Wooing Two Inches of Rain From Clouds in Thirty Days

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

HANFORD, April 17.—"Rainmaker" Charles M. Hatfield, who from March 15 to the 15th inst. "wooed clouds" as a source of income and made good at the job, was paid in full today.

At a conference held in Lemoore today, the average of the five official rain gauges in the territory in which Hatfield agreed to send rain upon the crops of Tulare Lake grain growers and Coalinga and Lemoore live-stock raisers, was found to be 2.29 inches of precipitation since March 15, and the check for $8000 deposited in escrow was turned over to the rainmaker.

PROUD OF WORK

"I earned the money," he said. "I delivered the goods and am entitled to my pay. I point with pride to the achievement. The records show that the heaviest rains which fell in California between March 15 and April 15, fell within the seventy-five-mile circle in which I operated my plant in the coast range mountains fourteen miles west of Coalinga. During the same period localities which are normally wet, received practically no rain—notably Bakersfield, Fresno and Hanford—you county, in the upper end of the Sacramento Valley."

Hatfield's agreement was that he would "make rain" for the period of thirty days and if he failed to make as much as one and a quarter inch he was to get nothing.

THE CONTRACT

If he made that amount he was to get $2000. For each fourth of an inch in addition he was to receive $2000 more up to two inches, when his contract as to quantity expired. However, he was to remain on the job the full thirty days.

When he began to operate his plant, the rainfall in the territory he worked in was 2.48 inches. Today is 4.77 inches on the average at the five designated points of measurement.

Virtually all of the 2.29 inches of rain fell in this locality from the 1st to the 4th inst. and only one sprinkle has been noted since, though the plant was kept in operation up to Tuesday noon.

Emigrants Told Canadian Border is Not Guarded

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BUDAPEST, April 17.—Emigrants in Eastern Europe now are being taught to slip into the United States via the Canadian frontier.

Foreign shipping companies have started a campaign to advertise Canada to Budapest, Bucharest, Belgrade, Warsaw, Danzig, Athens and other big immigration centers, and the unofficial word is being passed along that emigrants who cannot get themselves included in the American quota will have no difficulty in entering the United States from Canada.

"The frontier is not guarded and all you will have to do to reach the United States is to walk across," runners of these steamship agents tell prospective emigrants.

GUESTS ON YACHT OF J. P. MORGAN SLAIN IN ALBANIA

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

ATHENS, April 17.—The bodies of two Americans, believed to be members of J. Pierpont Morgan's party, on the yacht Corsair were discovered today in a wooded region near Tirana, Albania, according to an official report received by the Greek Minister of War from the Greek military authorities in the Epirus district on the Greek-Albanian frontier.

The report states that the Americans, whose names have not yet been ascertained, were murdered by a band of fifteen Albanian bandits.

The Albanian government is greatly alarmed at this new outrage against the Americans, which follows the recent murder of Robert L. Coleman of San Francisco and George B. DeLong of New York at Tirana. The government is taking vigorous measures to track the murderers.

The yacht Corsair, with Mr. and Mrs. Morgan on board, left Naples last month for a cruise in the Adriatic and Mediterranean seas. Late in March the Corsair was reported as cruising among the Greek islands.

Robert L. Coleman of San Francisco and George B. DeLong, of New York, recently were murdered by bandits near Tirana.

ROME, April 17.—The Albanian minister at a late hour tonight said he had received no report from Albania regarding the rumor that two additional Americans had been killed by bandits at or near Tirana. He added that in view of the fact that he had received no information, he believed the report untrue.

BRITISH LIBERALS SPLIT ON SUPPORT OF LABOR REGIME

BY JOHN STEELE
[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

LONDON, April 17.—London is emtpy. Every one who could draw from the bank, beg or borrow fare to the seaside is gone, and until Tuesday next there will be nothing doing in the capital of the British Empire.

Parliament is up until the end of the month, and the members of Parliament have gone to their constituencies to look after fences and find out how the country feels about the Socialist government. This latter feature of the holidays is likely to have important effects after Easter.

LIBERALS DIVIDED

The Liberal party is split wide open over the policy of supporting the Socialists. About one-third of the members are rebellious against Mr. H. H. Asquith's leadership, and threaten to bolt from the party if he goes on following the Socialist lead. David Lloyd George is in sympathy with this section, and at a recent party meeting spoke plainly about the necessity of taking an independent liberal line.

The other two-thirds, however, are more Socialist than Liberal, and are likely to bolt if Mr. Asquith and Mr. Lloyd George try to lead them into the opposition lobby for the purpose of defeating the government. The first opportunity for such action will likely come on the budget, which will be introduced immediately after the Easter recess. A defeat on the

GERMANY ORDERED TO SPEED UP WORK ON DAWES SCHEME

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

PARIS, April 17.—The Reparations Commission this afternoon virtually told Germany to get down to work preparatory to a blanket acceptance of the experts' reports. Prior to this, the commission decided unanimously to take note of Germany's reply adhering to the experts' reports and to approve the conclusions and adopt the methods proposed.

Need for speed was the outstanding feature of the commission's communique which tells Germany to prepare enabling legislation for the commission to approve so that when the Allied governments—as seems taken for granted—adopt the experts' reports the ground work of the structure which Brig.-Gen. Dawes, Owen D. Young and other experts envisaged, will already be laid.

Pending Germany's compliance with the Reparations Commission's demand, feelers will be put forth from London, Paris and Brussels designed to bring the experts' project into concrete form as rapidly as possible, for obviously the members of the Reparations Commission did not reach today's decision without the full approval of their governments.

ASK NOMINATIONS

The commission's aim, as outlined by one of the members, is to get a general agreement on all noncontroversial points of the plan before taking up debatable questions, such as abandonment of eco-

STRANDED TOURISTS ASK AID

Motorists Held in Arizona Due to Embargo Are Out of Funds and Soon Will Need Food

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN BERNARDINO, April 17.—An urgent appeal for help was received here today from Mayor C. E. Stauter of Needles on behalf of the Arizona-bound motorists stranded at Needles as a result of the embargo placed against California by Arizona.

The number is variously estimated from 250 at Needles to 2000 in the border area. The latter is the territory lying between Needles and the State line several miles east of the city.

Food supplies in Needles are running low, the message stated, and the stranded motorists are virtually out of funds. Actual suffering will prevail among them by tomorrow unless aid reaches them quickly.

MAYOR'S MESSAGE

"We now have between 700 and 800 cars held up at Needles. A large per cent of the 2000 motorists will be without means by Friday. Cannot the State arrange some means of relief either by waiving for these people or by some method of fumigation that would satisfy Arizona authorities so that these cars can pass on? Am taking this matter up with the Board of Supervisors of this county because it is serious to us and I sincerely hope you can give us some relief."

Immediately after receiving the message, the board called Horticul-

PROTEST ACT OF SHIPPING BOARD

Operators Argue Against Use of Section 28

Cite Hardships Clause Would Work on Ports

Deny Claim That American Tonnage Sufficient

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, April 17.—Charges that the Shipping Board was not warranted by the facts in certifying that there is now sufficient American foreign tonnage to handle American foreign trade were made by representatives of shipping and port interests from all sections of the country today before the Interstate Commerce Commission. They asked for a material postponement of the date, now fixed as May 26, when Section No. 28 of the Merchant Marine Act shall become effective.

Early operation of the section, which would require through rail and water rates for commodities moved in American bottoms, would work extreme hardship on every port in the country except New York, it was asserted, and would divert a large tonnage of American trade to Canadian railroads and ports.

CITES HARDSHIP

J. C. Jeffery, representing the Millers National Federation, claimed the operation of the section would place a handicap on flour exports that would move a great part of the American industry to Canada.

Spokesmen for the Sinclair Oil Company asserted that companies in the mid-continent oil field would be forced to pay increased rates because there are virtually no American tankers available to carry their products.

Meat-packing interests complained that the Shipping Board had never sought information regarding the shipping needs of that industry before certifying that there was adequate American tonnage to carry meat exports.

Representatives of several New England ports said these ports would suffer a serious loss of shipping to New York if Section No. 28 were put into effect under present conditions.

PREFERENTIAL RATES

John H. Burchmore, appearing for the National Industrial Trade Association, which he said represents exporters and importers all over the country, told the commission operation of the section would cause flagrant violations of the prohibition in the Interstate Commerce Act against preferential rates.

Other spokesmen for American industries contended that the commission has the right to investigate shipping conditions and require the Shipping Board to "lay its cards on the table" and produce proof that American shipping facilities are adequate before ordering the section into operation.

budget would force the government to resign, but it is not certain now whether even if the Liberal leaders tried they could deliver the vote of their followers against the government.

FIGHT ON TARIFF

It was announced today that Chancellor of the Exchequer Philipp Snowden is determined to drop what is known as the McKenna duties. This, a tariff of 33 1-3 per cent on automobiles, films, clocks, watches and musical instruments, introduced at the beginning of the war by the Liberal Chancellor of the Exchequer, Reginald McKenna, with a promise that it would be dropped as soon as the war was over. The object to it was twofold—to restrict spending on luxuries and to protect the essential industries during the war. The effect, particularly on the motor trades, has been to build up the prosperity of British industry, which would likely be destroyed if the protection were withdrawn. Coventry, which is the seat of the British motor industry, is booming, but the boom is pricked if mass production of American cars are admitted one equal terms.

The Liberals, however, are demanding a repeal of the duties and are sure to vote with the government if this feature is in the budget, spite of what their leaders may.

'US BILL ATE TO ENTODAY

Democratic Strength for Cash Option Unknown; Veto Overruling Involved

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, April 17.—With debate on the soldiers' bonus bill expected to commence in the Senate tomorrow, those in charge of the measure were unwilling to predict whether the Democrats would succeed in adding a cash feature.

Senator Curtis, Republican, of Kansas, who will be in charge of the bill, said that no polls had been made and that he did not know whether or not those favoring a cash bonus as an alternative to twenty-year endowment insurance certificates would be able to muster a majority.

Senator Curtis said that he had not discussed with President Coolidge the possibility of his signing the bonus bill if it provided only for insurance certificates. It was the opinion of the Kansas Senator that an insurance bill would have a better chance of passage over the President's veto than one with a cash option.

Although not making any predictions as to the passage of bonus legislation over the President's veto, Senator Curtis said he understood that only about twenty-six Senators are definitely opposed to any bonus legislation. With all Senators voting, more than thirty-two Senators would have to line up against the bonus legislation to prevent its passage over the President's veto.

SENATE ADOPTS LOWER QUOTAS

ing the attitude of the executive was forthcoming.

The general opinion among officials is that the President will not veto the bill. Some think he will sign, others that he will allow the measure to become a law without his signature ten days after its receipt under the terms of the Constitution.

Administration leaders assert that Ambassador Hanihara had not the slightest intention of making a threat when he employed the phrase "grave consequences" in his letter to Secretary Hughes. It was pointed out that the idea of threatening any nation is farthest from the thoughts of the Japanese government, which just now is weighed down with problems of reconstruction following one of the most disastrous catastrophes which ever overtook a nation. The country, it is pointed out, is striving in every way to cut down its expenditure for government, in order that the nation may have a chance to recuperate from the blow of the earthquake, and to take care of the enormous loans which Japan was obliged to seek in the United States and in England. For a hundred years, it was declared, Japan will be thinking of anything but threatening another powerful nation, even if her people were of a character to seek trouble.

STATES AGREEMENT

Ambassador Hanihara's letter, it was declared, was primarily concerned with the question of the gentlemen's agreement. This agreement was not in definite, brief form, but consisted of a mass of correspondence extending over a period of more than a year. While the gist of the agreement was thoroughly understood both by the American and the Japanese governments, it was not in such shape that it could be drawn out of a pigeon hole and presented for publication. Therefore when members of the House complained of not having knowledge of the terms of the agreement, the Japanese Ambassador undertook the responsibility of stating its terms, reiterating the willingness of Japan to abide by it, and even offering to consider the question of its amendment.

In the opinion of administration officials, this was not only perfectly proper on the part of Ambassador Hanihara, but it also showed a willingness on the part of the Japanese government to assume responsibility in stating the terms in one-two-three order and a willingness to co-operate that was highly commendable.

RIGHTS RECOGNIZED

It was emphasized that Ambassador Hanihara frankly admitted the right of the United States to deal with the question of immigration and denied any wish to dictate. His letter, it was stated, was primarily concerned with the agreement, and with the proposal of the Japanese government to discuss possible amendments of that agreement. When he spoke of "grave consequences," it was stated, he unquestionably meant the words to be taken in connection with the phrases following, which spoke of the "otherwise happy and mutually advantageous relations between our two countries."

While there is a general tendency among officials to deprecate any talk of Japanese threatening the United States, they are practically unanimous in the opinion that the immigration question is one of the gravest moment in the relations between the two countries. An administration spokesman emphasized today that it was not an ephemeral question, but one of real seriousness not only for the present, but for generations to come.

It was again denied at the Japanese Embassy today that Ambassador Hanihara is planning to return to Japan, despite press dispatches to that effect from Tokio.

son tonight for assistance for nearly 500 automobile tourists, including many women and children, who are detained in the desert near the Colorado River because of the refusal of Arizona authorities to allow them to enter that State.

The condition of some of the people in the crowd stalled near the State line is pitiable, according to reports to Sheriff Gillett. Several special deputies were sent to the scene to lend whatever assistance is possible. Most of the people in the crowd are asserted to be without food or bedding. A deputy sheriff said he counted 250 California automobile licenses on the cars in the crowd. The scene of the detention is at Knob, near the Fort Yuma Indian reservation. A Southern Pacific train was stopped tonight and a tank car of water was confiscated by the crowd to relieve their thirst.

Warning was issued by the Sheriff tonight to all persons planning automobile trips to Arizona to postpone their plans until definite assurance is obtained that they will be permitted to cross the river at Yuma.

ARIZONA STANDS ON QUARANTINE RULE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

PHOENIX (Ariz.) April 17.—Prompted by reports that nearly 1000 motorists were waiting in California cities across the State boundary for entry into Arizona, the State Live-stock Sanitary Board tonight reiterated previous declarations that the embargo on vehicular traffic from the neighboring State will remain effective indefinitely.

"The embargo declared March 26, prohibiting importation of California products still stands, as well as all subsequent quarantine orders," said the board's declaration, issued by Dr. S. E. Douglas, State Veterinarian. The announcement added that the embargo would be strictly inforced in accordance with Gov. Hunt's specific instructions.

Reports received by the board tonight stated that hundreds of motorists were waiting for passage at Needles, Cal., while others were waiting admission opposite Yuma and other boundary cities.

tory of the gentlemen's agreement and declares that Japan has faithfully carried out all the provisions.

"Americans should seek an immediately happy solution of this knotty problem for America's sake, not for Japan's," Tokutomi writes.

The Tokio Nichi Nichi declares: "The honor of Japan has been mercilessly destroyed. Americans pride themselves on their belief in liberty and equality but it is a false pretense."

The Jiji Shimpo says the Hainhara letter only furnished an excuse for Japan's enemies. Americans, the newspaper says, should consider the difference of the degree of the insult Congressmen insist they received from the Ambassador and the insult which exclusion means to Japanese.

OFFICIAL JAPAN PLANS NO REPRISALS

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

TOKIO, April 16.—The resignation of oriental fatalism characterizes the spirit in which Japanese leaders have received news of the United State Senate's acceptance of the Japanese exclusion amendment.

"It's finished, there's nothing to be done."

This phrase, frequently uttered, seems to express accurately the mood of official Japan. While those more familiar with procedure in American legislation still hope something will intervene to prevent the writing of the exclusion amendment into the statute book, opinion of the majority is that exclusion is a settled fact.

It has been authoritatively stated repeatedly that the Japanese government does not intend to take any action in reprisal for the American measure. Conversations in responsible quarters reveal that the reason for this is that Japanese leaders now believe they have lost the last foothold in the struggle for racial equality. They receive the Senate's decision as a crushing blow to their ambitions, dearly cherished through two generations to be received on completely equal footing with the great white powers. Sober-minded leaders, however, accept this as an irremediable condition and feel that they have nothing to gain and much to lose through a retaliatory policy.

LEAN ON AMERICA

The primary consideration is Japan's economic dependence on America. Any policy prejudicing commercial relations with the United States, it is realized, would lead to economic disaster for Japan. Leaders do not desire to court such a disaster.

Further there is a belief that in any fundamental test, Great Britain and America would stand together. Japan's vital interests in China demands that she co-operate with the Anglo-Saxons. The most influential Japanese know they must sacrifice their equality ambitions in order to save economic interests.

The statement of Foreign Minister Matsui, announcing his determination to abide by all treaties with occidental nations regarding China, represents the views of a majority of the Cabinet, who see that Japan must continue to observe these obligations in order to maintain her own prestige in Asia. The government is confident of its ability to translate this wisdom into effective policies.

nomic exploitation of the Ruhr.

The commission has asked the Germans to make nominations for the various posts which are to be created under the Dawes report and it is expected that these nominations will be submitted some time next week.

At the conclusion of the unofficial session Louis Barthou, president of the commission, said:

"Solution of the reparation problem appears to be in a fair way of realization. There are excellent reasons to be optimistic, although the difficulties as yet are far from being solved."

The commission also decided to transmit officially the experts' reports to the governments interested, at the same time recommending adoption of their conclusions in order that the plans proposed may produce their full effect in the quickest possible time. The government of the Reich will be asked to submit to the commission in the shortest possible time acts and decrees destined to insure the complete execution of the plans outlined in the reports, such acts and decrees being based on the conclusions and texts of the reports.

The commission at a forthcoming meeting will proceed to the nomination of the different commissions of organization provided for by the report of the first experts' committee and to the preparation of measures which the report of the first committee leaves to the commission for the working out of details.

ITALY ACCEPTS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, April 17.—The Italian government is ready to accept in its integral form the work of the reparations experts and the principle inspiring it, it was announced here today by the Italian embassy. A statement from the embassy said:

"In conformity with the statement made by the experts, the Italian government considers that the subject of the reports with all its principles and proposals must be accepted as an indivisible whole, and it is gratified to see that all the points of the report have been unanimously approved by the experts."

TULARE IS MASS OF BLOOMS FOR EASTER

VISALIA, April 17.—Tulare county is donning her robes of gladness for the Eastertide. Her roses are a mass of bloom and the orange groves hang heavy with fragrance, while the hills are softly green and poppies delight the eye. People of the county have co-operated splendidly with the Supervisors in staying out of the hills in the campaign to keep the foot-and-mouth plague from intruding. Some sections of the mountains will have twenty-four-hour patrol service during the week-end that Easter parties may not invade the hills. Every community is planning Good Friday and Easter sunrise services. In many instances the Easter ceremonial will be in city parks instead of on the hillsides as in the past, as part of the move to stay out of the hills.

D.A.R. CAREFUL ON IMMIGRATION

Balloting on Officers Takes Up Part of Day

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, April 17.—Enforcement of law, immigration and the educational activities of the Daughters of the American Revolution, together withe the annual balloting for officers, held attention at today's session of the thirty-third continental congress of the order.

Another resolution to place the society on record as indorsing the immigration bill with its Japanese exclusion provision was introduced by the Oregon delegation. It was referred to the resolution committee by the president-general with the statement that the society wished to be informed on the subject, and had the acceptance of Chairman Johnson of the House Committee on Immigration to address the society tomorrow.

A similar resolution introduced yesterday by the Maryland delegation was not reported today by the committee.

The daughters gave close attention to Mable Walker Willebrandt, Assistant Attorney-General, who appealed for support in the law enforcement movement, especially in regard to the Volstead Act. Immediately a resolution was introduced indorsing the movement.

The activities of the society in various educational institutions were reported upon during the afternoon session. Immigration was the principal subject of the evening session, with Secretary of Labor Davis as speaker, while Maj. W. M. Mumm spoke on the national defense.

Confirmation of newly elected State regents and vice-regents took place this evening.

COOLIDGE IS LAUDED TO WOMEN

Frank G. Tyrrell Speaks to Large Gathering at Angelus Hotel

More than 150 women representing all sections of Los Angeles county, heard Frank G. Tyrrell, local attorney, describe President Coolidge as "the man of deeds who alone is qualified as the Republican candidate for 1924," yesterday afternoon at the meeting of the Coolidge women's division in the Angelus Hotel.

Mr. Tyrrell, the principal speaker of the afternoon, selected as his subject, "Coolidge's Personal Fitness as the Republican Candidate for 1924." As a native son he has found it natural, he said, to support a native son, but a comparison of the abilities of the two candidates for the Republican nomination has caused him to support President Coolidge.

Reports of campaign activities, conducted by women in Pomona and San Fernando Valley communities, were given by Mrs. J. A. Allard, chairman of the Pomona division; Mrs. Fred Kellogg of Van Nuys; Mrs. W. D. Summerville of La Verne; Mrs. T. L. Roache of Zelsa; Mrs. Leo Lesprance of Mission Acres, and Mrs. F. D. Jefferies of Reseda. Mrs. Fred Walker of San Fernando and Mrs. Adla Seeley of Van Nuys furnished a number of musical selections.

Following the program Mrs. Florence Collins Porter, Coolidge delegate candidate and chairman of the women's division, conducted a general discussion of campaign topics.

The attendance at yesterday's meeting of the women's division was reported by Mrs. Porter to be the largest since its organization.

Three neighborhood meetings were conducted yesterday by the Coolidge forces of the Garvanza and Highland Park section of Los Angeles. Mrs. Lola S. Becker addressed Coolidge supporters at the home of Mrs. Ines Zimmerman, 561 North Avenue 63. W. E. Evans, attorney and Coolidge delegation candidate of Glendale, addressed the meeting at the home of L. V. Shepard, 5024 Pasadena avenue, last night. Dr. John C. Copeland was the principal speaker at a second neighbordhood meeting held yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. F. L. Stearns, 1150 South Avenue 53.

Will Houie of the Southern California speaking bureau, spoke last night at the regular meeting of the Massachusetts State Society, at the invitation of the organization's officers. Mr. Houie described President Coolidge as a man thoroughly qualified to direct the destiny of the nation. His tribute to President Coolidge's merit was enthusiastically received by the former residents of the Bay State.

NEW BRAND OF PROBLEM FOR LEAGUE

Persia Serves Notice of Bolt on Anglo-Russian Interest Sphere Plan

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

GENEVA, April 17.—A new kind of problem was somewhat sensationally thrust upon the League of Nations today. This was when Persia officially gave notice that she would be bound in no way by the negotiations now proceeding between Russia and Great Britain concerning spheres of interest in Persia.

On the assumption that the day of spheres of influence has definitely passed, Persia has forwarded to the League of Nations copies of correspondence which she alleges has passed between Bolshevik Russia and Great Britain looking to a revision of the agreement of 1907 between Czarist Russia and Great Britain, under which the Russian sphere was fixed for Northern Persia and the British for Southern Persia.

GIRL AVERS PROMISE TO WED BROKEN

Miss Mannie Logan Sues Edward St. Albans, Oil Operator

Edward St. Albans, asserted wealthy oil promoter and capitalist, yesterday was made defendant in a suit filed in the Superior Court by Miss Mannie Logan, who asked damages of $100,000 for asserted breach of promise to marry.

In the complaint, which was prepared by Attorneys Marchetti and Marchetti, Miss Logan stated St. Albans had agreed to marry her sometime within the last year, the wedding to take place on a date in the early months of the present year.

The defendant since then has refused to marry the plaintiff, according to the complaint, which recited that she has been caused great mental suffering and humiliation by St. Albans's alleged conduct.

On information and belief, Miss Logan stated the defendant was worth in excess of $500,000.

LIFE DIPLOMAS URGED

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

VISALIA, April 17.—Billie M. Smith, Orosi, and Eola M. Quinn, Exeter, have been recommended for life diplomas as elementary school-teachers, by the Tulare County Board of Education, in session with Superintendent Buckman. Mrs. Ethel B. Wise of Visalia was also granted a special certificate in music.

MAXWELL TALKS ON RIVER PLAN

House Committee Hears Bill Denounced

Leatherwood and Witness in Controversy

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, April 17.—George W. Maxwell of Arizona was the sole witness at the morning and afternoon sessions of the hearing of the House Committee on Arid Lands on the Swing Colorado River bill, which seeks to build, among other things, an all-American canal, a great power plant and the impounding of surplus water at Boulder Canyon. Maxwell repeated in detail for the committee his views on the control of the Colorado River.

He took a violent stand against the enactment of the Swing Bill and declared that there was only one thing to do and that was to build a flood control at Topock, divert all water away from Mexico and make no provision for power development at all. He said after flood control thus had been obtained the duty of the nation was to make surveys of all available lands to be irrigated in the Colorado River basin and then to take the necessary steps to have Colorado River water diverted to these lands to the full amount of flow of the Colorado so that no water would be allowed to cross the Mexican line.

LACKS CONFIDENCE

He said any agricultural development on the other side of the international boundary was demoralizing to development of irrigation projects in the Colorado River basin in this country. He further stated a lack of confidence in Los Angeles' efforts to take a part in the proposed regulation and control of the Colorado River.

Maxwell, in answer to cross-examination made mostly by Congressmen Leatherwood of Utah and Rager of California, made it clear that he did not regard the Northern States in the Colorado River basin as having rights that superceded those of Arizona and the lower basin States. Congressman Leatherwood told the witness that Utah and other northern basin States would not tolerate any handling of the Colorado River that disregarded their rights, but the witness concluded his testimony without any change in his attitude.

A. P. DAVIS NEXT

Tomorrow A. P. Davis, formerly the head of the United States Reclamation Service, and removed by Secretary of the Interior Work, will be the principal witness.

Chairman Smith is anxious to close the hearings as soon as possible and to hold executive sessions of the committee to decide what shall be done with the bill, which has been the subject of hearings covering several weeks. Other witnesses yet to be heard will require other hearings which will occupy most of the time remaining this month.

Manila Reports Violent Quake Beneath Ocean

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

MANILA, April 5.—Violent marine earthquakes were recorded today by the Weather Bureau seismograph here. The instrument indicated the disturbance 600 miles from Manila, 30 miles south of the island of Mindanao. Slight shocks were felt in Mindanao and Visayas islands but no damage was reported.

A tidal wave, Weather Bureau officials stated, probably was started by the upheaval, but no damage from this was reported because of the distance from land. The tremors continued for hours, seismograph needles showing

New Victor Records

Red Seal Records

DOUBLE-FACED — Number — Price

Widmung (Dedication) (Schumann-Auer) Violin Solo — Jascha Heifetz — 997 $1.50

Violin and piano. A Mozart minuet, at first simple, then intricate; and a superb arrangement of Schumann's impassioned song. Played with consummate art, and recorded with that perfection which makes Victor Records famous.

Santa Lucia In Italian — Titta Ruffo
Marechiare (When the Moon Rises Over Marechiare) (Tosti) Neapolitan — Titta Ruffo — 985 1.50

Two of the magnificent Neapolitan songs that today every one knows. This great baritone sings them in a voice of immense beauty and power. Numbers that should be in every record library.

Melodious Instrumental

The Improvisator—Overture (d'Albert) — Rudolph Ganz and St. Louis Symphony Orch. — 45389 1.00

Sinding's familiar number set for the full symphony orchestra; and a brilliant, modern overture with half a dozen themes but a tarantella-rhythm prevailing. A record that is worth many hearings.

Light Vocal Selections

Amoureuse Waltz (Foresth-Bruno)
Printemps (Spring) (Stern) — Lucy Isabelle Marsh
Lucy Isabelle Marsh — 45390 1.00

Beautiful waltz songs, for the purest and most flexible type of soprano voice. Well-known numbers that even you will recognize with delight—and cherish on these records.

Oh! Susanna (Featured in "The Covered Wagon")
Gwine to Run All Night — Wendell Hall and Shannon Quartet — 19290 .75

Two of Stephen Foster's songs—wholesome, good-natured old-time favorites with life in them. Presented by a new combination of artists that will strike the fancy of Victor Record audiences.

Home in Pasadena
What Does the Pussy-Cat Mean When She Says "Me-Ow"? — Billy Murray—Ed Smalle — 19293 .75

New hits. The first is fox-trottish, with some double-time effects calling for nimble vocalization. The Pussy-Cat number, with Steve Porter meowing, is cleverly done.

Dance Records

Whose Izzy is He—Fox Trot
Scissor Grinder Joe—Fox Trot — The Virginians — 19292 .75

Neo-jazz records for the "Collegiate" and new steps. Bits of Jewish melodies on one, and the shrill wheel of the grinder in new effects on the other. There's good dancing ahead for those who buy this record.

Take a Little One-Step—Medley Fox Trot (From "Lollipop") (Introducing "I'm a Dreamer, Aren't You?" and "Tea for Two")
There's Nobody Else But You—Fox Trot — International Novelty Orchestra — Joe Raymond and His Orchestra — 19294 .75

Fox-trots, both—in spite of the title of the first number. It is a beautifully refined piece of scoring, and the other is a good companion.

PALMER BRANDS MEANS TALE LIE

Declares Testimony Before Senate Quiz Ridiculous

Says Alien Property Cases Were Rejected by Court

Stories Inspired by German Owners, He Asserts

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

ATLANTIC CITY, April 17.—Touching on charges made by Gaston B. Means before the Daugherty investigation committee of the Senate, A. Mitchell Palmer, former alien property custodian, tonight declared "Gaston B. Means's lurid tale of a plot on the part of former Atty.-Gen. Daugherty to blackmail me into using my influence with Congress on his behalf, is a tissue of falsehood from beginning to end. It is an amazing thing that a committee of the United States Senate would allow to themselves to become the medium of broadcasting to the world the false and ridiculous charges of a witness of the character of Gaston B. Means, designed to blacken the reputation of honest and conscientious public officials.

LONG INVESTIGATION

"For eighteen months after the Harding administration came into power the Department of Justice was investigating the operations of the alien property custodian under the administration of Francis P. Garvan and myself. Inspired by the complaints of Germans whose property we had lawfully taken during the war, their attack was directed chiefly at the sales of the Bosch Magneto Company and the chemical patents to the Chemical Foundation.

"Similar charges were made as to both but we no longer hear about the Chemical Foundation for in that case the government finally brought suit, and the United States courts for the District of Delaware in a sweeping decision confirmed all that the alien property custodian had done and administered a stinging rebuke to the Department of Justice for bringing the suit upon false and baseless charges.

NO EVIDENCE

"The same result will be reached in the Bosch Magneto case if it is ever brought into a tribunal where the laws of evidence obtain. The reason no indictment was found in the Bosch Magneto case was not the fantastic and absurd plot of blackmail that Means describes, but because there was no evidence of wrongdoing. In fact the case was presented to two grand juries, one in Washington and one in New York, when the department offered all of the evidence that vindictive and prejudiced agents of the Germans were able to produce and both grand juries refused to indict. Nothing even amounting to a technical irregularity could be shown."

OFFERED ASSISTANCE

"As to my conference with Mr. Daugherty, the version of Means is a lie out of the whole cloth. When I learned of the investigation and discovered that the agents of the department were prying into my private and personal affairs, examining my bank accounts and listening to all the calumnies of my political enemies in true Burns detective agency style, I went to Mr. Daugherty of my own volition, told him that I welcomed an investigation into all and any phases of my administration as Alien Property Custodian and offered every assistance in my power to facilitate it. I asked no favors and expressed no fears. I did insist that when the investigation was over the result should be published in order to put an end to the German-inspired insinuations which had heretofore filled the columns of sensational newspapers.

"It has always seemed to me that an ordinary sense of fairness should have moved the Department of Justice to publicly announce the result when the grand jury investigation developed no wrongdoing whatsoever on the part of either Mr. Garvan or myself.

DISCOUNTS SINCERITY

"In the face of these findings, which must be within the knowledge of the Senate committee, for that committee to allow a witness like Means to repeat his unfounded charge, long since disproved, is well calculated to discount the sincerity of this present investigation and to justify the widespread criticism of the Senate for becoming a mere distributor of slander and slinger of mud.

"There are some irregularities in the administration of enemy property in the Philippine Islands, in the early months of our work, due chiefly to lack of knowledge of the law on the part of Gov.-Gen. Harrison before a copy of the Trading-with-the-Enemy Act could reach him. When I learned of these irregularities, prompt steps were taken to correct them, first by setting aside by executive order all the sales made by Harrison, and second by removing Harrison as agent of the Alien Property Custodian, and sending a new agent, Mr. Douglas Moffat of the New York bar to replace him. Moffat remained in the Philippines for nearly a year, and I am sure the fullest investigation will show that all these enemy properties in the Islands were handled by him in strict accordance with every provision of the law."

RECESS TAKEN IN DAUGHERTY INQUIRY

SENATE QUIZZER ON GRILL

BY PHILLIP KINSLEY
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, April 17.—In a rapid shifting of Senatorial investigation scenery today, Senator Burton K. Wheeler, Democrat, Montana, the "prosecutor" of the Brookhart committee's stormy sessions, found himself on the anxious seat before a committee of his colleagues appointed to examine into his recent indictment in Montana.

At the head of the long table, before the new mirror, sat the keen and powerful Borah of Idaho, a great cross-examiner. Next to him sat the Honorable T. H. Caraway, Senator from Arkansas, adroit in protecting the interests of the Democratic party. Senator Swanson of Virginia aided in this, while lean young McNary of Oregon, and Senator Sterling, "lame duck" of the South Dakota primaries, looked after the supposed interests of the Republican National Committee in this extraordinary proceedings.

CAMERAS CLICK

The tall batteries of the picture-men clicked and the lorgnette of Mrs. Alice Roosevelt Longworth was raised as the first witness, former Congressman Tom Stout of Montana, was summoned by Senator Borah. Senator Smith W. Brookhart moved into the front line to get a good view of the "trial," for his committee had suspended operations for the day.

Senator Wheeler sat near the chairman taking only a whispering part in the drama. His eyes were shining with the light of battle.

Before examining Mr. Stout, the chairman read from the Federal statute which the Senator is indicted under. This states that "no Senator, Representative of Delegate, after election and during continuance in office, and no head of a department or other officer or clerk in the employ of the government, shall receive or agree to receive any compensation whatever, either directly or indirectly, for any service rendered, or to be rendered, to any person, either by himself or another, in relation to any proceeding, contract, claim, controversy, charge or other matter or thing in which the United States is a party, or directly or indirectly interested, before any department, bureau, officer, or any civil, military or naval commission whatever."

TESTIFIES TO FEE

Violation of this is a misdemeanor punishable by not more than two years in prison or a fine of $10,000.

Mr. Stout, editor of the Democrat-News of Lewistown, Mont., said that he was acquainted with Gordon Campbell, discoverer of the Kevin-Sunburst oil field of Montana, and had talked with him in December, 1922, about employing Senator-elect Wheeler as attorney for the Campbell oil interests. Campbell had asked him, he said, to take the matter up with Wheeler. He did so.

"What was this conversation?"

"Wheeler stated the terms under which he would work. He said that, of course, he could not represent Campbell except in the State courts. He told me to advise Campbell of this."

"Was the fee stated?"

"Ten thousand dollars a year."

WAIVES IMMUNITY

Campbell was next called. A brisk little man swinging eyeglasses on a long black chain. He described himself as a geologist and engineer. Senator Sterling suggested that he might waive immunity, as he is under indictment in a mail fraud case and the witness readily agreed.

Questioned on his oil-land holdings, he said he had 85,000 acres under lease in the field he had discovered, and spoke of it as an area four times larger than Teapot Dome. At the time he went after Wheeler, through Stout, in December of 1922, he said, he had other attorneys, but was not satisfied with them. He wanted a fighter, not an attorney who would compromise and give away part of his lands. Wheeler had a reputation as a great trial lawyer.

Campbell said he saw Wheeler in his office at Great Falls December 20, 1922, for the first time.

"He asked me the character of the suits," said the witness, "and I told hi mI wanted him to handle all my cases in the State courts. At one time I had forty. He informed me that he could not do anything for me in land matters. Some leases were in bad shape and titles had to be cleared up, but I had a lawyer for that work, L. H. Beaulieu, in my office.

FEE OF $10,000

"Wheeler told me he was in the United States Senate (he had just been elected) and could not attend to permits and leases that would come before the government land department. I agreed to pay him $10,000 a year and paid him $2000 in January of 1923 and $2000 in February."

Senator Borah, who had been reading the indictment, now quoted from the second count, which states that on January 10, 1923, at Butte, before B. K. Wheeler had qualified as Senator, he received from Gordon Campbell and others the sum of $2000 "for services to be rendered to Campbell in relation to matters and claims before the Department of the Interior."

"What was that $2000 paid for?" asked Borah.

"To represent me at Great Falls. He appeared in court and was successful."

"Did you pay him $2000 at any time for services outside Montana?"

"No."

"Did you ever compensate him in any way for services before the Department of the Interior?"

"No, he never went before the department. He told me repeatedly he could not represent me in such matters."

Senator Borah read from the third count of the indictment, which states that Wheeler was paid $2000 on February 16, 1923, for work before the Interior Department.

DENIES UNDERSTANDING

"Was there any understanding, expressed or implied, in which Wheeler was to appear for you before any government agency?"

"Absolutely no."

"After Wheeler came to Washington did you communicate with him?"

About a month ago, Campbell said, he telegraphed Wheeler when "they were going to pull some of my casing" in oil wells on public land. "They referred to the bank which had foreclosed."

"Is there no way for the government to stop ruining these wells?" the message to Wheeler said.

Campbell produced a "true copy" of Wheeler's reply, saying he was "advised" that the government could not intervene in the bank's plan to sell the casing under a foreclosed mortgage.

Another Campbell telegram to Wheeler was presented, relating to "the Lincoln permit." It asked Wheeler to arrange a conference with Solicitor Booth of the Interior Department. Senator Wheeler's office replied that the Senator had seen Booth and that the latter would see Campbell when he came to Washington.

The "Lincoln permit" telegram from Campbell to Wheeler as put into the record reads:

"Please advise me when you expect to return. Believe matter of Lincoln permit vitally important. Is it possible you can discuss matter with solicitor and I can come to Washington and discuss matters with him with a view to satisfactory settlement, even during your absence. Feel this permit should have prompt attention."

SAW SOLICITOR

This reply was sent to Campbell:

"Have already discussed permit with Solicitor, but did not have number. Wire that to me and I will arrange to have you see him in person if you come here."

"I will state," interposed Senator Wheeler, when the telegram was read, "that that telegram was sent from my office in my absence, but I take full responsibility for it."

Campbell said he did confer with Solicitor Booth and the latter had told him he should employ Washington lawyers to represent him before the Interior Department. He followed that suggestion, he added, reiterating that Senator Wheeler had never "appeared" for him before the interior of other government departments.

Copies of correspondence between Campbell's land attorney in Great Falls and his land attorney in Washington were produced. The original had been taken from his office in Great Falls "by the government," he said.

"How did the government take them?" Senator Borah asked.

"Just took 'em," said Campbell. "They worked a whizzer on my office force."

PAPERS ABSTRACTED

Campbell then testified that various Department of Justice and Postoffice people had taken the papers from his office, included in the group being the postmaster of Great Falls, whose name he did not know.

"They worked a very high-handed game," Campbell said, adding that he had previously told officials who called at his office on the case that he would give them any information they wanted.

J. H. Baldwin, Senator Wheeler's law partner, was the next witness. He produced accounts to show the Montana cases in which the firm had appeared for Campbell. There were nineteen such cases listed. He said Campbell had not been able to pay the firm more than $4000, and he intended to ask him some time for the $8000 due under the 1923 contract. Mr. Baldwin, however, appeared to have a strong strain of State pride, for he told of the fight made by the big oil companies to crush Campbell and said that he considered it the firm's contribution to public and State welfare to take care of the legal troubles of such a man. He said the properties discovered by Campbell were probably worth millions and he expected to be paid some day. The firm is still looking after the Montana cases for Campbell, he said.

Edwin S. Booth, former Solicitor of the Department of the Interior, denied that the incident mentioned in the telegrams between Wheeler and Campbell constituted an appearance before the department withi nthe meaning of the law.

Booth testified that he and Senator Wheeler had been close friends for many years. He said that his Campbell permit discussion with the Senator was incidental to a talk as to Campbell's financial difficulties which had had nothing to do with the government."

"Did Mr. Wheeler at any time appear before you in connection with any permits for lands for Mr. Campbell?" demanded Senator Borah, Republican, Idaho, the committee chairman.

"He did not," said Booth.

"Did he solicit your aid or help with reference to these assignments (set forth in the indictment) or anything connected with them?"

"No, sir."

With the completion of the examination of Booth, the committee adjourned on call of Chairman Borah, who said several additional witnesses would be brought on from Montana.

North Carolina Sends Daniels to Convention

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

RALEIGH (N. C.) April 17.—Josephus Daniels, former Secretary of the Navy, who this afternoon refused to permit his name to be presented to the North Carolina Democratic convention for indorsement as aspirant to the Democratic nomination for President, late today was elected a delegate-at-large to the national convention in New York.

O. Max Gardner, former Lieutenant Governor, Gov. Cameron Morrison and John G. Dawson, State chairman, also were elected delegates-at-large. Four women delegates-at-large still are to be selected, the convention having decided to choose eight delegates and give each one-half vote.

THAW IS PUT ON WITNESS STAND

Trustees' Counsel Refuses to Cross-Examine

Psychopath Used to Define Prisoner's Condition

Termed Morally Insane and Likely to Repeat Acts

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

PHILADELPHIA, April 17.—Legal strategy that left the courtroom temporarily breathless, marked the appearance on the witness stand today of Harry K. Thaw, in the jury trial to determine his sanity.

With unexpected suddenness, former Judge John M. Patterson, counsel for Thaw, asked him a few perfunctory questions, which Thaw answered briefly, and then said to opposing counsel, "Gentlemen, examine him!"

Arthur C. Dickson, attorney for the trustees of the Thaw estate, and William A. Gray, counsel for Evelyn Nesbit, divorced wife of Thaw, whose 13-year-old son has intervened in the case, seemed surprised. After a hasty conference with alienists on their side, Mr. Dickson said, "We have no question to ask."

Mr. Patterson then rested his case with a reservation of the right to call Mrs. Mary C. Thaw, Thaw's 82-year-old mother, later.

Thaw smiled and after being motioned to by Mr. Patterson, left the stand. He had taken only a few steps, however, when he tottered, and had to be assisted to his seat, where he slumped down, mopping his brow with a handkerchief.

QUESTIONS ASKED

Thaw's testimony was halting.

"How old are you, Mr. Thaw?" Mr. Patterson asked.

"Fifty-three," was the response.

"You are at present confined in the Pennsylvania Hospital for Mental and Nervous Diseases?"

"Yes."

"And how long has you been there?"

"About seven years," Thaw replied.

"About seven years?"

"A little less."

"You have signed a petition addressed to this court, asking the court to appoint a jury and try the issue of whether or not you have recovered and are of sound mind at the present time—is that right?"

"Yes," answered Thaw.

"You have asked me to put you on the witness stand so that the other side, or anybody else the court may suggest, may examine you upon all relevant matters and let the jury draw its inference from what you may say as to your condition—is that right?"

CASE IS DEFINED

Thaw appeared puzzled by the word "relevant." Frowning, he replied after a slight pause. "I could hardly say yes."

"Well, practically?" suggested Mr. Patterson.

"If I had something else——" began Thaw, only to be interrupted by Mr. Patterson's gesture toward the opposing counsel with the request that they examine the witness.

Thaw was described as a "psychopath" by Dr. Earl D. Bond, physician in chief at the asylum where Thaw is confined.

"Is a psychopath necessarily insane?" he was asked.

"No," was the reply. Dr. Bond added than during the six years he had had Thaw under observation he had not seen anything to indicate insanity.

"In your opinion, has he or has he not been restored to a sound state of mind?" queried Mr. Dickson.

"I do not think he has," Dr. Bond said.

In response to another question, the alienist stated he "would not consider it safe," to have Thaw released. He also revealed that the Pennsylvania Hospital for Mental and Nervous Diseases had already asked that Thaw be transferred to another institution.

TELLS OF CRUELTY

An incident of asserted cruelty when Thaw was 15 years of age was related by Dr. Hobart A. Hare, professor of therapeutics and diagnosis at Jefferson Medical College, another witness who termed Thaw "morally insane."

Dr. Hare stated that he first met Thaw in 1886 on a steamship bound from New York to Antwerp. Some children were playing on deck, he said, and Thaw came along and deliberately stepped on one child's fingers, smiling as if amused when the child screamed in pain.

"I took special interest in the incident as a child of mine was playing on the deck, also," Dr. Hare added.

The alienist told of two visits to Thaw at the asylum on March 28 and April 1, last. He stated that Thaw's "secretary—a Mr. Rice," insisted on remaining in the room, and smoking during the examination.

"When I asked Thaw one question that seemed to cause annoyance, Rice sent up clouds of smoke even more rapidly and, as though responding to a signal, Thaw refused to talk further," Dr. Hare asserted.

"Did you ask Thaw about the killing of Stanford White?" Mr. Dickson asked.

QUESTION EVADED

"I did. He evaded the question," was the reply. "I asked him if the same conditions were present, would he do the same thing over again."

Dr. Hare declared that, should Thaw be liberated "he will do the same thing all over again—practically every evil that has been testified to in court."

Dr. Daniel H. Fuller, in charge of the men's department at the asylum, followed Dr. Hare on the stand, testifying that although Thaw had shown great physical improvement since being committed to the asylum, his mental improvement was "very little."

He stated his opinion that Thaw was "of unsound mind" and that he would be unable to administer his affairs if released.

Dr. S. De Witt Ludlum, physician at the Friends' Asylum, Philadelphia, declared Thaw was of "unsound mind" and that if he were released, "there would be a repetition of things that have happened."

Judge Monaghan adjourned court until Monday, on account of Easter.

SAYS THAW BORN INSANE

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, April 17.—William Travers Jerome, who, as District Attorney, prosecuted Harry K. Thaw for the slaying of Stanford White, declared today that Thaw was born insane and always will be insane. "He never drew a sane breath in his life," said Jerome, who returned to New York from Bermuda today.

Jerome also insisted it would be extremely dangerous for Thaw to be at liberty again.

Single Verdict Disposes of Two Separate Cases

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

ORANGE, April 17.—But one verdict was required here yesterday for a jury to decide two cases.

When the jury, sitting in Justice G. W. Ingle's court, acquitted R. R. Mock, Hollywood, on a traffic charg, that body automatically freed L. E. Mock, the son, charged with a similar offense.

Thus, two members of one family, who, driving different cars, were arrested, charged with passing another machine on a curve, emerged victorious in the court battle when the first jury returned a verdict of not guilty.

By stipulation among the attorneys, W. C. Spiess, counsel for Mock, and Dep. Dist.-Atty. D. G. Wettlin, representing the State, it was agreed that both defendants would plead guilty if the jury returned an 8-to-4 verdict for conviction, but if a verdict below this figure was reached the State would dismiss both charges.

The jury, however, after it was testified by the defense that the car which was passed on the curve was standing still, returned a unanimous verdict of not guilty, freeing both defendants.

Navy Oil Leases Upheld in Speech of Congressman

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, April 17.—Another speech defending the Sinclair and Doheny naval oil reserve leases was delivered in the House today by Representative Winter, Republican, Wyoming, who recently declared that he believed the best interests of the government were served by the contracts.

Referring that the question of alleged fraud and corruption in connection with the leases must be determined by the courts, Mr. Winter said the time had come for good sense and sober judgment by the public and Congress in determining whether the leases are good or bad.

Further study of various conditions surrounding the leases, the Wyoming member said, had convinced him that it was "a fortunate decision when Mr. Doheny's offer to turn back his lease on the California No. 1 reserve was not accepted and fortunate that no such proposition was made or entertained as to the Teapot Dome."

Naval Airplane Turns Over; One Dead, One Hurt

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, April 17.—A United States naval plane turned over after landing today at the Dahlgren proving grounds, killing Lieutenant-Commander L. C. Scheibla and injuring Lieut. S. B. Murrain, the pilot. The naval officers were trying out the airplane, which was a new one.

Lieut. Murrain experienced some difficulty in attempting to land, and brought the machine down in such a way that it toppled over, throwing Lieutenant-Commander Scheibla into the Potomac river, where he was drowned.

Ship Foundering in Seas Beyond Diamond Shoals

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NORFOLK (Va.) April 17.—The American schooner Orleans was reported sinking tonight seven miles north of Diamond Shoals lightship. Coast guardsmen from Stations One and Eighty-five were reported putting out in powerboats in an effort to rescue the crew. The schooner was said to have seven feet of water in her hold.

SEEK SPOT TO PARK RAIL CAR

Government Agents Prepare for Confiscation

Champagne, Whisky and Gin Seized in Raid

Tracks Owned by Company May Be Borrowed

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, April 17.—The government intends to confiscate the private car of George Le Boutillier, vice-president of the Long Island Railroad, as a result of the recent seizure by dry agents of a dozen cases of assorted champagne, whisky and gin in the car while it stood in the Pennsylvania station. That much was learned yesterday from John Holley Clark, Asst. U. S. Atty., but he frankly admitted he didn't know what the government would do with a railroad car after it got it.

In fact, as far as the government's facilities go, Clark indicated it would be easier to find convenient parking space for the proverbial white elephant. All kinds of motor vehicles, ships and motorboats have been seized under the Volstead Act for transporting liquor, but their handling and disposition was easy enough. A way or a place could be found, without any trouble, for holding motorboats and automobiles until sold at public auction or recovered under bond. Eve the recent seizure of the liner Orduna presented no new difficulty for the Federal authorities, as customs officials were simply assigned to guard it until its owners posted a $1,000,000 security bond for its release pending trial of the government's libel.

MAY BORROW TRACK

But the seizure of a railroad car offers an entirely new problem, because it must have tracks for its wheels to rest on, and all railroad tracks are privately owned. As Clark views the situation, the government will be compelled to borrow enough trackage from the Long Island Railroad to keep the confiscated private car on, until some disposition, as yet undetermined, can be made of it.

Mr. Clark said he informed R. Q. Merrick, divisional chief of prohibition agents, that the government "has the right and ought to seize the car." The Federal prosecutor requested John Lennon and Robert Owens, dry agents working under Mr. Merrick, to come to his office and help in the preparation of a complaint against either Mr. Le Boutillier personally or the Long Island Railroad, as these two agents carried out the raid on the private car.

CAR MISSING

"I also asked Mr. Merrick to find out where we could get hold of the car," Mr. Clark added, "I don't know what has been done with it since the agents raided it in the Pennsylvania Station."

Charles Jones, negro steward, arrested by the agents as the only occupant of the car at the time of the raid, has been ordered to appear for trial in the United States District Court. He pleaded not guilty when arraigned Monday on a charge of possessing liquor and was held by Judge Winslow in $500 bail. At the time of his arrest, Agent Lennon said, Jones declared the liquor in the car belonged to Mr. Le Boutillier and was intended for a "champagne joy ride" to begin the next day.

OFFICER IN FIGHT WITH VICIOUS DOG

Canine Seeks to Protect Master Wanted by Police; Copper in Rags

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

DETROIT, April 17.—Panting from exertion, his trousers ripped to ribbons from knee to ankle, Patrolman Russell Race walked into the police station accompanied by an equally dishevelled prisoner.

"This man jumped his bond and I want him locked up," Patrolman Race told the desk sergeant. "I tried to bring in the dog, too, but," and he pointed eloquently to his damaged clothing, "he was too much for me."

After the prisoner, James Collins, had been led to a cell, Patrolman Race explained what had happened to him.

A friend, it seems, stopped Race on his way to work and told him Collins could be found at a certain street address. Race found him all right, but he also found the man's wife, Mrs. Pearl Collins, and, more important still, a brindle bulldog by name of "Sweetuma."

"When I attempted to put the handcuffs on Collins she said, 'Sic 'em, Sweetuma,' and then the dog bit me. I tried to hit him with a chair, and he bit me again." Patrolman Race paused and drew a deep breath.

"Anyway, I brought the man in. You'll have to send a dog-catcher for the pup."

Yoeman Slayer Declared Insane at Time of Fight

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO April 17.—Chief Yeoman F. W Helmer was insane when he fatally wounded Chief Boatswain's Mate Daniel B. Wentworth in the chief petty officers' mess at the Great Lakes naval training station Monday night, according to the testimony of an Evanston physician before a board of inquiry today.

Helmer's family history was given the board. His mother died in an asylum, where she had been sent for shooting a man. Four of his seven brothers and sisters are insane in varying degrees. One sister, brought from St. Louis, was present at the hearing. It required an attendant to hold her in a chair.

Rice grown in the world averages more than 10,700,000,000 pounds each year, India producing nearly three-fourths of it.

No Heat in Flat, Verdict Granted for Man's Death

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, April 17.—Landlords given to coal economy in zero weather received a forceful warning yesterday when a jury in Judge David's court awarded a tenant's widow $10,000 damages, the maximum amount allowed by law, from a landlord who failed to provide heat. The plaintiff's husband died in their cold flat of pneumonia.

The award was won by Mrs. Helen F. Bornholdt, who sued S. T. Butler and Laura McIntosh, owners of a building where Karl Bornholdt, the plaintiff's husband, died in 1920.

Lawyers agreed that the case, said to be the first suit of its kind in Illinois, would set a precedent for similar actions against landlords who refuse heat, repairs, janitor service and similar legal requirements.

Attorneys for the owners of the building indicated they would carry the case to the higher courts.

PLAN DEMPSEY-WILLS BOUT

Rumor Has It That Fight is All Arranged to Take Place at Boyle's Thirty Acres

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, April 17.—That Tex Rickard has definitely closed a Dempsey-Wills championship match for Boyle's Thirty Acres, and that the fact is being withheld, is the latest information fresh from Broadway.

There is a two-fold purpose behind this suppression of news:

First, Rickard's promise not to divert the public's mind from the Democratic National Convention, and second, to gradually break down the expected opposition to a mixed match.

To bear out this view was the announcement a few days ago that New Jersey would not refuse a permit for the bout. Some little time previous to that the Skeeter State amended its boxing rules, changing the top price for a title bout from $15 to $25.

The only procedure Tex Rickard or anyone else could follow in attempting this match was one of silence until the little details were cleared up. The biggest obstacle is the sanction for a mixed match. The next, from Rickard's point of view, was the price. These two are now out of the way. The biggest left is the public's opposition to a mixed battle or the expected attack from reformers. If Rickard has everything locked and sealed he will be in a position where the reform element can do nothing but shout.

The latest line from Broadway tells of a special meeting held several months ago, attended by Rickard, Jack Kearns and Jersey politicians. Rickard and Kearns were informed then, so the story goes, that the raise in price could be expected and that no opposition would be had when a sanction was applied for. Both of these promises have been lived up to.

Willis has signed with Rickard for a series of scraps. When announcement of that fact was made Rickard was careful not to emphasize that his agreement called for a Dempsey match. It does that very thing and Tex was only following out his policy of feeding out the news gradually.

Kearns and Dempsey haven't signed yet, but judging from the story of the special meeting they have reached terms with the promoter. Their actual signing probably will be the final big announcement.

It is to be noticed that Rickard did not come hurrying back from his vacation when New Jersey declared itself on a mixed match. The inference is that he knew he had it sewed up. Rickard is preparing to rebuild and strengthen his huge pine bowl in Boyle's Thirty Acres. Announcement of these plans is the next step in his campaign.

LOCAL CHAMP SEEKS TITLE

Dr. Art Stern, singles champion of the Y.M.C.A. and one-half of the local title-holding doubles team at the "Y," is among those entered in the annual national handball tournament which starts at the Los Angeles Athletic Club Monday afternoon. The "Y" star will be a tough nut for some of the L.A.A.C. aces to crack.

Michigan City Promoters to Get Paris O.K.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, April 17.—Official announcement that Georges Carpentier and Tom Gibbons will battle ten rounds at Michigan City, May 31, and that this will be Georges' first match in this country this year will come tomorrow morning from Paris, according to Promoter Floyd Fitzsimmons, here.

Fitzsimmons has returned from New York carrying a bundle of cablegrams that indicate he has the jump on all other promoters. His latest wire was received April 9, in which Carpentier assured him he would accept the May 31 date as his first battle and Tunney and the rest would come later. April 9 another cable was received from Carpentier stating that he would leave Vienna on April 30 and start with Jack Curley and Eddie Kane for Chicago.

"Assure yourself that I have accepted your offer of $60,000 and $5000 expenses and that I will appear before your club, other offers and matches notwithstanding," read one of the wires.

Jock Malone After Harry Greb's Title

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, April 17.—Jock Malone packed his boxing mitts and ring apparel and jumped a Boston-bound ratler today. Some important engagements await the St. Paul battler, who has deserted the welterweight ranks and will confine himself to the middleweight division and the task of relieving Harry Greb, the champion, of that precious title diadem. Anyway, Malone is going to make an honest effort along that line.

The reason Malone is rushing to Boston is he must be on the job when the Faneuil Athletic Club stages the battle between Harry Greb and Kid Norfolk at the Boston Ice Palace on Saturday night. Malone is going to present his challenge in person and wants to see it is attended to properly. Jock also is dated to meet Augie Ratner in Boston on the night of the 23rd inst.

Billy Young Biffs Hackley in Fast Scrap

The boxing bouts at the Los Angeles Harbor arena of the C.P.O. Club last night were the best, as a whole, ever seen at the popular pavilion. Billy Young of New York won the feature event from Jimmy Hackley of Los Angeles in four rounds. The scrap was a humdinger throughout and was a great treat for the fans. Sailor Foster of Los Angeles Harbor knocked out Eddie Brown of Long Beach in the first round with a terrific right to the jaw. This was a surprise party, as Brown has won many fights himself by the K.O. route.

George Gilmore of Casper, Wyo., substituting for Paul Duarte, defeated Joe Grimm of Los Angeles Harbor in four rounds. It was Gilmore all the way. Sailor Lyles of the U.S.S. Prometheus hung it on Sailor White, formerly of the U.S.S. Idaho, in four rounds. Most of the spectators thought that a draw would have been about the proper thing.

Kid Burmay won over Young Leopold in four rounds. The setto was fast all the way. Jimmie Leventhal of Los Angeles won in four rounds from Rube Ferns of Long Beach. This was a peach of a scrap. Young Holly of Los Angeles defeated A. Hollis in four rounds. A capacity house was on hand. Dutch Wellenmann refereed.

TAYLOR TO FIGHT VILLA

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, April 17.—Two championship matches are pending for Buddy Taylor, the Terre Haute bantamweight, within the short space of three weeks.

The first of these is already closed for June 6, when he and Pancho Villa, the flyweight title holder, meet for fifteen rounds at Henderson Bowl in Brooklyn. Abe Goldstein, the new bantamweight champion, is likely to be Bud's opponent the latter part of the same month.

Manager Eddie Long departed for New York today after speaking to Frank Flournoy, matchmaker for the Madison Square Garden, over the long-distance telephone regarding the Goldstein tussle. Besides Flournoy there are two other outdoor clubs in Gotham which are after the Taylor-Goldstein scrap.

Flournoy held a coference with Willie Lewis, who handles Goldstein, and was so pleased with the outcome he asked Long to leave for Gotham. Lewis wants a flat price of $35,000.

There are many offerings pouring in for Taylor from all over the country but from the information Long gives out the Terre Haute lad will rest for a few weeks before resuming training for the above battles. Long intends to be back from the East Sunday in ample time to go behind Sammy Mandell at East Chicago Monday night.

Another match that is being considered by Long is a ten-rounder with Ernie Gooseman, the San Diego featherweight. Jim Mullen wants this one for Aurora. A hitch in the weight is holding up the signing of articles.

Judge Pryor Wins Feature Tia Juana Race

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN DIEGO, April 17.—Judge Pryor, from the stable of Col. Baker, running the five furlongs in the fast time of one minute flat, won the feature race at Tia Juana track today, while Rondelle from the same barn placed. The show went to My Reverie, who has not been out for some time.

Pompadore, an extreme outsider that would have paid record odds, gave the fans a thrill in the seventh race by running in front of a large field for the first three-quarters of the mile-and-one-half race. Pompadour tired, however, and finished far back. Martha L got the final decision. The summaries:

First race, four furlongs: Athelsen (Smith) won; Mt. Shasta (Fator) second; Sea God (Baker) third. Time, :49.

Second race, six furlongs: Betty Aiden (Baker) won; Harby Cain (Neal) second; Collision (Ellis) third. Time, 1:15.

Third race, one mile: Miss Paige (Ellis) won; Miss Fryer (Abel) second; Joe Tad (Frey) third. Time, 1:42 2-5.

Fourth race, five and one-half furlongs: Rhonka Bradley (Abel) won; Combuster (Smith) second; Cherokee Lee (Fator) third. Time, 1:06 1-5.

Fifth race, five furlongs: Judge Pryor (Fator) won; Rondelle (Clark) second; My Reverie (Baker) third. Time, 1 min.

Sixth race, mile and one-sixteenth: War Winner (Clark) won; Tremline (Walter) second; Cowalendor (Smith) third. Time, 1:48 3-5.

Seventh race, mile and one furlong: Martha L (Ellis) won; Colonel Life (Frey) second; Great Sorles (Walter) third. Time, 1:55 1-5.

Eighth race, six furlongs: Nan McKinnon (Baker) won; Selim (Frey) second; Little Hop (Abel) third. Time, 1:15.

Ninth race, mile and seventy yards: Speedful (Abel) won; Sir Grade (Ellis) second; First Call (Frey) third. Time, 1:47 3-5.

TIGERS HELPLESS BEFORE SERAPH'S GREAT PITCHING

Vernon Unable to Get a Man as Far as Second Base; Twombly and Durst Hit Ball Again

BY ROBERT E. RAY

Charley Root proved to be the Moses that led the Angels out of the wilderness of defeat when he pitched Marty Krug's henchmen to a 3-to-0 victory over Vernon yesterday at Washington Park. Root had everything and allowed the Boy Scouts only two hits. Not a Vernon player reached second and only three got on base.

But Root had to pitch to win, for Jimmy Christian also turned in a fine game for the Tigers. Christian allowed only six hits and two runs in the eight innings he worked. Most any other time Christian's pitching would have brought victory.

The series now stands two games to one with the Tigers in the lead.

A crowd of 6500 fans turned out to witness the hurling duel. The Tigers and Angels are drawing splendid crowds and playing fast ball games. All three games have been over in less than an hour and thirty-five minutes.

Ray Jacobs, youthful Angel third-sacker, continued his sensational hitting, drawing two doubles in three times at bat yesterday. Jacobs has rapped out five doubles this week, all but one going against the left field fence.

For five and two-thirds innings Root hurled no-hit ball yesterday, then Mike Menosky rifled one to right center for the first hit off the Angel heaver. Charley Deal got the second hit in the seventh. Slade was the only other Tiger to reach first, drawing a walk in the third. All three men died on the initial sack.

WIN IN SIXTH

Los Angeles drove across the winning runs in the sixth when Twombly, Durst and Hood snapped out of their batting slump long enough to connect with Christian's offerings for a single, triple and double. Twombly started the rally by lacing out a single. McAuley sacrificed "Babe" to second, from where he ankled home on Durst's triple to right center. It was Durst's first hit in about twenty times at bat, but there's no denying that he picked a nice place to get it. Wally Hood then dropped a hit of the Lone State variety in back of second that went for a double, Durst romping across with the second tally.

Bill Essick sent in Rod Murphy and Chet Chadbourne to bat for Slade and Christian in the eighth, but the veterans couldn't do any more to Root than the younger Bengal generation. Both

MAXIME TROPHY

Mrs. Ike Wentworth won her fourth claim on the Maxime trophy in competition with other women golfers at the municipal links Wednesday, scoring 103-12-91. Mrs. E. Owens was second, 120-22-98, while Mrs. J. S. Thompson was third, 128-24-104.

A match play against par sweepstakes was held at the Sunset Canyon Country Club yesterday, Mrs. Charles Perry winning with 13 points. Mrs. C. K. Smithly was second with 11 points, while Mrs. J. N. Thompson, Mrs. Zion and Mrs. Wentworth tied for third with 9 points each.

EL CABALLERO

Members of the newly organized El Caballero Country Club will celebrate the successful launching of the club with a big "get-together" on the club grounds Saturday at 2 o'clock.

At this time the club will formally open Coon-Skin Cabin, a famous old landmark of the estate, as temporary clubhouse and headquarters. The cabin, one of the very few log houses in the Southland, was built a few years ago by the late Gen. Harrison Gray Otis as a rendezvous for his comrades of the G.A.R. The cabin is to be preserved indefinitely as a nineteenth-hole feature of the new club, and from Saturday on it will be available for the use of the club members.

Under the direction of the house committee, consisting of Edgar Rice Burroughs, H. H. Merrick, M. H. Adamson, William B. Guyton and Irving R. Smith, the cabin has been furnished in rustic style and will be presided over by an old-fashioned Aunt Jemima colored woman, who will specialize in providing Andrew Jackson dinners and luncheons for the club members. Her first appearance will be made Saturday, to regale the long list of new members who have been invited to the opening. After luncheon the golf committee, under the leadership of L. W. Craig and Architect George C. Thomas, Jr., will be guided over the "layout" of the golf course, plans for which are now about complete. Rex B. Goodcell, president of the club, will be master of ceremonies.

GODSCHAUX VS. McHUGH

Frank Godschaux of New Orleans had tough sledding in his match with W. W. Leithead, who was only one down at the turn and carried his talented opponent to the seventeenth green before accepting defeat, 2 and 1. Johnny McHugh, State champion, won from R. E. Hunter, 4 and 3, being six holes to the good at the halfway point. He meets Godschaux this morning in the feature match of the second round, and is expected to turn in a victory.

Harold Thompson, the Oakmont youngster, finally defeated J. L. Mothershead on the seventieth hole, scoring a birdie four to turn the trick. His victory probably won't do him much good, however, as he runs into Von Elm today. Fred Wright faces W. W. Campbell in another interesting match.

The tournament committee made a change in the schedule yesterday. Instead of playing the finals in the championship flight Sunday the match will take place Monday, due to the fact that Sunday is Easter. Other finals will be played tomorrow over eighteen holes. Two rounds of play are scheduled for today.

Championship flight matches today:
George Von Elm vs. Harold Thompson.
Fred Wright vs. W. W. Campbell.
Harlow Hurley vs. Jack Neville.
Frank Doland vs. Dr. Paul Hunter.
Willis Hosier vs. E. H. Sawyer.
Fred LaBlonde, Jr., vs. H. I. Ingersoll.
Frank Godschaux vs. J. McHugh.
Harley Moore vs. C. P. Erdman.
Yesterday's results:

Garcia and Eddie Anderson Mi . at Hollywood Tonight

FEATHERS DRAW PACKED HOUSE

Legion Card Likely to Jam Popular Arena

Jimmy Hackley Meets Young Datto in Wind-up

Benny Kilroy and Tom Carter in Special Event

With Franklin Garcia and Eddie Anderson, both topnotch featherweights, milling in the feature event at the Hollywood American Legion stadium tonight, it's far from folly to predict that Manager Si Masters will for just about the twentieth successive week cast his eyes over a jammed and overflowing house.

Garcia has boxed twice at Hollywood since his return from the East a couple of months ago, outpointing Joe Gorman of Portland in the first bout, and dishing Dandy Dillon the loser's end in the second.

DREW WITH GRIFFIN

Anderson recently boxed a fast draw with Dandy Dick Griffin before the Movie City folk, and ever since the fans have wanted to see him in action again. Although since that bout he dropped a verdict to Stewart MacLean at Vernon, he gave away several pounds to Mike Collins's boy and made a good fight of it, despite the handicap.

MacLean pursues an entirely different style of attack than Garcia, in that he delights in forcing the going. It was his aggressive tactics that worried Anderson, and with Garcia just about as lacking in the aggressive department as any boxer possibly could be, Eddie may find the local featherweight an easier opponent to square off with. Garcia, however, boxes well and can punch dangerously with both hands. At all odds it looks as though Tom Kennedy has arranged a feature in which there will be more than just usual interest.

HACKLEY VS. DATTO

Jimmy Hackley, hard-hitting U.S.S. Procyon lightweight, will encounter Young Datto, the Filipino battler, who has been going well at Vernon of late, in the semi-wind-up. This bout is in the A.A. division of the lightweight tournament of the Pacific Coast title now being staged at Hollywood. The belt to go to the winner of the tournament is now on display in the windows of Fegen & Co., jewelers who designed it.

Benny Kilroy tackles Tommy Carter, who upset Billy Young last week, in the special event. Frankie Novey meets Benny Diaz at 115 pounds; Tommy White and Sammy Ciminnelli mix at 145 pounds; Joe Pimental mills with Kid Dallas at 118 pounds, and Pedro Villa opens the show against Bud Hanlon.

MEETS GARCIA

Oxy Athletes Arrive Safely at Lawrence

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

LAWRENCE (Kan.) April 17.—Coach Joe Pipal and his Occidental College track team from Los Angeles, Cal., arrived here this morning for the annual Lawrence Relays. The Tiger mentor pronounced his athletes in good shape following their long trip from the Pacific Coast.

The team worked out on the local track this afternoon and found it fast. Pipal in an interview said he was surprised to learn of the amount of speedy competition his men would encounter, not only in the individual races but also in the relay events.

MARQUIS POPULAR AS AMATEUR BOXER

LONDON, April 17.—The Marquis of Clydesdale, the gamest young sporting peer in England, has been taking his ups and downs with the ordinary mortals as a contestant in an amateur boxing association's championship.

In his first fight the Marquis met a youngster from the Dunlop Boxing Club in Birmingham and gained a decision on the referee's vote when the judges disagreed. In the semifinals, however, his lordship was beaten on points by an Army sergeant.

Clydesdale, however, proved he possessed a true fighting spirit, for he carried the fight to his opponent. His mother, the Duchess of Hamilton, approves his sporting proclivities and often watches him fight.

ILLINOIS VARSITY WORKOUT IN OVAL

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

BERKELEY, April 17. — The University of Illinois track team, which will meet the University of California Saturday, went through workouts again today on the California oval here.

Coach Harry Gill of Illinois has made no predictions, but he has reason to be optimistic, because of the number of stellar performers he has brought west this year. The Illini have a score to settle with the Californians, since the latter have won the last two dual meets between these universities.

Since Gill began coaching Illinois track teams, in 1904, they have won eighty-five meets, lost fourteen and tied two.

JAP COLLEGE BOYS WIN FROM AMERICANS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

TACOMA (Wash.) April 17.—Playing in a drizzling rain, the Meiji University team, intercollegiate champions of Japan, scored its first victory on its invasion of the United States by defeating the Sixth-avenue club of the Tacoma City League, 7 to 3, here this afternoon.

Yasuda, Japanese pitcher, held the Tacoma semipros to five hits, while his teammates collected eight hits off Fitzsimmons and Schultz.

Wisconsin May Enter Crew at Poughkeepsie

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

MADISON (Wis.) April 17.

Rowing, once a popular sport at Wisconsin University, is coming back into favor with the possibility that a badger crew will be entered at the annual intercollegiate regatta at Poughkeepsie in June, the first time in ten years.

A shell of the latest design is being shipped to Wisconsin from the State of Washington, the same type of boat as purchased by Yale and other colleges. Due to the lateness of the opening of the lakes, a Wisconsin shell has not been on the water, with the exception of one time this year, but Coach Vail promises that within a week the work of selecting and rejecting crew material will be on.

Habit Persists

Felicia. Isn't Mr. Luvvum an absurd person? Whenever he talks to me he always begins with "Fair lady."

Maud. Oh, that's only force of habit. You see he used to be a bus conductor.

SEALS BEAT OAKS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

OAKLAND, April 17.—Kuns, former Sacramento pitcher, made his first appearance on the mound for the Oakland Coast League baseball team here today, and pitched a good game, but Mitchell pitched a better for San Francisco, and the Seals won, 3 to 2. Valla, Seals centerfielder, made one hit, thus keeping up his record of getting one or more hits in every game this season. Score:

SACS RALLY TO WIN

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SACRAMENTO, April 17.—Sacramento staged a ninth-inning rally here today and defeated Portland by a score of 4 to 3. Eddie Hemingway, breaking into the game for the first time this season, led off with one gone in the ninth, batting for Rohwer, with a single to left and went to third when Siglin singled to right. He scored when Schang punched a safe blow over short, tying the score. Cochran followed with a double to right, scoring Siglin from second with the winning run.

Hughes replaced Prough in the seventh and was lifted to allow Koehler to bat for him in the eighth. Thompson pitched out the ninth inning, and gets credit for both Solon victories for the series. Score:

TODAY IN COAST LEAGUE CIRCLES

1923—By hitting a home run off Hanna of Los Angeles in the ninth inning, Yan Yarum of Seattle was responsible for the only run of the game. Gardner was the winning pitcher.

1920—Salt Lake found Harry Gardner of Seattle for sixteen hits, winning 14 to 4. Marty Krug, the second pitcher, had a busy day with thirteen chances offered him, of which he missed three.

1920—San Francisco made ten singles off Harry Krause of Oakland and scored nine runs from which the side was retired in the first inning. The Seals won 10 to 2, hours 15 off Bobbed Hair.

1920—Vernon applied the whitewash brush to Los Angeles twice, winning the morning game, 3 to 0 and the afternoon contest 9 to 0. Art Fromme and Willis Mitchell were the shutout artists, the former pitching two of the games, the latter allowing five.

1906—Pacific Coast League was brought practically to a standstill because of the fire. There was a earthquake. Pat Donahue, Oakland catcher, broke both legs in jumping from a hotel window.

1903—San Francisco and Oakland played a fifteen-inning scoreless tie game.

1885—Bender, pitcher for Salt Lake baseball-outfielder, born in San Francisco.

CHANCE STAYS IN BED

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, April 17.—Frank Chance, manager of the White Sox, will remain in the hospital for at least ten days. There is no chance for the pilot to accompany his team on its first road trip, which begins Tuesday night. This was the opinion expressed today by Dr. Phillip Kreuscher, club physician, who was with the manager at the Mercy Hospital during the forenoon.

"Manager Chance is getting along fine," said Dr. Kreuscher, "but we don't want him to rush out before he is ready. The sinus operation was a good thing for the patient. I am not prepared to say that this infection is entirely at the bottom of his asthma, but we expect that it will help.

"So far as being ill is concerned there is nothing much the matter with Chance. He is really in good physical condition, but naturally, the fact that he finds it hard to breathe interferes with his work. I don't expect him to join the team in the next ten days, as it is no use to take any chances."

McGraw's $50,000 Projector Eases off Some of Cost Price by Baffling Dodger Sluggers

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, April 17.—Wayland Dean, McGraw's $50,000 pitching recruit, got off to an auspicious start here today in the New York Nationals 3-to-2 victory over Brooklyn. Dean engaged in a brilliant twirling duel with Vance which was decided in the tenth inning on singles by Groh, Frisch and Kelly.

Johnston and Fournier hit Dean for home runs in the first inning, but the youngster quickly settled, only two hits being made off him after the third inning. A home run by Groh tied up the score in the fifth inning for the Giants. Score:

MACKMEN GRAB

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, April 17.—Weather more suitable for football than baseball prevailed today for the third game of the season here, which Philadelphia won, 4 to 3. A mental slip by Zahniser, who threw to second instead of home when a double steal was essayed by the Athletics in the eighth inning gave Philadelphia its winning run. CHARLEY ROOT BLANKS TIGERS popped to McAuley, who had previously made a brilliant stop and throw on Denny Murphy's slow bounder in the same inning.

CRUZ LASTS QUICK

Cecil Cruz was on the mound for the Bengals at the start of the ninth, while Jack Warner appeared at short. Cruz lasted quick and before the inning was over Essick sent in Ray Gilder and Penner, although the Angels scored only one run.

Jacobs started the ninth with a drive just inside the third-base line that went for two bases. Galvin walked and Gunther, who was back in at second for the Angels, sacrificed the runners along. Byler walked and that was all for Cruz. Root greeted Gilder with a long fly to Menosky. Jacobs coming in after the catch. Gilder then walked Twombly and the count was two balls and no strikes on McAuley when Essick derricked Ray for Penner. Penner's first offering was wide of the plate, but the next two were strikes. McAuley then grounded out to McDowell to end the inning.

Root retired Menosky, Gillespie and Blakesley in order in the last of the ninth. Tom Hughes will probably start for the Angels today, while either Sellers, Courtney or Cadore will mound for Essick.

Lincoln Nine Will Give Other Teams Race for City Championship

COACH MALLETE HAS NICE TEAM

Railsplitters Sure to Finish Up in Front

Capable Mentor Has Many Vets on Hand for Season

Nolan and Newman Look Good on Mound

BY JOE BUSH

If you're interested in trying to pick out the winner of this year's City League baseball championship, don't overlook Frank Mallete's Lincoln outfit. The Railsplitters finished high in last season's race and loom up as dangerous contenders for the title this year.

Although there will be several new faces on the Orange and Black nine this year, most of the payers are fairly good hitters and are fast on the bases. Mallette expects this speed will win quite a few ball games.

Lincoln has a couple of capable twirlers in Milt Nolan, a clever right-hander who pitched last year, and Ben Newman, a freshman southpaw whom Mallete speaks well of. The Lincoln coach thinks that these two will be able to stand most of the rival prep batters on their respective ears when the season opens.

Bern Hafenfeld, who played third base last year, has been converted into a backstop, the position Mallete thought he would have a hard time filling when the veteran Luke Rotea was lost. But Hafenfeld has been coming along in great shape and has filled the bill nicely in practice tilts to date. Lefgren and Hall are also out for the catching berth and one of the pair might possibly beat Hafenfeld out of the first string job.

Morse Winters will be back at his old stand on first base, while Ralph Lampe is again at hand to guard the keystone bag. Both are excellent fielders and manage to bag their share of hits.

Eve Pusich, who played short last year, will hold down third base. Jim Rozelli is to be the Railsplitters' shortstop. These two lads are good hitters and the Lincoln mentor figures they will drive in not a few runs.

Lincoln opens the City League season against Sid Foster's Manual Arts squad.

ALEXANDER MEETS McGREER TONIGHT

Six fast boxing bouts will be reeled off for Compton fans tonight with Victor Alexander and Jack McGreer heading the card. McGreer is the young fellow from San Fernando who has been causing much discussion around boxing men. The "Valley Kid" has been socking them over regularly around the smaller clubs. Alexander is a big favorite at Compton, and the colored boy can do his stuff when called upon. Victor has yet to make a bad fight at the legion arena.

Jack Rogers, fast southpaw, will meet Joe Behan in the semi-windup. Rogers is subbing for Cimenelli, and is a better boy. He beat Billy Ketchel at San Diego recently. Ketchel fought several main events at Hollywood and San Pedro. Behan is a slugging sailor from Long Beach. Four other bouts will be on Matchmaker Braathen's card. They follow: Bud Hanlon vs. Young Nino, 118 pounds; Gus Williams vs. Jimmy Gould, 125 pounds; Billy Armstrong vs. Battling Brown, 145 pounds, and a fast curtain raiser. Earl Mohan will referee

STATE SENATOR SWING TALKS ON CITIZENSHIP

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

ONTARIO, April 17.—State Senator Ralph Swing was the speaker yesterday afternoon before members of the Lions' Club at their luncheon meeting at Hotel Casa Blanca. Senator Swing spoke on "The Duties of Citizenship" in which he urged the importance of voters acquainting themselves with measures before casting their ballots regarding them.

TO PLANT BASS AT BALDWIN

State Fish and Game Body Decides to Stock Lake With Game Fish

Sportsmen of Southern California will be greatly interested in the announcement made yesterday by the advisory committee of the State Game and Fish Commission, which has decided to plant bass in Baldwin Lake in the Big Bear Valley. This ends an agitation extending over a period of years, it was announced at the offices of the Big Bear Estates yesterday.

For years the Fish and Game Commission has opposed the planting of bass in mountain lakes on the theory that these fish will eradicate the trout. There has never been good fishing of any kind in Baldwin Lake and the Fish and Game Commission opposed placing bass in these waters because of the danger of these fish getting into Big Bear Lake, the source of the eggs that supply all of the San Bernardino mountain streams.

Several years ago, however, someone planted bass in Big Bear Lake and these fish are now rapidly increasing. Under these circumstances it has been decided there could now be no objection to making Baldwin Lake a bass region. Game Warden W. A. Malone agreed with the recommendation and will make the application for bass for the lake. The advisory committee, which met with the game warden, includes Mike Shumaker of Onthio, Kirk Vernon of Upland, Herbert Gowland of Redlands, Fred Brown of Highland, and W. H. Rogers of San Bernardino.

BOY OPERATORS USED TO SWEAR

SO TELEPHONE COMPANIES SOON REPLACED THEM WITH GIRLS

It is hard for the present generation to imagine a swearing telephone operator, but Miss Mary Beatrice Kennedy, New York's first woman exchange operator, says she got her job because the company has tired of firing its swearing boy operators.

In those days subscribers used to come down to the telephone office to fight the operators who had sworn at them and the company became so tired of the numerous complaints that it finally replaced the boys with young women.

Miss Kennedy recently celebrated her forty-fifth anniversary, she having entered the service in 1878. "In those days," she says, "Subscribers had the habit of calling up for all sorts of information. They used to ask 'How much are eggs selling for?'

"Calling a number was unheard of. Subscribers would simply ask for Smith's drug store or Jones' grocery, or this or that building or such and such a lawyer or merchant. I used to work from 8 in the morning until 6 at night. I lived in Jersey City. To get to work I took a horse-car to the river, ferry across, took another horse-car and then walked up six flights of stairs. It is different now, isn't it?"—[Telephone Press.

A True Fan

"He comes to see you every night."

"Yes," replied Miss Cayenne.

"He must be terribly in love."

"I fear not. Our radio outfit is the only one on which he has been able to get Havana."—[Washington Star.

HAUGDAHL SIGNS ENTRY

Scandinavian Speed King Says He's Good and Will Prove it in Open Competition Next Sunday

Sig Haugdahl is not going to take it on the "lam" for Chicago or any other inland seaport as has been reported. Instead, the pilot who beat Ralph De Palma by default is going to display the speed of his 183-inch Miller in the Easter Sweepstakes at Ascot Speedway Sunday afternoon.

The Norwegian will drive fifteen laps against a field of nine other are-devils including the belligerent Leon Duray, who has been on "Hug's" trail for the past two weeks. Haugdahl filed his entry late yesterday afternoon and announced that he intends giving the Ascot speed fans a series of demonstrations of just how good he really is. "This talk of bum sportsmanship on my part when I refrained from doing the 'after you, my dear Alphonse' stunt with De Palma last Sunday is all the bunk," said Sig last night.

"The reason De Palma broke up his rear end was because I was driving him into the turns far faster than his car could stand the strain of being driven. In another lap of that second heat I would have passed him. But, although I have an engagement to drive at the opening of the Hawthorne speedway in Chicago, I made up my mind to silence the knockers by remaining here for another week and entering open competition at Ascot on Easter Sunday.

"It will give me great pleasure to have De Palma enter the same race. I will also welcome the opportunity to give the crowd a line on the respective ability of Duray and myself. But I warn the anti-Haugdahl brigade that if its members go to Ascot to see me licked they had better stay at home." Haugdahl will also compete in the Ascot Helmet Dash, using the same car he drove against De Palma.

The huge swimming tank which was installed for use of Fred Cady's diving and swimming stars, was filled with water last night and many of the aquatic frolickers will do a few practice stunts from the springboard this afternoon. More than 200 bathing beauties will participate in the parade and atmospheric tableau "Easter at the Beach" which is to be staged just before the start of the first race on Sunday. Jewell Pathe is directing the affair and promises many noted film and bathing beauties will be in the line.

BEARS SET FOR ILLINOIS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA, April 17.—Four major sport events will take place on track, diamond and tennis courts at the University of California Saturday, the 19th inst., annual university day. This year's university day is attracting the attention of not only California alumni, but also the college sport followers throughout the United States because of the intersectional dual track meet with the University of Illinois.

Two baseball games will be on the program for ball fans. In the morning the freshman swatters will cross bats with the Cardinal babe nine in the second game of their annual series. California Field will be the scene of the second varsity battle between the Stanford and California baseball nines in the afternoon.

Capt. Phil Bettens will lead the Bruin varsity racket wielders against the tanford netmen Saturday morning on the California courts. The Bruin varsity has several stars in its ranks among them Bud Chandler, runner-up to the national junior singles champion Irving Weinstein, who has won several Bay City tournaments and for two seasons won the Pacific Northwest championship, and Gerrie Stratford, who is Marin county champion. A California win is predicted.

PADDOCK RUNS HERE BUT ONCE

World's Sprint Champ Shows at Olympic Try-outs

Keith Lloyd and Cliff Argue Sure to Press Star

Phil Buckman Also Looms as Dangerous Contender

With Charles Willyum Paddock, the Montenegrin nobleman, making his only local appearance of the year at the Olympic Games try-outs to be staged at the Coliseum on May 24, it is expected that the largest crowd in the history of Los Angeles track events will be on hand. Athletes from Southern California, Arizona, and New Mexico are to gather in the Coliseum on this date to fight it out for places on the United States team bound for Paris.

Paddock is said to be in wonderful shape. He has been practicing steadily since returning to Los Angeles about two months ago and the injury to his ankle, which slowed him up some in his first workouts, has entirely healed and bothers him no longer. When the University of Illinios team worked out at the Coliseum recently, Paddock was on hand to give the Middle Westerners a welcome and, incidentally, to do a little running of his own. The Pasadena flash repeatedly beat the Indians in short 40-yard dashes and was always the first out of his holes, something that couldn't be said of him in the past. This big improvement in getting away to a fast start is expected to make Charley faster than ever.

The world's fastest human will find most of his competition from Keith Lloyd, star U.S.C. sprinter, and Cliff Argue of Occidental. Lloyd has made only one local appearance this year, winning the 100-yard dash in 9 8-10s. at the A.A.U. relays. Since then he has been practicing daily and reports from U.S.C. have him doing 9 4-5s. regularly. Argue has been clocked in 9 4-5s. in two meets this season and is a great sprinter. His teammate, Phil Buckman, may turn out to be the dark horse of the try-outs. Buckman generally runs almost a dead heat with Argue and gets under 22s. in the 220-yard dash.

According to latest reports from the committee in charge of raising the local quota of $50,000 for sending the United States team to the Olympic Games more than $15,000 has already been subscribed.

Tickets are on sale at all of the leading sporting goods stores and at the Los Angeles Athletic Club. Seats are 50 cents, $1, $2 and $3, plus tax.

"I haven't been feeling well lately," Mrs. North explained to Dr. Sparrington, "and Mr. North thought I had better consult you and see if you could find out what was the matter."

Dr. Sparrington made the examination and then announced:

"What you need is a rest, Mrs. North. You are a bit run down, is all. Take a complete rest for a while, plenty of fresh air, frequent baths and be careful about suitable clothing. That is all."

At home that evening, Mr. North asked his wife about the result of the consultation with the doctor.

"Oh, he says I ought to have a vacation," Mrs. North reported. "He recommended motor car rides, a trip to the seashore and a new dress or two."—[Kansas City Times.

SCHOONERS IN MATCH RACE SOON

Sailing Boats to Compete in Event from Los Angeles to Catalina

What promises to be the greatest schooner race ever run on the Pacific is scheduled by the California Yacht Club for Saturday and Sunday, May 3 and 4, as the direct result of a challenge by Capt. Francis Graves of the Pasqualito to Capt. Morgan Adams of the Henrietta. The defi was to a match race (with a healthy wad up on the side) around Catalina Island, from off the end of the Los Angeles Harbor breakwater and return, "boat for boat and everything goes except the engine;" course to be via the west end and around the east end of the isle.

Capt. Morgan accepted, as a matter of course, and then, to make matters decidedly interesting, he and Capt. Graves got together and decided to put up a splendid cup and open the contest to all Southern California schooners, permitting them to compete under the same conditions and win the trophy—if any of them can. This makes possible a field of almost twenty entries and it is expected a wonderful showing will be made. The long list of schooners whose owners are likely to go after the Adams-Graves Cup includes such boats as the Seaward, Uncas, Viking, Haida, Goodwill, Martha, Diablo, Caprice, Invader, Aafje, Hawaii, Edris and Scaramouche. It will be a rattling opening of the season.

To handle the race in connection with Chairman Edson B. Schock of the C.Y.C. sailing boat racing committee Commodore Herbert B. Cornish yesterday appointed Capts. Adams and Graves special committeemen. This trio will make all the rules and fix the entry fee, and definite announcements may soon be looked for. Entries will be received by Capt. Adams, Mortgage Guarantee Building.

The race is to start at 12 noon, May 3, and be called off at 7 p.m. the next day. It will be a big event in the sailing world and attract wide attention. On May 4 there will be another California Yacht Club feature at the harbor—the annual mile speed trials for power boats.

STAR ATHLETES IN DRAKE MEET

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

DES MOINES (Iowa) April 17. Four special events, in which athletes of national reputation will compete, hold outstanding positions on the program of the fifteenth annual Drake University relay meet, which will bring approximately 1500 university, college and high school athletes from coast to coast here the 25th and 26th inst.

Charles Paddock, world's champion sprinter, will show his form in dash events on both days of the meet. On Friday afternoon the California flash will race a special 100-yard dash against a picked field of rivals. On Saturday Paddock will participate in a 125-yard dash event.

On Friday a special 440-yard low hurdle race will bring together a great galaxy of stars, including Brookins, Coulter and Crawford of Iowa, Taylor of Grinnell, Layton of Nebraska, Patterson of Drake and others.

Harold Osborne of Illinois and Leroy Brown of Dartmouth will attempt to better the world's record of 6ft. 7 5-16in. in the high jump in a special event carded for Friday afternoon. Both have been clearing the bar at 6ft. 7in. in practice recently, and they stand an even chance of establishing a new world's mark at the Drake classic.

A special quarter-mile race, in which Wolters of Ames, Wilson of Iowa, Fitch of Illinois and Hagen of Northwestern will compete, will be another stellar attraction. These athletes are considered the best in the West today at this distance, and they should stage a great race

OLD FRENCH WEDDING CUSTOM IS REVIVED

An odd old custom was revived last October in the Flemish village of Comines, tucked away in the north of France.

About 1454 the Seigneur Jean de Comines, having been imprisoned after the good old custom by a neighboring prince, managed to reveal his whereabouts by throwing the wooden utensils given him for table use out of the dungeon where he was confined.

When his faithful subjects came to rescue him, he established a fair at which the ceremonial of throwing these "louches"—as the country people still call them—among the crowd was always carried out.

But after a few hundred years of throwing louches the people of Comines got tired of it, and the custom was abandoned. This year, however, some enterprising member of the Comines Rotary Club thought it high time to disinter the old tradition, and the white-bearded father of the municipalite solemnly mounted a platform guarded by two huge and grinning wooden dolls and hurled the wooden louches into the assembled throng.

Not everyone in the crowd escaped injury, but, according to a French account, "You could see people boasting of the fact that they carried on their heads the marks of the blows received in this rough distribution."—[Living Age.

DOPE FAVORS HOLLYWOOD

Out-of-Town Athletes Will Cut into Manual's Points in Big Prep Meet at Coliseum

Dopesters who have been figuring out the Southern California high school track and field meet to be staged at the Coliseum a week from tomorrow have been making the Hollywood outfit a slim favorite to win over Manual Arts, holders of the city championship. The Foothillers are given a slight edge by most of the judges because they think the out-of-town schools will cut into Manual points more heavily than Hollywood's.

The Toilers defeated Hollywood in the city meet by snagging nearly all of the first places on the track. Requa won both hurdles, Hansen took the mile and half-mile, while Hanford ran away with the quarter. The only track event the Artisans didn't win was the 100-yard dash, in which Klein of Hollywood tied with Woodyard of Jefferson.

There are several stars from the sticks who will press Coach Sid Foster's men in all the running events, and several are expected to upset the dope and take first places.

In the field Hollywood's points seem good, although Lee Barnes may be given a surprise by Smith of San Diego, in the pole vault. Williams of Inglewood also figures in this event, and a slip-up by the Movie City star would play havoc with the Foothillers' chances. Barnes is almost a cinch to win the broad jump, Walker of Hemet being his most dangerous rival. Eads may be beaten out of his second or third place in the high jump by the Hemet lad.

In all probability the meet will be decided by the relay, and it is in this event that the Foothillers excel, for their 220-yard dash men are all capable of better than 23s. flat.

Whittier and L.A.A.C. Nines in Tie Contest

A fast game played at Whittier yesterday resulted in a 5-to-5 tie between the Whittier College baseball nine and the Los Angeles Athletic Club ball tossers. Whittier came through with three runs to tie the count in the last of the ninth, and when an additional inning had been played without breaking the tie the game was called on account of darkness.

Independent Bush League Is Organized

The Independent Baseball League, a semipro organization that is self-governing and self-supporting, was formed at a meeting held last Wednesday night.

The new league will open a twenty-eight-game schedule on May 4. Judge E. P. Woods was elected president of the loop, William (Pep) Kerwin, secretary, and Larry Arnold, treasurer. Eight clubs have already entered the new league and it is possible that two more teams may come in before play starts.

Judge Woods stated that the Independent League has no quarrel with either association and is out to do everything in its power to further the best interest of baseball.

Following are the clubs already entered in the league: Shell Oil, San Pedro, Sawtelle, Belvedere Gardens, Palms, Redondo, Southern California Gas Company and Hammond Lumber Company.

ELDERLY NOTABLES

Chauncey M. Depew Nears 90, and John Aikman Stewart is 101

Three months older than Gen. George Wingate, known far and wide as "the father of rifle practice in America," is George F. Baker, the banker, who daily journeys from Wall street from his home in Madison avenue. Mr. Baker was born March 17, 1840. John D. Rockefeller is a year older than either the general or the great banker. He will be 85 July 8.

But there are two men in Gotham who, after John Aikman, constitute the vanguard of distinguished elderly personages—ex-Senator Chauncey M. Depew, who will be 90 on his coming birthday, the 23rd inst., and John R. Voorhis, the election board official, who will be 95 July 27.

The dinners given by Senator and Mrs. Depew at their home in West Fifty-fourth street are among the most sought after in the social world. The other night, Mr. Depew made a speech at the Pilgrims' banquet, and his voice was that of a man half his age. He goes to his offices in the Grand Central Terminal every day, and his sprightliness is remarkable for one who was starting his career as attorney for the New York and Harlem Railroad Company when Seymour was nominated by the Democrats.

Mr. Depew electioneered for Grant in that political campaign, being a Republican leader who, 34 years of age, had already served in the Assembly and been Secretary of State for New York.—[Raymond G. Carroll in a New York Letter to the Philadelphia Ledger.

CAT SAVES YOUNG MASTER

Willie Boatright, aged 9, of Buckeye, fell asleep in his father's yard Sunday night with his faithful friend, a big blue tabby cat, also asleep by his side. The evening was warm and nobody missed the child until a terrific struggle was heard in the edge of the lawn where the boy lay sleeping. The faithful cat had slept lightly and the stealthy approach of a big black spreading adder in the grass had not been without her seeing and giving battle to save her little master. Now the blue tabby is priceless, for Mr. and Mrs. Boatright believe that she saved the life of their little boy.—[Arkansas Gazette.

TOWN SOON TO GO BANKRUPT

Salem, O., Facing Serious Financial Predicament

Shrinkage in Taxes Leaves Treasury in the Hole

Mayor as Judge May Help by Levying Heavy Fines

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SALEM (O.) April 17.—This city of 13,000 went to bed tonight knowing that in less than three weeks it will be bankrupt. Mayor J. B. Schaeffer is the only one who can wave anything resembling the magic wand, but his best efforts will not pull the city through half a month.

Mayor Schaffer also is the municipal judge and the only source of revenue lies in fines he imposes. The estimated shortage is $7000 and the municipal judge's office normally brings in about $1500 a month, so he will have to assess many fines to keep the wheels moving. Therefore it behooves the citizens to walk the straight and narrow path in Salem or pay a fine.

COUNCIL HELPLESS

The City Council has thrown up its hands and says it can do nothing in the fact of a prospect of no fire or police protection. The reason for the shortage is the fact that this year the tax rolls fell $700,000 short of last year. Property has increased in value, but many residents failed to return their usual assessment values and the money available is approximately $7000 short of actual expenses. The fact remains that the city is broke and will be broke until July 1. Every available fund has been pared to help the deficit. An official holiday of two months, with the firemen, policemen and others remaining on duty, but drawing no pay, would solve the difficulty, but there has been no move in this direction.

PRISONERS ANXIOUS

Prisoners in the City Jail are worrying over the situation, as there is no fund to buy their food. They may have to be released.

City Auditor McNutt said the city could borrow in anticipation of the July tax receipts, but that would result in an increase shortage at the end of the year and mean a three months' shutdown then. If city officials sue for their salaries and get judgments the already topheavy bond situation will almost topple over into the bare treasury, and it is considered suicidal to issue additional bonds.

Lassen Peak Belches Out Smoke Cloud

CAPTURE OF BESEIGED CITY WILL GIVE LEADER ALL OF FUKIEN

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

AMOY (China) April 17.—Refusing to comply with the order of their commander, Gen. Chang Tse-Ping, the leader who has been holding Amoy, a small garrison left here by him is engaging in a spirited rifle and machine-gun fight with troops sent by General Wu Pei-Fu, the northern commander.

The invaders, who are in the southern part of the city, are being supported by a light barrage from a gunboat anchored outside the harbor limits. The garrison outnumbered, and occupying an unfavorable position, is not expected to hold out long.

The capture of Amoy and the complete rout of Gen. Chang Tse-Ping are expected. This would leave practically all of Fukien Province under Gen. Wu Pei-Fu.

STUDENT TRIO IN MAIL ROBBERY SENTENCED

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

MISSOULA (Mont.) April 17.—Bernard Quesnel of Kallspell, Mont.; Robert Ackler of Butte and Robert Heller of Boston, formerly students at the University of Montana here, were sentenced to terms of eight months in the County Jail by U. S. Dist. Judge Charles N. Pray today, following their pleas of guilty to a charge of robbing the Missoula Postoffice last January and assaulting a mail clerk. The youths, ranging from 19 to 21 years of age, escaped with a registered package containing $25,000, which later was recovered.

HOSPITAL FOR SOLDIER SUSPECTED OF BIGAMY

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

BUTTE (Mont.) April 17.—William Berry, former service man and asserted to have five wives in as many towns in the West, has been ordered to Fort Sheridan, Wyo., for hospitalization. He is said to be suffering from the effects of shell shock overseas.

TOMBSTONE MONEY STOLEN

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, April 17.—Mrs. Marie Aiello, widow of William Aiello, who was a member of the New York Fire Department and who was killed on duty at a fire a year ago, will not erect a monument at the head of her husband's grave tomorrow, the anniversary of his burial. A thief entered her apartment at 12 North Washington Place, Astoria, and stole $125 she had saved to pay for the tombstone.

SLAIN BOY'S FATHER MAY SPRING GALLOWS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

FLORENCE (Ariz.) April 17.—The State will interpose no objection to a request by W. H. Grosh, aged father of Ted Grosh, slain university student, to spring the gallows trap to execute William B. Ward, Globe negro, who was convicted of the youth's murder, it was announced today by R. B. Sims, superintendent of the Arizona State prison.

QUITS AFTER FIFTY YEARS

PLAINFIELD (N. J.) April 17. Thaddeus O. Doane, who for over fifty years has served as fire chief and building inspector has retired. He was succeeded by Thomas Butler of Rahway, N. J., an engineer. Mr. Doane will continue as consulting inspector.

SHOOTS SIX TO ASSURE PROMOTION

So Charge Enemies of Gen. Lopez of Mexico, Who Gets High Army Post

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

JUAREZ (Mex.) April 17.—Shooting six men is a weird way of gaining a promotion, even in the Mexican army, which has a peculiar way of doing things at times. But that is what happened to Gen. Ramon Lopez, former commander of the Juarez garrison and now commander of the northeastern military zone, which was once commanded by Pancho Villa, it is charged.

While a colonel in command of the local garrison during the late De la Huerta revolution, Lopez discovered a plot to assassinate a number of leading Obregon officers, including himself, loot the banks and turn the town against the government. The discovery was made late Saturday night. The six suspects were arrested early Sunday morning, given a court-martial trial and sentenced to be shot. The court order was carried out by a firing squad at the little cemetery on the hill, where Villa forced the sexton to work overtime burying his victims.

So completely was the revolutionary plot crushed that no further effort was made to foment trouble in this troublesome border town. Gen. Obregon was quick to recognize Lopez's loyalty by making him a brigadier-general. When Gen. Ignacio Enriquez retired as zone commander to run for the Senate Lopez was called to Chihuahua City and appointed to take command of the northeastern zone with headquarters in the State capital.

Lopez's enemies insist that the purported plot was an imaginary one created by Lopez's friends to gain his promotion. They also charge that he hal "El Mocho"—the One-Armed—shot with the five others because he and his friends wished to gain control of a hidden cache of Villa gold in an old well here.

POINCARE LOSES ON GERMAN ELECTIONS

POSTPONEMENT DEPRIVES PREMIER OF HEAVY AMMUNITION

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PARIS, April 17. — The postponement of the German elections, making them coincident with the French, is expected to deprive Premier Poincare and his party of their heaviest ammunition which they had expected to use against radical Socialists during the final week of the campaign.

Every indication points to the Nationalists scoring a sweeping victory throughout the Fatherland, even former Crown Prince William being reported as likely of election to the Reichstag. Militarists and junkers everywhere will be returned, it is believed.

Following such an event M. Poincare would have been enabled to warn France to elect a bloc of Deputies pledged for the present government and to repudiate the radical Socialists because they were not strong enough to oppose the German Nationalists.

WIFE SLAYER ASKS THAT HE BE HANGED

MATE WOULDN'T JOIN HIM IN LIFE, WOULD MEET HER IN DEATH

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, April 17. — Sam Rosen, a tailor, who killed his wife March 27, last, because she refused to live with him any longer, said that he hoped the State would hand him as life was nothing without her, and he hoped to join her after death.

Rosen says he has an ulcerated stomach, which physicians have pronounced incurable. He also is afflicted with tuberculosis. "I have nothing to live for," he said when arraigned in Criminal Court yesterday. "I loved my wife, but if she wouldn't return to me in life I want to join her in death."

After Mrs. Rosen had left him, Rosen waylaid her and shot her in the presence of scores of people.

ROADS LOOKING AHEAD IN MARKET FOR TIES

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

VANCOUVER (B. C.) April 17. Northern British Columbia, from Prince Rupert east, has an extensive area of tie and pole timber that is commencing to be operated for export. Contracts for 3,000,000 feet of ties have been awarded in the last two months in this district, and railways all over North America are interested in the possible exports from this district.

Many of these railroads are conserving timber adjacent to their tracks and are buying in distant markets when prices are right. As a consequence of this far-sighted policy the tie and pole areas in Northern British Columbia are attracting much attention.

MAN KNOCKED DOWN AND INJURED BY AUTO

FRESNO, April 17.—Antonio Valerio, 36, Southern Pacific section hand, was knocked down and slightly injured last night while crossing Tulare street between E and F streets. The automobile of James E. Halpin, 1827 El Dorado street, struck him, inflicting bruises of the right forearm and head. Police took Valerio to the city emergency hospital in the basement of the City Hall. Broadway and Merced streets, for treatment.

DAIRYMEN ANGERED

BUTTE (Mont.) April 17.—Members of the Dairymen's Association appeared at a meeting of the City Council Committee and asked for more rigid inspection of dairies, asserting some ranchmen are using a few cows to mask moonshine distilleries and are delivering milk and illicit liquor from the same wagons.

Holds Teachers May be Forced to Resign Posts

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SACRAMENTO, April 17.—Teachers who have served for more than thirty years, and who, in the judgment of the Board of Trustees employing them, are physically or mentally incapacitated, may be compelled to retire on pension without a hearing, Atty.-Gen. Webb held today in an opinion given to Will C. Wood, superintendent of public instruction.

The Teachers' Tenure Act provides that a hearing be given and charges preferred before any teacher may be dismissed, but Webb held that provisions for pensioning teachers no longer able to attend to their duties supersedes the tenure act.

DEPOSED BANKER OF KANSAS CITY IS DEAD

END COMES AFTER $600,000 SHORTAGE IS FOUND IN HIS BOOKS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

KANSAS CITY (Mo.) April 17. John M. Moore, deposed president of the Fidelity National Bank and Trust Company, died at his home here today without making any statement as to a discrepancy of $600,000 which had been found in his accounts.

Mr. Moore left the bank complaining of illness shortly after the shortage was discovered last Friday. Later that day Mrs. Moore found him unconscious on the bathroom floor at their home. Moore rallied only slightly on Monday and was unconscious from then until his death.

Physicians said the banker was suffering from a recurrence of a diabetic condition that became critical Friday.

SYNTHETIC OPIUM IS FOUND IN BAY CITY

SEIZURE BY FEDERAL AGENTS SAID TO BE FIRST IN THE COUNTRY

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN FRANCISCO, April 17.—A seizure of synthetic opium, said by Federal authorities to be the first in the country, was made here today by a squad directed by Chief Agent Charles Writesman of the Federal Narcotic Bureau in the quarters of Frank Moore, asserted drug peddler. Moore was charged with a violation of the Harrison Narcotic Act, although there is a question whether the contraband comes within the scope of the act.

The synthetic opium is the creation of a German chemist, according to Writesman, and while it has no derivatives of the real opium, the effect on the consumer is approximately the same.

QUIZ TAKES UP NORRIS DISCHARGE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, April 17.—The House Committee investigating the Shipping Board, devoted virtually its whole session today to discussing the wisdom of "the discharge" for alleged irregularities of Waldo R. Norris, port representative at Antwerp, by Huntington T. Morse, Emergency Fleet Corporation director for Europe and the committee's witness.

Representative Davis, Democrat, Tennessee, prosecutor for the committee, charged that Norris, who had been given the alternative by Morse of resigning or "forcing him (Morse) to take some action" had been "convicted" on mere suspicion and without any tangible evidence warranting it. Representative Cooper, Republican, Wisconsin, also charged the port official had been let out without due hearing.

Records were read showing Norris had been exonerated by investigators sent from Washington. Mr. Morse said he had done everything to arrange a hearing for Norris and he believed Washington was "without the facts" in the case.

Representative Lineberger, Republican, California, said the case had simmered down to a question whether Morse's superiors would accept his judgment or dispense with his services. He added that whether "you are right or wrong, personally I admire your sincerity and your statement that you would not be swayed by political influences."

MACEDONIAN PATRIOT GIVES LIFE TO CAUSE

SHOOTS SELF IN AMERICAN CONSULATE TO INSURE RESPECT FOR WILL

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

SOFIA (Bulgaria) April 17.—Choosing the American consulate as his place of sacrifice, Nikolai Guenoff, a former high Macedonian official, today committed suicide, that his estate might go to the Macedonian cause.

Guenoff had been desirous of turning over his entire fortune to the Macedonian organization, but found he was unable to do so, under the Bulgarian laws, unless he died on foreign soil. The estate of a person dying in Bulgaria without legal heirs is confiscated by the State.

The former official entered the consulate and asked the vice-consul, F. Leroy Spangler, a few questions; the answers to which confirmed his understanding of the law. Then, shouting: "This is American soil," he drew a revolver and fired a shot into his brain.

Fifty thousand levas and $4000 in currency, were found on his body together with a will leaving it all to the Macedonian cause.

FEDERATION OPPOSES INDIAN LAND GRANT

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

RIVERSIDE, April 17.—Members of the Mission Indian Federation today went on record against the allotment by government of Indian lands, as planned by the Department of the Interior. The proposition was put up to the delegates. Adam Castillo, president of the Federation, presented the question to the delegates in the Spanish language and Chief Joe Pete presented in Indian. The vote was taken and it was unanimously against the allotment plan. Dr. Samuel Blair, from the Department of the Interior in Washington, was present when the vote was taken. Dr. Blair talked to the Indians, telling them that he was not there to make any promises or to tell the Indians what they should do. "I am here to visit your reservations, learn your needs and desires and report the same back to the department. Your vote today on the allotment plan will be reported to the department at Washington."

TONG TO BUILD NEW HOSPITAL IN CHINA

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

FRESNO, April 17.—Decision to establish a public hospital for Chinese at Canton, China, has been reached at the annual international convention of the Bing Kong Tong in session here.

About 200,000 yen will be needed at once Tong men estimated. Delegates to the convention are to raise about $120,000 for this, and for an elementary school at Canton when they return to their respective districts after the closing of the convention tomorrow and send it to Tong headquarters at San Francisco. Both the school and hospital are to be maintained by the Tong, though public.

An American doctor is to have charge of the hospital.

It is intended to make the establishments the first of a series that will eventually, it is hoped, cover the entire State of Canton, about three times the size of California.

GREAT RESERVOIR FILLING

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PHOENIX, April 17.—The storage reservoir at Roosevelt now contains 1,000,000 acre feet of water. This quantity has been known behind the dam four times in the history of the project. It is believed the reservoir will be filled by the run-off from melting snows, thus assuring the Salt River Valley an abundant irrigation supply for at least two years to come.

MEXICO FIGHTS LABOR EXODUS

Government Alarmed Over Emigration Rush

Thousands Wait Entry to United States

Economic Situation Blamed for Condition

BY JACK STARR-HUNT
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

MEXICO CITY, April 17.—A different problem from that of the United States is Mexico's. Her trouble now is to curtail emigration.

The Foreign Office and the Ministry of the Interior are acutely alarmed over the great exodus of laborers to the United States. In Nuevo Laredo and Juarez alone there are upward of 12,000 awaiting entry to the United States.

The Mexican government has placed every obstacle legally possible in the way of the proposed emigrants, but is now finding itself helpless against the persistent efforts of all classes to enter the United States. The National Railway lines report they will be carrying toward the border during the Easter holidays 30,000 families to join the workers already north of the Rio Grande.

The cause of the exodus is solely the economic crisis through which Mexico is now passing. Official reports from the border to government departments advise that a majority of these emigrants are in a state of penury, and as the American authorities are handling only fifty cases daily, a critical situation is fast developing. Authoritative estimates are that by September there will be 100,000 Mexicans for repatriation.

Intensive government propaganda is now on foot at all border towns, pointing out the difficulties of obtaining work in the United States and the danger of being left stranded there.

Truck Driver Loses Pay Roll Along Highway

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BAKERSFIELD, April 17.—The $4500 pay roll of the Havenstrite & Baker Company, drilling contractors, disappeared last night while being brought from Los Angeles to Taft by Fred Green, company truck driver.

According to Green, who reported the loss when he arrived at Taft early today, the pay roll was carried in signed checks under the seat of his truck. Between Sandberg and Lebec on the Ridge route to Los Angeles, Green stopped and was away from the truck for a time. He believes the pay roll was stolen at that time, although it is possible that it may have been lost earlier on the trip.

300 MILLIONS

We Have Potential Agricultural Strength to Care for That Number

One may doubt the wisdom of much further increase in numbers (of population.) One may realize that continued growth will make life harder. But the most varied assortment of doubts is not going to bring population increase to a standstill immediately.

Pearl estimates that we tend to a maximum of 200,000,000 and that for all practical purposes an approximate maximum will be reached in about eighty years. A rather optimistic estimate of the potential agricultural strength gives somewhat more than 300,000,000 as a possibility.

Be it the one or the other, the figures are not small. Let one imagine half again as many cities and towns each about half again as large as they are today. Let him picture twice or thrice as many people on every farm. Whether the picture is terrifying or attractive depends on one's hopes and desires and prejudices; but no one can deny that the additional mouths will mean a change in habit of life.

We have a potential agricultural capacity sufficient to care for between 200,000,000 and 300,000,000 people. This is real strength. If doubts arise, they concern probabilities rather than possibilities.

That is to say, the practical question is whether this tremendous power of food production can really be developed as it should be, slowly, carefully, and efficiently as needed, thus keeping the standard of living worthy of the past and present, or whether our course will be that of China and India, with a mounting death rate marking the growing fierceness of the struggle.—[E. M. East in Scribner's Magazine.

The Spenders

The average retail expenditures per person included in the population of the United States in 1922 was $217.77, exclusive of the items of rent and miscellaneous services, which do not enter into retail trade. Using $217 as a base, it is apparent that the expenditures for each 1000 persons would be $217,000. Using the expenditures per 1000 of population, it is possible to determine the expenditures of any community. By ascertaining the expenditures of 12,000 white families of wage-earners included in the population of 92 industrial cities in 1918 the Department of Labor arrived at the cost of living for that year, and determined totals for all families by groups of expenditures. By taking the money values of the 1918 budget and applying the changes in the cost of living reported regularly by the Department of Labor it was discovered that the budget for 1922 differed from that of 1918. The difference is explained by the effect of new factors such as prohibition and the increased use of automobiles.

MIDDLE WEST NEWS IN BRIEF

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

MILWAUKEE, April 17.—Menasha is a city with two councils. This unique situation has developed as a result of the recent city election and the refusal of Mayor M. M. Schoetz, defeated candidate for re-election, to recognize his incoming successor. Immediately following the election on April 1, Mayor Schoetz filed a demand for a recount, although he was third in the running when the votes had been counted. He has since secured counsel and threatens to carry the battle to the Supreme Court unless his demands are met. Meanwhile he insists that he is still Mayor. Several of the ward contests between candidates for aldermen were exceedingly close and the Mayor contends that a recount might change the official line-up materially.

Death claimed four pioneers of Sheboygan county within the last two days: William M. Wagner, 61 years of age, of Haven; Julius Buerger, 82, of Sheboygan; Michael Schuessler, 74, of Wilson, and Gottfried Zehms, 74, Sheboygan.

OMAHA

OMAHA, April 17.—The Missouri River was running three feet below flood stage yesterday after a rise of nearly six inches. It was subsiding upstream.

The fuieral of Mrs. A. P. Jarvis, 53 years of age, a former resident of Fullerton, was held there yesterday. Mrs. Jarvis was well-known in that part of the State as a writer and poet. She is survived by five children.

Funeral services for P. J. Kerrigan, 68 years of age, of Greeley, one of the most prominent bankers in that section of the State, were conducted yesterday. He died Saturday night as a result of a stroke of apoplexy.

E. P. "Gene" Mumford, 61 years of age, private secretary to Gov. J. H. Morehead during his administration, is dead at his home in Beatrice. He had a large acquaintance throughout Nebraska.

DES MOINES

DES MOINES, April 17.—Robert Laughlin, 55 years of age, committed suicide at Creston yesterday by drowning himself in McKinley Park Lake. Worry over financial troubles is said to have prompted the act. He was in the tobacco business at Creston for twenty-five years.

Elaborate preparations will be made by spring to effectively combat the "Morion fly" in the southwestern part of the State.

Mrs. Jane McFarland, 90 years of age, widow of the late Lewis H. McFarland, died at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Leborah J. Kasson, where she had made her home for the last fifteen years. Mrs. McFarland is survived by her daughter and son, George E. McFarland, president of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company of San Francisco.

Rev. Frank C. McKean, pastor of Central Presbyterian Church for eleven years, announced his resignation to accept a call to the pulpit of the First Presbyterian Church at Spokane, Wash., at the annual meeting and dinner held at the church last night.

ST. LOUIS

ST. LOUIS, April 17.—Residents of the millionaire colony on Clayton Road, St. Louis county, and representatives of the St. Louis Country Club, may appear April 28 before the County Board of Equalization to protest against an increase of $88,800 in personal tax assessments which were approved by the board.

Mrs. Estelle Peper Barlow came all the way from Colombo, Ceylon, a distance of 11,000 miles, to testify yesterday in Circuit Judge Taylor's court in defense of her right to the possession of jewels once worn by her mother, the late Caroline J. Peper, who died in 1920, and to 879 shares of stock in the Peper Tobacco Company, which she obtained from her mother.

Mrs. Shepard Barclay, 71 years of age, died at Clifton Springs, N. Y., while visiting there with her husband, former Judge Barclay of the Circuit and State Supreme Courts. Judge and Mrs. Barclay had celebrated their golden wedding anniversary June 11, last.

Harry B. Mathews, Jr., vice-president and general manager of the Mississippi Lime and Material Company of Alton, Ill., was made defendant in a petition for separate support and maintenance filed by his wife, Mrs. Marie McKenna Mathews. The petition alleges that Mathews is worth $1,000,000 and has an income of $18,000 a year. Cruelty and non-support is charged.

KANSAS CITY

KANSAS CITY, April 17.—Dr. S. B. Langworthy, 66 years of age, a physician of Leavenworth thirty years, died at his home there. He had been suffering from heart disease several weeks.

Purchase of the old Col. C. D. Perry ranch of 16,000 acres, south of Englewood, Kan., by George Thies, Jr., president of the Arkansas Valley Interurban Railroad Company, was announced at Wichita yesterday. The purchase was made from the J. C. Beck estate at Burlington, Iowa. The price was not announced.

The new Cowley county (Kansas) oil field might well be called the "widow's oil field." The Johnson well is drilled on part of Mrs. L. F. Johnson's ranch, the Glasgow well is on a farm owned by Mrs. Susan Glasgow, and the Workman well, 600 feet north of the Johnson producer, is owned by Mrs. Sarah Workman. All three are widows. The new wells are estimated at several hundred barrels daily and promise riches to the farm owners.

INDIANAPOLIS

INDIANAPOLIS, April 17.—Samuel W. Greenland, vice-president and general manager of the $20,000,000 Indiana Service Corporation at Fort Wayne, has announced his resignation to take effect on or before May 15. Mr. Greenland will accept a position with the Newman Saunders Company, Inc., of New York as their personal representative in the reorganization of the United Railways Company of St. Louis.

The strange story of a youth who returned recently to the home of his supposed father and mother at Brazil, Ind., after six years' absence, and later blasted their happiness by a denial of relationship, came to light yesterday with the return to Indianapolis of William Fritz Young, charged with deserting from the Marine Corps. In the Marion County Jail last night, where he is held pending return to Parris Island, S. C., Young steadfastly denied that he was the James Cole claimed by Mr. and Mrs. John Cole of Brazil as their son.

LOUISVILLE

LOUISVILLE, April 17.—Louisville's reputation as a city of beautiful homes was enhanced yesterday, according to officials in the office of the Building Inspector, when fourteen permits were issued for a total of $237,000. Most of the permits called for stone and brick residences.

By the will of Charles E. Birk of Owensboro, he leaves an estate valued at $125,000 to his three daughters, Mrs. Carrie Long, Mrs. Josie Saunders and Mrs. Mittie Jagoe of Owensboro, and two grandchildren, Miss Ruth Helen Birk and Charles Birk of Evansville. The estate is to be equally divided.

Jacob H. Mayer, 87 years of age, retired horse-collar manufacturer and formerly president of the German Protestant Orphans' Home, died suddenly at his residence.

DETROIT

DETROIT, April 17.—Hiram C. Walker, millionaire manufacturer of Walkerville, Ont., was named defendant in a suit for unstated damages filed at Sandwich, Ont., by Malcolm E. Kanady, a Windsor motor car salesman, who charges Walker with alienating his wife's affections. In another bill, Kanady asks the custody of his two children, Helen, 10 years of age, and Herbert, 7. His wife, Mabel G., is suing for separate maintenance.

North Shore cottages at Black Lake were imperiled early yesterday when fire destroyed the beautiful home of Prof. Robert Evans, formerly of Hope College. Holland firemen succeeded in checking small fires resulting from falling embers. The loss was estimated at $30,000.

John N. Northrup, who retired as City Treasurer of Flint yesterday reported to police two hours before he gave up his office that $1952 had been taken from the cash drawers in his office some time during the night. The robbery, he said, was discovered by a clerk in his office who found the cash drawers open and all of the money gone when she reached the office this morning. Northrup was defeated to re-election a week ago.

Robert Peery, 99 years of age, and believed to have been the oldest man in Genesee county, died at the home of his son, Theodore, at Fenton. He was related to Commodores Oliver Hazard Perry and Mathew Perry. He had lived in the house where he died continuously for more than sixty years.

AKRON

AKRON (O.) April 17.—The Sunday closing problem which apparently had died a natural death in the Council was revived when a delegation of twenty ministers representing more than eighty Protestant churches in Akron, appeared in the Council chamber and asked the Councilmen to pass an ordinance outlawing Sunday dancing here. After twelve of the ministers had spoken, Council by a vote of 6 to 5 went on record as favoring an ordinance closing public dance halls on Sundays. In accordance with the vote, the ordinance was introduced by Councilman Ross and was referred to the social service committee.

Mrs. Vic Summer Clark, 83 years of age, a member of one of the pioneer families of Akron and mother of Mrs. E. R. Bathrick, widow of the late Congressman Bathrick, died at her daughter's home last night.

DENVER

DENVER, April 17.—Frank E. Cristy, prominent hardware merchant of Telluride, Colo., died in his room at the Brown Palace Hotel last night from pneumonia, following an illness of four days. Mr. and Mrs. Cristy had been guests at the Brown Palace for a week.

MINNEAPOLIS

MINNEAPOLIS, April 17.—The Rev. Peder Tangjerd, 60 years of age, editor of Lutheraneren, the official church paper of the Norwegian Lutheran Church of America, died from an apoplectic stroke yesterday at his home.

The senior class of 1924 will have the distinction of having among its graduates the youngest student ever graduated from the Rochester High School. He is Chauncey Hauck, who had his fifteenth birthday last December. After graduating, Chauncey will go to work in one of the laboratories of St. Mary's Hospital, Rochester, and later plans to enter the University of Minnesota.

Funeral services were conducted yesterday for Norman E. Forsyth, Village Treasurer and cashier of the Security State Bank at Houston, Minn., who died there after an illness of four months. He was 27 years of age. Mr. Forsyth was Worshipful Master of the Masonic Lodge.

A valuable Holstein sire owned by William Schaper of Lake Pleasant, died yesterday because of its fondness for metallic diet. The animal had been sick for several days but the cause could not be determined. A post mortem operation disclosed three six penny nails, seven shingle nails, a piece of wire and a chain link pin in the stomach. The bull was a registered purebred.

NOT TO BE OUTDONE

It was the last day of school before annual spring vacation and a teacher in the junior high school at Anderson was having little success with a class of pupils whose thoughts were bent more on the vacation than on studies. With the training of a first-rate schoolmistress she feigned that all was well with her, but school children are not "fooled" by a teacher.

Just as the last class of the day adjourned, she made this remark to the students:

"I hope you all have a very enjoyable spring vacation, and hope that when you come back you'll be in your right minds——"

Willing to Try Again

His tone was not unkind, but it was firm. The young wife was astounded.

"Why, Timon," said she, "I got a medal at the cooking school for waffles."

"Did you, indeed?"

"I did."

"Let me see the medal."

She brought it and he examined it carefully.

"So you did get a medal. Bring back those waffles and I'll have another try at them."—[Unidentified.

RADIO BILL HIT BY COMPOSERS

Authors, Playwrights Also Voice Opposition

Authors Assert Royalties Greatly Reduced

Declare They Aim Only at Commercial Stations

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, April 17.—Composers, authors and playwrights appealed today at a Senate hearing for defeat of the Dill bill to release radio broadcasting stations from royalty imposition under the copyright laws. John Phillip Sousa and Augustus Thomas were among those who voiced a protest against the measure.

"The Radio Corporation of America gets money, doesn't it?" queried Mr. Sousa, in a brief exposition of his position. "If they get money out of my tunes, I want some of it. That's all."

TELLS SECRET

He had a "secret" to tell the committee, Mr. Sousa continued, and it was that the whole era of "mechanical music," by which he denominated phonographs as well as radio and other music-rendering machines, had meant loss to composers.

"My royalties in the days when sheet music was all that was sold used to run to $60,000 a year," he added, "but they have never touched that figure since."

Victor Herbert, Irving Berlin, Augustus Thomas and other leading lights of the music and producing industries were present.

REMOVES INITIATIVE

"This bill takes away initiative—the reward for it, at least," said Dudley Buck, composer, and if enacted will result in the elimination of American song writers."

He said his organization was after the cabaret with its "cover charge," the movie houses, which gave copyrighted music as an integral part of their programs and department stores or broadcasting stations which used music as a part of their elaborate publicity programs.

"We do not want a nickel," he said, "from the educational institution, charity organizations or municipal radio station."

Buck estimated the annual sales of all branches of music aggregated $600,000,000 and asserted the value of a song to an author had been decreased 50 per cent as a result of radio distribution.

Motor Car Dealers in Argentina Keep Expensive Watch on Buyers

Buenos Aires motor car dealers are confronted with a peculiar problem in selling cars on time, as a result of the fact that in Argentina chattel mortgages are not recognized by law.

The dealer has, consequently, no absolutely safe method of protecting himself from a dishonest purchaser, who may even sell the car, and in some cases has done so, before it belongs to him, pocketing the money.

The custom of selling cars on time has been in existence in Argentina only in recent years. It was originally started by a venturesome dealer who was willing to take a chance on possible losses, and since that time competing dealers have been obliged, one after another, to fall in line.

Two principal safeguards have been devised. Some dealers accept the purchaser's note coupled with a commercial guarantee, but since commercial failures are by no means rare in Argentina this method has often proved a bad risk. Under the other system the dealer retains title in the car, which is licensed under his name until it is paid for. While most dealers declare their losses from time sales are no more than 1 per cent, the necessity of keeping watch on doubtful purchasers has added largely to overhead expenses.—[Detroit News.

"DIZZY" MET THE BEY

Wine and Brandy Put Them on Good Terms, Then Came a Blank

Ramsay MacDonald, on his forthcoming trip to Constantinople, is not likely to let himself go after the manner of Disraeli when he went yachting in the Near East ninety years ago.

"You should see me," he wrote home, "in the costume of a Greek pirate—a blood-red shirt, with silver studs as big as shillings, an immense scarf for girdle, full of pistols and daggers, red cap, red slippers, broad blue-striped jacket and trousers."

He and his friends visited an Albanian bey, who could not understand their language nor they his, but whose wine and brandy put them on good terms.

"The bey drank all the brandy," said Disraeli, "the room turned round; wild attendants who sat at our feet seemed dancing in strange and fantastic whirls. The bey shook hands with me; he shouted in English. I in Greek. 'Very good,' he had caught from us. 'Kalo, Kalo' was my rejoiner. He roared. I smacked him on the back. I remember no more."

The description suggests that the bey could not have drunk all the brandy.—[Manchester Guardian.

NOT THE EX-SECRETARY

The Duchess of Bedford, herself a bold rider to hounds, can tell a good fox-hunting story now and then. One of her favorites concerns an Irish gentleman who, visiting Leicestershire friends, was out with one of the crack packs of that famous hunting shire. His horse got out of hand when the hounds were momentarily at fault and galloped right into them. The master "spoke" to him with great fluency and fervor, to which the visitor took exception. "Sir," he remarked in dignified accents, "I am Mr. Fall—one of the Falls of Dungannon."

"I don't care a hang, sir," thundered the irate M. F. H., "if you are Falls of Niagara; I won't allow you to override my hounds."—[Exchange.

PASSOVER WEEK BEGINS TONIGHT

Commemorates Exodus of Hebrews From Egypt

Tut's Tomb Discoveries Add Interest to Occasion

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, April 17. — The Feast of the Passover will be welcomed by Jews the world over as the sun goes down this evening. While it commemorates the exodus from Egypt, some thirty-four centuries ago, it is of special import to the Jews as the annual occasion for celebrating the birth of liberty of their people. The special feature of home observance, with the festal meal, is of interest even to the Christian, for according to the New Testament, it was just this meal which was the Last Supper at which Jesus celebrated the Passover with His apostles.

Added interest is shed upon the occasion by the discoveries in Egypt of the tombs of pharaohs who lived near this time, and it is hoped that when all of the contents of the tomb of King Tut-Ankh-Amen are brought to light much may be discovered bearing upon the oppression of Israel while in Egypt, and possibly mention of the exodus as one of the stirring events of the time.

TUT SEEN IN EXODUS

At least one scholar holds that King Tut was the Pharaoh of the exodus, but most Egyptologists hold that Rameses II was the Pharaoh of the oppression and his son Mereptah the Pharaoh of the exodus. Only later archaeological discoveries will clear up these points.

The main consideration with the Jews is that at some time many centuries ago their enslaved ancestors were delivered from Egyptian bondage and led to freedom by the greatest of all emancipators, Moses. That after so many hundred years the Jews should still be mindful of their historic past, and mark the time by special celebration is evidence of the faithfulness of the oldest of all peoples to their past and their appreciation of the right to be free in the long ago. This is brought home to the children as well as their elders by special ceremonies in Jewish homes, when the story of redemption is retold and the evening is spent in feasting and praise of God for all His mercies to Israel throughout the ages.

For seven days (the orthodox observe eight) the unleavened bread (matzith) will be eaten as a memorial, and thoughtful Jews will recall the past, while even the thoughtless may be made to consider what they owe to those who fought and suffered that they might enjoy the fruits of freedom.

The story of the exodus is related in the second book of scripture, with such detail as to be convincing to all save the most skeptical. There must have been a great movement which resulted in the settlement of the Promised Land, afterward to become the Holy Land to the three great religions of the western world. The leadership of Moses is the outstanding feature of the work of emancipation, culminating in the revelation of the Ten Commandments at Sinai, together with other laws dependent upon those great ideal doctrines.

STRESS HUMILITY

At the home festival the spirit of humility and thankfulness to God is stressed, while rejoicing finds its expression in the chanting of passages from the Psalms and singing some ancient songs, which are intended to amuse and enlighten the children gathered about the table. It is a striking instance of the traditional method of passing on the message and the mission of the Jews from generation to generation, and suggests one explanation of the very practical way in which the spirit of the faith has been preserved.

The word Passover is explained in scripture as due to the "passing over" of the houses of the Israelites in Egypt by the last plague, when the first-born was stricken in every Egyptian home. In the larger sense this is applied to the deliverance of the Jews in later times from obliteration, so that they might be preserved for their mission of service to humanity, even in our own day. The symbols of the feast all tend to instruct the men, women and children partaking of it with the significance of God's mercy and aid, and their duty toward mankind. The later rituals used emphasize the duty of spreading liberty to all lands and adding in the appreciation of its glories.

In those countries where the Jew is still oppressed, he prays fervently at this feast that by the next year he may enjoy the liberty for which his soul yearns, so that he may the better serve his God and his fellow-man.

It is a great time for good-fellowship, for entertaining the homeless, and in the United States especially, for extending the hope of freedom to those not yet so blessed as are those who live beneath its banner.

As the Feast of Freedom, it is welcomed by young and old.

FIGHT ORDER SENT TO TEXTILE WORKERS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

BOSTON, April 17.—Instructions to "fight if any attempt is made to reduce wages or lengthen working hours" will be sent next week to all local unions affiliated with the United Textile Workers of America, the emergency board of the union voted at a special meeting here today. The force of this order it was understood, would be to sanction local bodies to declare strikes without waiting for the permission of the central organization.

IZZIE AND MOE RAID WET CAFE

Pose as Silk Merchants and on Noon-Hour Visit Seize $25,000 Liquors

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, April 17.—A noon-hour raid on the Silk Exchange Restaurant 432 Fourth avenue, by Izzie Einstein and Moe Smith of the local prohibition forces netted $25,000 worth of choice liquors, including Italian wines, champagne, Scotch whisky, Baccardi rum and rye whiskey. The liquors were found on the roof of the seventeen-story building, but ownership was admitted by Anthony Melo, 1201 Lenox avenue, owner of the restaurant, which is located on the ground floor of the building, according to the agents. Melo was arrested.

The restaurant was filled with silk men of the district when Izzie and Moe entered. Although Einstein says he visited the restaurant last Thursday and avoided recognition by posing as a silk man and purchasing liquor, he was recognized when he entered with his partner.

"Here comes the man with a thousand disguises," cried a diner.

In the restaurant itself no liquor was found but the agents went to the roof where they say they uncovered the vast amount of it.

Clogged Traffic, Charge Against Bulky Taxi Man

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, April 17.—The heaviest taxi driver in New York was discovered in the traffic court yesterday when David Katz, 23 years of age, appeared to answer a charge of obstructing traffic.

Katz, who weighs 457 pounds, and is more than six feet tall, came to court in answer to a summons.

Magistrate House, after surveying Katz's huge bulk for a moment, turned to Policeman Jordan with a twinkle in his eye.

"Was he personally obstructing traffic?" he asked.

Jordan explained that it was the taxi that was obstructing traffic, and that Katz had left his cab standing at the curb.

Katz admitted the charge and was fined $15. In answer to the magistrate's questions, Katz said he drove a specially constructed cab with an extra-large driver's seat and re-enforced framework.

Many Thousand Fish to Be Made Into Great Soup

MORGAN CITY (Iowa) April 17.—Twenty-five thousand trout, bass and perch, to be served in one vast boneless court bouillon and prepared by J. A. (Turtle-soup) Guedry, the Teche country's most famous cook, is planned for consumption here on national Firemen's day, May 7, according to Judge Sam Blum, chairman of the executive committee. Five thousand eggs are among the other accessories to be used in the court bouillon.

One hundred and fifty gallons of coffee will be served at the feast, which is to be given on the City Hall plaza.

More than 250 fishermen volunteered to deliver the fish the day before the big event.

CURB IS PLACED ON GERMAN MILITARY

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PARIS, April 17.—French anxiety at alarming reports reaching Paris regarding German military activities was indicated further yesterday by the issuance of a strict decree by the Interallied High Commission forbidding "all military preparations" in the Ruhr and Rhineland territory, even in unoccupied zones, under penalty of the severest punishment.

The decree forbids any German citizen to participate in military exercises of any sort, either theoretical or practical. An inhabitant of occupied territory enlisting in the reichswehr is thereby barred from returning to occupied regions without written authority from the High Commission. The new measure is aimed at the various gymnastic, athletic and social clubs wherein the Allies say German youths are formed into a secretly armed force to become a part of the new German army.

VET WILLS WOODEN LEG TO MELLON

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WESTERFIELD (N. J.) April 17.—When S. Harry Smith of Westfield dies, the wooden leg given to him by the government for the loss of his leg at St. Mihiel on September 18, 1918, will be sent to Secretary Mellon. That strange request was revealed yesterday when the contents of the war veteran's will were made public. Smith resented the recent action of the government in reducing his compensation.

Gasoline Fumes Cause of Cancer, Says Physician

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

BUFFALO (N. Y.) April 17.—Constant exposure to gasoline fumes is one of the apparent causes of cancer, Dr. Frederick L. Hoffman of Newark, N. J., told the American Association for Cancer Research, in convention here today. Dr. Hoffman mentioned overeating in general, overconsumption of meat and sugar and excessive smoking as other probable causes.

"San Francisco," he said, "has the highest cancer death rate in the world, with 500 deaths reported in the past five years."

CHURCH PEACE PAPER SUPPRESSION SOUGHT

SAN FRANCISCO METHODIST ENTERS COURT IN MOVE AGAINST BOOKLET

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN FRANCISCO, April 17.—The suppression of a pamphlet issued by the Methodist book concern of Cincinnati, suggesting that the United States become guarantor of world disarmament and peace, was petitioned for in the Superior Court yesterday on the ground that it bespeaks an "un-Christian attitude" for this nation. The petitioner is John G. Vogel, for twenty-five years a member of the Methodist Church here. Bishop Edgar Blake, an American stationed in Paris, wrote the pamphlet.

The book concern was given the usual ten-day period to file an answer.

According to Vogel, the pamphlet, which advocates a world conference, the cancellation of the inter-Allied debts, but the payment of German reparations, is in violation of Section 23 of the articles of religion of the Methodist Episcopal Church "whereup the church advocates that the United tates are a sovereign and independent nation and ought not to be subject to any foreign jurisdiction."

History-Making Achievements

Tomorrow, April 19th, is Lexington-Concord day. It is a date in American history that every red-blooded youngster and every liberty-loving citizen should remember.

On that date all New England will pay respectful homage to the patriots who stood and fell at the battles of Lexington and Concord. For those engagements mark the real beginning of the struggle for American independence.

Thousands of persons annually visit the village of Lexington, to stand on the green or common of this village where the first armed conflict of the American War of Independence occurred. On the green stands a monument erected to the memory of the Minutemen who fell in that engagement.

Only one place west of Boston will celebrate this great Patriot's day, April 19th. Little journeys into colonial days, reviewing the spirit of Lexington and Concord, will be featured at one place in Los Angeles, Figueroa at 16th.

NOTE: This entertaining story of historic facts will be continued tomorrow, under the heading "Today is Lexington-Concord Day."

WALES MISSES BOAT FOR JAZZ

Heir Stages Surprise Party on Montmartre

Accompanies Chicagoans to Kiley's Cabaret

Negroes Play Heads Off for Stepping Prince

BY HENRY WALES
[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PARIS, April 17.—The Prince of Wales has become a confirmed jazz addict.

After midnight tonight, when fashionable Paris thought the Prince was en route to London, the heir to the British throne staged a surprise party, visiting an American dance cabaret in Montmartre owned by "Jed" Gerald Kiely, well-known Chicago athlete and former University of Michigan foot ball star, for the third successive night during his three-day stay in Paris.

The Prince arrived at Kiley's with Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Bate, prominent in the American colony. Bate is attached to the American delegation of unofficial observers to the Reparations Commission and is also a Chicagoan.

PLACE FORLORN

When the Prince arrived Kiley was mournfully surveying an empty establishment following a free-for-all argument and fight yesterday morning when the waiters threatened to strike. Kiley fired all the employees in the place except a lone faithful bartender.

The Prince stepped out on the dance floor immediately and kept doing fancy steps for twenty-five minutes straight without rest while a band of American negro jazz artists played their heads off. The Prince requested several favorite numbers including "Some Sunny Day," and "You Gotta See Mamma Every Night, If You Want to See Mamma At All."

ATTRACTS CROWD

Word of the Prince's unexpected arrival spread like wildfire throughout Montmartre and a huge crowd soon packed the place.

The Prince has started to grow a tiny mustache.

Mrs. Bate and her husband have been almost constant companions of the Prince during his three-day visit to Paris, she was Miss Vera Arkwright, daughter of the late Capt. E. W. Arkwright of the Coldstream Guards.

Putting through the deal for our lot and arranging the details of my fight with Gunner Slade certainly keeps me from yawning myself to death and that's a fact. Then one day I'm passing the Dempster & Co. carpet factory and I get the shock of my young life when I see Rags coming out of his father's office. As his old man had chased him out of town I was naturally the bit surprised to see him back in Drew City again.

"Hello, Galen," he calls out, like we was old pals. "How's Judy?"

I don't give him a tumble, but just keep on walking, though him merely mentioning Judy gets me red-headed. Still, Rags is determined to get a rise out of me, I guess he figured he was pretty safe on the main street in broad daylight, with pedestrians conspicuous by their presence. So he stands on the steps of the office and sneers.

"Afraid to answer, eh? That's right, you'd better keep your place. We'll see whether or not this town will stand for a drunken pugilist running a theater here!"

Wam—I'm fit to be tied! I suppose I should of smacked him down then and there and be done with it, but you want to remember that fighting is my business and it ain't Rags's by no means. In other words, I can step and he can't so to my mind clouting him would be about as brave a stunt for me as removing a lolly-pop from a young infant. But I can't get over him being back in Drew City and I'm bothered about him knowing I'm going to open this theater, so I walk away, wondering how in the Kansas City did he ever find that out? A few days later I got the dope on that part of it and it hit me like a smack on the chin!

During the week I hear that Rags's old man has gave him another chance and took him back to work in the office of his carpet factory. Immediately his old gang forgives and forgets, too, because you know yourself a million dollars will get attention anywheres no matter where you roam and a million is what Rags's father is supposed to have. I seen Rag a couple of times more and once he actually tries to make "friends" with me. You know what I told him. I told Judy up and her eighteen or twenty-seven times, but I'm glad to state that Rags could of got the wrong number as far as he was concerned.

Well, with Rags bounding around in Drew City I know it won't be long before he'll start after my scalp again—and it wasn't long. His first number was to ruin me at the Drew City Country Club, where I had the chance of a lifetime to step out with the class of the town, assisted by Spence Brock. That's a thing I was crazy to do, as the farther away I could get from the atmosphere of the prize ring when I wasn't actually in it and the higher I could climb on the social ladder in Drew City, the more chance I had of rubbing off the rough edges which I knew would have to be rubbed off if I was going to get anywheres. Anyways, Spence had been after me for a long while to come out to the country club with him and try my hand at this golf thing. I'd been putting the event off, because I always thought that in order to properly appreciate the mysteries of cross-country billiards you had to be sixty, a bank president, bald-headed, fat, and a little bit goofy.

However, I would do anything for Spence, so one day we gaily set forth for the courts, or links, or gridiron, or whatever it is you smack them little white pills around on. When we get out to the country club right off the reel we run into Rags. He's out on what you call the first tee, practicing shots. The minute he sees me, he ties in.

"What's the big idea?" he says to Spence, pointing to me with his club like I'm something the cat dragged in. I commence to get steamed myself.

"The idea is that Galen and myself are about to play a round of golf," says Spence coldly. "Any objections?"

Rags gives a whinny of rage. "I should say I have an objection!" he snaps, his piggy little eyes glaring at me, though he speaks to Spence. "I shall see that the house committee is immediately notified of this fellow's presence here. This is a gentleman's club, not a training camp for prize fighters!"

Before Spence can play a card, I climbed into the breech.

"Be yourself, you false alarm!" I says, stepping over to Rags, and returning his glare with usurious interest. "Just because I been letting you push me around all this time without giving you a smacking, don't get the idea that things is going on this way forever. Some day I will take a wallop at you and everything I owe you for all "ou've ever did to me will be in that one punch!"

"And—eh—he's light-heavyweight champion, Rags," remarked Spence with a grin.

Well, me and Spence ties into this golf. Spence puts his ball on the tea, takes a couple of practice swings, and then—blam! He hits what would of been at least one home run in any ball park in the world. I'm up next. I don't want to show off or nothing like that, but as I step up to the tea I can't help thinking to myself that what I'll do to this little sock-marked apple will be murderous. I took aim at a tree about a mile away, set myself, and—foozey. I don't even get a foul! Once again I try my luck and miss from here to Madrid. Spence laughs. Different here! Well, to make a long game short, on the eighth swing I finally connected with everything I got and the ball rolled about four feet from the tea. Then I got interested.

A half hour later I am playing this game like not only my life, but the future of the world depended on each stroke. And, listen—golf is considerable pastime, don't think it ain't. Anybody which calls it a old man's game is dizzy! It's a wow of a sport and wonderful as a training stunt for a boxer. Besides great exercise, if you put your heart and soul in it you'll get back cool-headedness, patience, steady nerves and determination just what you need to get to the top in the fight game—or in any game, for that matter!

When we come to what they call the fourth hole, I have run up the praiseworthy score of twenty-five strokes for the first three, while the best Spence can do is fourteen strokes and he's been playing the games for years. However, I'm first to bat at cavity number four and by dumb luck I cracked the pill on the nose with my first swing. As I look up to see have I hit safe or not, I notice Rags down near the flag watching me. I ain't bothered about Rags, though, I'm thinking what a swell time I'm going to have capering around this course every day, mixing with the blue-bloods of Drew City and calling millionaires by nicknames. I'm even going to buy the golfing uniand some caddies to put the tea form and a container full of clubs in. Oh, I'm in right, what I mean, when out of the clear sky Rags winds up my happy little dream.

The ball I hit sails through the air at a bad angle and heads for the State road, which runs past the course. There's a swell limousine buzzing along the road and me and Spence holds our breath for fear my ball will hit it. Rags is watching it, too. But my ball drops in a bunker hill this side of the road and I'm just letting go a sigh of honest relief when I see Rags stoop down, pick something up off the ground at his feet and pitch it at that limousine, breaking one of the windows! Then he takes it on the run as the car grinds to a stop.

I come running up to the road for my ball with my club in my hand and I'm looking for the pellet when the bozo from the limousine reaches me. He's fat and bald-headed and his face is as red as a throwing tomato. Honest, he's so mad he ain't fit to be at large! He's got a golf ball in his hand and he holds it up, waving it at the broken window of his limousine. The next point of interest he shows me with his quivering finger is a lump as big as Manhattan on the side of his noble forehead. I bet if he'd had a gun he'd of cooked me sure!

This is a situation which calls for some fast and spellbinding talking, yes what mind I got with me is occupied in realizing what Rags has just did and awarding him the china sledge hammer for brain work. This baby seen me hit that ball off the course and he immediately hurls his own ball through the limousine window, thus making it look like I drove it through! And now here I am with my club in my hand looking for the ball and nobody else in sight. Rags has gone away from there and Spence is far back at the tea, not knowing what it's all about.

Well, I'd have to be more of a dumbbell than I am not to see at a glance that the real story of this accident would sound so silly to the enraged victim that he'd probably take my club away from me and brain me! I wouldn't even believe my own story myself. I'm covered from head to foot with circumstantial evidence and that's all there is to it. So without mentioning Rags at all I merely commence to stutter an apology, when the old jazzbo shuts me off kind of angrily. Then comes the tough-est blow of all. This guy is chairman of the house committee, and when he finds out I ain't even a member of the country club he rules me off his golf court for life. In fact, he says if he ever catches me scampering around the greens again he'll have me hung for trespassing!

I think if I had come across Rags when me and Spence is wending our ways home from the country club that day I would of made him the plot of a coroner's inquest and that's a fact! I even took a long cut home so's not to turn into him, as a murder wouldn't fit into my program right then by no means. But after I have talked to Nate Shapiro that night I wanted to go out looking for Rags and I ain't even got one qualm left about manslaughter.

BARONS UNITED BY OIL STRIKE

Doheny and Cowdray Will Fight Mexico Union

Radical Workers Virtually Would Rule Companies

Obregon Forced to Step in to Guard Property

BY JACK STARR-HUNT
[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

MEXICO CITY, April 17.—The desperate stand by the labor element at Tampico, on strike against the British El Aguila Oil Company, to extend their power to American and Dutch companies, has served to unite E. L. Doheny and Lord Cowdray, leading American and British oil barons, respectively, in a common fight against the strikers. Rivals in the Mexican oil business for years, these two outstanding figures now are standing shoulder to shoulder for a fight to the finish against the radical element.

For the past week, Alfred Jacobson, managing director of the Aguila company, a strikers' committee and Gen. Perez Trevino, Minister of Commerce, Industry and Labor, have conducted daily conferences in an effort to arrive at an agreement. Gen. Trevino is acting as arbiter in the negotiations, which have been postponed until after Easter.

The deadlock between the company and the strikers was tightened yesterday by the insistence by the strikers that a representative of the Mexican Regional Confederation of Labor be admitted to the conference. Both Jacobson and H. V. K. Thompson, manager of the Mexican Gulf Company, refused to accede to this demand. Thompson is the official representative of the Mexicon Oil Producers' Association, composed of leading American, British and Dutch companies operating in Mexico. The association is in complete accord with the British company's stand, according to Jacobson.

American companies behind the British interests are the Doheny Huasteca Petroleum Company, Sinclair companies, the Transcontinental Petroleum Company, the Dutch Lacorona Company, the International Petroleum Company and others.

Jacobson declared the American companies have promised "complete moral and material backing." He stated that oil was being lent the British company to fulfill its commitments and that the association has informed the Mexican government that demands workers have laid down are impossible. The Mexican government has been told that the workers' demands would mean a virtual interference with the management of the companies.

The chief demands of the strikers are that unions be admitted to take part in all questions where employees are to be discharged, employed or promoted and that the companies employ no man outside of the union.

The strike started March 22, last, when workers, most of them armed, according to Jacobson, took over the 20,000-barrel refinery of the company near Tampico and the 5,000,000-barrel tank farms and dock plant. He declared the strikers refused to allow department heads or officials of the company to enter the property. On the 2nd inst., President Obregon ordered the military garrison at Tampico out to protect the oil company. In spite of troops, the pickets put out by the strikers, it is said, have prevented normal production.

Jacobson and Thompson will attend no further conferences with Gen. Trevino until instructions are received from New York offices of the association giving a decision as to whether a representative of the union will be permitted to sit at the conference.

The rumor that Jacobson has been the object of an attempted expulsion from Mexico was denied by him yesterday. He is a Danish subject.

MORE PLANS TO AID FLYERS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

DUTCH HARBOR (Alaska) April 17.—With elaborate preparations already made additional plans to facilitate the passage of an American Army squadron around the world were being pressed at Dutch Harbor (Unalaska) tonight.

Snow was falling here, but reports received from Chignik, 400 miles eastward and the last stop of the expedition on the American continent, had indicated that three of the four planes engaged in the adventure would fly to Unalaska today.

THREE AT CHIGNIK

The word from Chignik was that Lieut. Lowell H. Smith, Lieut. Erik Nelson and Lieut. Leigh Wade, the flyers who reached that point while their commander, Maj. Frederick L. Martin was stopped at Kanatak, 125 miles further back on the route by a leak in his crankcase, were "getting hard-boiled on Alaska weather."

Twice these three aviators had made a day's stage with an Alaska tempest rocking their machines and pounding hard Alaska snow into their eyes.

Here has been the last land station for electrical communication on the route of the flyers until they shall have reached Japan. Communication between here and the Kurile Island, Japan, 1758 miles further on, was to have been maintained by the cutters Haida and Algonquin, of the United States Coast Guard, which arrived in Dutch Harbor yesterday.

EMERGENCY STATION

But Lieut. Clayton Bissell, advance officer for the flight, announced today that he would place an emergency station on Atka Island, 350 miles beyond here and the next scheduled stop at once.

Lieut. Bissell, returning from the west, reported that buoys for anchoring the planes were all ready at Atku and at Attu Island, 530 miles beyond Atka.

In maintaining communications and in otherwise aiding the flyers the Algonquin and the Haida are to be assisted by the Elder, a small boat of the United States fisheries service. Every effort is being made, Lieut. Bissell disclosed, to make sure that whatever happens there shall be no loss of life.

Arrangements here provided that when the planes alighted in Unalaska Bay they should be towed by small craft to an anchorage. Aboard the Haida was Maj Blair, a weather expert of the government.

Meat-Wrapping Order Incenses Paris Butchers

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PARIS, April 17.—Paris butchers are up in arms over new orders from municipal authorities prohibiting the wrapping up of meat in old newspapers, and insisting henceforth, on the use of only clean white paper.

"What's all this new fangled hygienic business coming to?" asked one of the principal wholesale butchers. "At first yo didn't wrap up meat at all, and it didn't do any body any harm." Now we are wrapping it up in newspapers after the boys get through reading what's inside. Still they are not satisfied."

Certain "reformers" are insisting that bakers be required to wrap bread in paper henceforth, but it is not expected that such a demand will be taken seriously.

Used the Plural

A Scottish minister had contracted a habit which annoyed his wife. He would refer to "my" house, "my" table, "my" piano, "my" boy, "my" room.

His wife took him to task with some severity, and pointed out that the use of the singular possessive was derogatory to her, and that he should say "our." He was duly attentive.

One morning the minister rose early and began to dress. Apparently he was unable to find something.

"What are you looking for, John?" asked his wife.

"I'm looking for our trousers, my dear," he said, meekly.—[Exchange.

La Huelga Hace que los "Barones" Petroleros se Unan

CIUDAD DE MEJICO, Abril 17. La radical actitud que han asumido los trabajadores de Tampico que se han declarado en huelga contra la compañía británica petrolera "El Aguila", actitud que ya amenaza a las compañías americanas y holandesas, ha servido para que se unan E. L. Doheny y Lord Cowdray, que son los más importantes "barones" del petróleo americano e inglés, respectivamente, para presentar un frente común de batalla contra los huelguistas. Con todo y haber sido rivales desde hace años en los negocios petroleros de Méjico, estas dos conocidas personalidades están ahora hombro con hombro y se preparan para una guerra sin cuartel contra el elemento radical.

Durante la semana pasada, Alfred Jacobson, director gerente de la compañía del Aguila, un comité de los huelguistas, y el General Pérez Treviño, Ministro de Comercio, Industria y Trabajo, han celebrado conferencias diarias, y tratado de llegar a alguna solución. El General Treviño actúa de árbitro en estas negociaciones, que han sido aplazadas para después de Pascua.

El punto muerto a que han llegado las discusiones entre la compañía y los huelguistas se hizo más sensible ayer, porque los huelguistas insistieron en que fuera admitido en la conferencia un representante de la Confederación de Obreros Regionales Mejicanos. Tanto Jacobson como H. V. K. Thompson, gerente de la compañía Mejicana del Golfo, se negaron a acceder a esta demanda. Thompson es el representante oficial de la Asociación Mejicana de Productores de Petróleo, que se compone de las principales compañías holandesas, inglesas y americanas que trabajan en Méjico. Dice Jacobson que la citada Asociación está enteramente de acuerdo con la actitud de la compania inglesa.

Las compañías americanas que apoyan a los capitalistas británicos son, la Compañía Petrolera de la Huasteca, de Doheny, las compañías de Sinclair, la Compañía Petrolera Transcontinental, la Compañía Holandesa de La Corona, la Compañía Petrolera Internacional, y otras.

Se Suspende Repentinamente el Proceso del Dr. Schley

El jurado del Dr. W. C. Schley, prominente médico de Pasadena, procesado por homicidio, tuvo que interrumpirse ayer ex-abrupto, cuando se supo que Charles B. Walker, principal testigo de cargo, había desaparecido.

Temen las autoridades que el señor Walker, hombre de 65 años, haya sido asesinado y robado. Sábese que hace unas cuantas semanas cobró $4500 de una compañía de seguros por la muerte de su esposa, Ida Elizabeth Walker, que se mató el 3 de Enero último en Pasadena, al chocar el coche en que viajaban ella y su marido, contra el auto que guiaba el doctor Schley.

El jurado del citado facultativo había comenzado en una de las salas del Juzgado Superior; los miembros del jurado habían sido ya designados, y el Juez Hahn se preparaba para tomar el juramento del señor Walker, cuando le fue comunicada la ausencia de éste al Fiscal Ostrom.

Muchos otros testigos fueron interrogados, y sus declaraciones indican que tienen sospechas de que el señor Walker haya sido víctima de un atentado. Se ha comenzado a hacer pesquisas para dar con el señor Walker, y el Juez Hahn aplazó las audiencias para hoy.

Dos de los testigos dijeron ayer al señor Ostrom que sabían de modo cierto que Walker había cobrado $4500 de seguro hace algunas semanas, y expresaron la creencia de que este señor haya caído en manos de bandidos que lo tienen preso, o haya sido muerto y robado.

VILLAGE PRINCE GETS JAIL TERM

NEW YORK, April 17.—Childe de Rohan d'Harcourt, a prince of France, Duke of Austria, viscount of Italy and marquis of Montenegro by his own confession, and a Greenwich Village artist by general repute, was sentenced to six months in the Workhouse on being found guilty of disorderly conduct. The charge was filed by his wife, formerly Miss Esther Tuers Tomkins of 149 Sixth avenue.

The "count of no account," as his cellmates in Jefferson Market Court greeted him, waited at his wife's home on the evening of March 12, she testified, and as she returned, accompanied by a friend, he set upon her and "brutally beat her." In court he denied this, saying, "I love my love and she loves me; I only tried to keep her from committing suicide."

The more the "count" talked the worse the impression he made on Magistrate Levine. The court was for a time considering a charge of felonious assault to be entered against the prisoner, but showed leniency.

Childe d'Harcourt, whether a nobleman or not, looked the part in court.

He wore a pin-striped brown suit, a soft blue broadcloth shirt, highly polished shoes with spats and an upturned mustache with an angle of ninety degrees at the extreme edges. His cane and pearl gray hat were in the modes.

He winced, however, as the police produced records showing that in 1914 he was sent to Elmira Reformatory for grand larceny, in 1917 to Sing Sing for attempted burglary, and in 1918 was arrested for a forgotten reason.

On August 1 of last year he broke into print, when, taking up a pose in front of his home at 44 Fifth avenue, he burned a number of his best oil paintings to show his disgust at the commercialism of art.

Mrs. d'Harcourt, who, as a result of this incident, left her husband, is the daughter of the owners of Tomkins Cove, a quarry near Peekskill. She said it was about 10 a.m. when her husband accosted her as she was returning home with an old friend, a Mr. Matthews.

Her husband asserted it was well past midnight and he "heard noises" which did not suit him.

Simply Strategy

Jinks was called away from his office for the greater part of the week. On his return he noticed certain symptoms of idleness on the part of his clerk.

"Smithers," he asked, "why hasn't that typewriter been working?"

"It has been working," replied the clerk. "I was using it less than ten minutes ago."

"Then," said Jones, pointing a convincing finger, "how comes it that there is a spider on the machine and that it has woven a web over the keyboard?"

"A fly got in the works, sir," replied the clerk, "and rather than waste time in trying to catch it I introduced the spider.—[Pittsburg Chronicle Telegraph.

Romance Started at Bedside of Former Wife

Woman's Husband-to-Be Is Bible Teacher

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BOSTON, April 17.—Romance and Charles C. Wilmarth, 73-year-old retired jewelry manufacturer, have thrilled Attleboro.

Wilmarth, Sunday-school teacher, possessor of a half-million-dollar fortune, owner of two automobiles, and a mansion, will marry Miss Beatrice E. Whalley, 28 years of age, Attleboro nurse.

The marriage will take place in the Murray Universalist Church, where the manufacturer has taught Sunday-school for many years.

It will mark the climax of a romance begun following Miss Whalley's attendance at the deathbed of Wilmarth's first wife, in the fall of 1922.

Marriage intentions were taken out and plans were laid for a wedding with no publicity.

Miss Whalley came to Attleboro three years ago from Central Falls, R. I., to continue her training as a nurse in the Sturdy Memorial Hospital.

In November, 1922, she was called to the Wilmarth mansion, Attleboro, to attend Mrs. Wilmarth, first wife of the manufacturer. Mrs. Wilmarth died November 27, 1922, only a few days before her golden wedding anniversary was to have been celebrated.

NEWS OF SOUTHERN COUNTIES

COURT TO ACT ON DAM SITES

San Diego Starts Move for Condemnation

Fletcher Interests Do Arming Workers

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN DIEGO, April 17.—The dispute between city officials and the Fletcher interests over possession of the El Capitan and Mission Gorge dam sites will be settled through the usual legal channels, and there is no possibility of any "gun play" in determining who's who. This was emphasized today when both sides said they would await the court's decision in condemnation proceedings brought by the city to obtain possession of the sites.

Ed Fletcher, president of the Cuyamaca Water Company, denied that any of his employees at the dam sites have been armed. In a statement yesterday he threatened to use armed guards, if necessary, to keep city employees off the disputed premises. This threat aroused the City Council, which forthwith instructed the City Attorney to start condemnation proceedings in an effort to terminate the long-drawn-out fight between the Cuyamaca company and the city over rights at El Capitan and Mission Gorge.

The court is asked to set a price on both properties, where the city contemplates the building of dams for storage reservoirs.

CANTALOUPE SURVEY POINTS TO GOOD CROP

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

EL CENTRO, April 17.—Recent surveys of the cantaloupe plantings this year indicate that the Brawley district is still in the lead, with a total of 8799 acres. The El Centro district has 6853 acres, Heber 4780 acres and Westmorland 4416 acres. The total acreage shown by the survey made by distributors is 27,316, or an increase of nearly 40 per cent over last season. The total cantaloupe shipments last year reached more than 14,000 carloads. The shipments this year are expected to exceed 16,000 carloads. The condition of the vines is declared good. The American Fruit Growers' Corporation has the largest acreage, with 2915 acres planted. S. A. Gerrard is second with 1619 acres and John Amicon has 1200 acres.

FIGHT EXPECTED IN BAIL RECOVERY SUIT

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

OXNARD, April 17.—Fireworks are expected in the case which comes up tomorrow in Superior Court at Ventura in which E. H. Mercer, prominent Oxnard druggist, is suing I. W. McGlinchey, former Sheriff of Ventura county, and W. E. Shepperd, former justice of the peace at Ventura, for the recovery of $500 paid into the Sheriff's office as bond money. It was said that Robert Robertson, former undersheriff of this county, handled the deal, but in a deposition obtained from Robertson, who is now in San Quentin penitentiary, he claims he knew nothing about the transaction. He was undersheriff under McGlinchey. It was thought he would be able to tell where the money went. Records of the Bank of Italy will be brought into court in an effort to learn where the money went.

ZOOLOGISTS ORGANIZED NATIONALLY

Dr. Wegeforth Elected President at Meeting in San Diego

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN DIEGO, April 17.—Dr. Harry M. Wegeforth, president of the San Diego Zoological Society, has been chosen president of the newly organized National Association of Zoological Executives, a body which is expected to include in its memberships the leading men of the country interested in zoology.

The idea of a national organization was conceived by Dr. Wegeforth and assisting him in his efforts are George P. Vierheller of St. Louis, who is secretary-treasurer; Percy Warner of Nashville, Tenn., who is vice-president, and Fred Pape and Frank Schwartz, both of St. Louis. Vierheller, Warner, Schwartz and Pape attended the initial meeting here yesterday and will remain in the city for several days to perfect the new organization.

Approval of such an organization was received in advance of the meeting from many zoo officials of the country. Special advantages are anticipated in the instituting of a clearing house for ideas for construction of quarters for animals, conduct of zoological gardens and providing an exchange of surplus specimens among zoos. Establishment and maintenance of zoos in smaller cities will be encouraged.

HUNTINGTON PARK TO HAVE NEW BUS LINE

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

HUNTINGTON PARK, April 17. Bus service is to be installed by the Los Angeles Street Railway Company in this city within the next few days, F. Van Vranken, of the company, making this announcement before the City Board of Trustees. The busses will operate between the Santa Fe avenue terminus of the street-car line as far as Florence avenue, a distance of eight or nine long blocks on Santa Fe avenue. They will improve the transportation service for the residents, living along South Santa Fe and also those west and south of Santa Fe. This avenue has recently been paved and bus service was promised as soon as possible after the paving was completed.

The officers are convinced that practically all local Republican votes at the primaries will be Coolidge votes.

YOUTH HIT BY AUTO ASKS HUGE DAMAGES

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

VENTURA, April 17.—John A. Walker, wealthy Saticoy rancher, was made defendant yesterday in a damage suit for $50,790.50 filed by Orville D. Taylor, 19 years of age, of Santa Paula, who is asserted to have been run down by Walker's automobile and seriously injure at Santa Paula on December 23, 1923. The complaint charges that Walker was driving recklessly through the business district of Santa Paula when his car hit Taylor, breaking the latter's leg in such a manner as to cause permanent disability.

DEATH WIRE FAKE EXPOSED

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, April 17.—Mrs. Etta Brock, 64-year-old Long Beach woman, around whom a cloud of mystery was wrapped with the receipt here of a telegram telling of her death, is alive and is employed as a cook by Dr. L. F. Herrick, at Oakland, it was revealed here today. The woman has been identified by Oakland police as the missing Long Beach woman, according to advices reaching local police this afternoon.

Mrs. Brock, known here by her friends as deeply religious and eccentric, left this city for Oakland about the 1st inst. On the 9th inst., Mrs. L. J. Larson, a local friend of Mrs. Brock, received a telegram saying that Mrs. Brock had died at Oakland that afternoon. The telegram was signed "Mrs. Webster."

Investigation, launched by Attorney Roy Lewis of Long Beach revealed that Mrs. Brock sent the telegram to her friend with the apparent intention of disappearing from sight. She was traced through the telegraph office in Oakland, local police said.

That the woman, declared in the first reports to be wealthy, is anything but well to do, was indicated here today by friends, who declared that she owns a small equity in two lots in Compton and a few household articles. Recently she made a will bequeathing all her property to the Ladies' Relief Society of the Latter Day Saints Church here, it was revealed yesterday.

'THOU SHALT NOT' PEEVES LEGION MEN

Pomona Pastors Fight Post's Plan to Pay for Statue With Bouts

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

POMONA, April 17.—Controversy which will not be settled until next week's meeting of the City Council began yesterday in Council chambers when G. Alvin Goodell and Allen G. Mitchell, representing the Charles P. Rowe Post of the American Legion, presented a petition signed by 326 business men and others asking that the Legion be granted permission to stage boxing bouts in the Greek Theater at Ganesha Park to raise funds for the Boy Scout band and for a donation toward the memorial statue fund, of which $6000 is reported still unpaid.

Opposing the Legion's plans were letters from the W.C.T.U., United Brotherhood, Calvary Baptist Church and Nazarene Sunday-school.

Quite a stir was caused when Mr. Goodell challenged the pastors to raise the debt on the statue fund by collecting a dollar each from members of their churches, whom the pastors declared would back their protests to a man. Allen G. Mitchell also scored heavily when he made the following statement: "This thing of the ministerial union rising up and saying 'Thou Shalt Not' doesn't appeal to such men as those who constitute the membership of the American Legion. We want a square deal in this matter and none of that attitude, 'Thou Shalt Not.'"

Council laid the matter over for one week.

WOMAN, HIT BY AUTO, IN CRITICAL CONDITION

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

SAWTELLE, April 17.—The condition of Mrs. Annie Jewett, 2525 One Hundred and Fifth avenue, injured when she was struck by an automobile driven by Mrs. Grace Brown, 625 South Flower street, Los Angeles, is critical, according to information given out at Loanshier Hospital this morning. The woman, who is 69 years of age, is said to be suffering from a fractured skull and severe scalp lacerations.

BOTH FEET INJURED

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, April 17.—Frank Wagner, an electrician, is at St. Mary's Hospital with the bones in both feet broken, the result of a fall from a large electric sign on a clothing store to a roof below. Firemen with ladders rescued him from the roof after the accident.

Wagner was engaged in repairing the electric sign when he lost his footing and fell a distance of twenty feet.

VENICE TO GET NEW FILM PLAY THEATER

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

VENICE, April 17.—A new motion-picture theater is to be erected here on Ocean Front between Windward avenue and Market street, it was announced today by Herman J. Brown, veteran theater manager. The theater will cost approximately $75,000. Architects' plans for the theater are being prepared by L. J. Wollette and construction work will seart in a short time.

TYPHOID UNDER CONTROL

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

ORANGE, April 17.—After having reached a total of forty-one positive cases, the typhoid epidemic which hit Orange several weeks ago was definitely under control today, according to Miss Agnes Renneke, Los Angeles health nurse, who declared that no cases had been reported in the past ten days.

POKER WINNER IS KIDNAPED

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

POMONA, April 17.—Kidnaped, bound hand and foot, threatened with revolvers, Bill Askew, 514 East Eighth street, this city, was taken to a lonely cabin in San Antonio Canyon late last night by two men not yet completely identified and there forced by his captors and two others to sign an asserted confession and a check, as a result of a poker game for high stakes in which Askew was the winner, he told Justice of the Peace White today.

Warrants for the arrest of the four were issued at once by Judge White and Constable Chambers was sent to make the arrests. The search for the quartet was made in San Antonio Canyon and the foothill region. The warrants are for R. E. Scott, C. J. Scott, another Scott whose first name is not determined, and another man believed to be a brother-in-law of the three.

Askew was done no bodily harm except that he was kept uncomfortably bound with ropes for several hours before he was released. While held at the cabin, according to statements made to Judge White, he was threatened with revolvers and made to sign what purported to be a confession, implicating himself and Ben "Lefty" McMorran of Pomona in a poker game said to have been held in Askew's house Tuesday night.

The "confession" which Askew is said to have been forced to sign states that he and McMorran won $320 from C. J. Scott while the latter was intoxicated. This the two denied today, intimating that Scott was merely a "poor loser."

WEIGH SCHOOL TOTS BEFORE GIVING MILK

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

ANAHEIM, April 17.—Weighing of 1800 children in the grammar schools of the city was underway today in preparation for the serving of milk to the school children each day beginning next week. All grammar school children of the city have been enabled to have a pint of milk each day through a fund contributed by the civic organizations of the city, but the serving of this milk was discontinued three weeks ago when the typhoid epidemic, which was raging in the county, threatened to spread to Anaheim. The disease has been practically stamped out, however, in county towns, and Anaheim physicians have advised that the pasteurized milk served the school children is safe for use.

RIVERSIDE MINISTER ELECTED MODERATOR

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

SANTA ANA, April 17.—Rev. W. M. Jackson of Riverside was elected moderator of the Southern California presbytery of the Presbyterian church at the annual conference here today. Other officers elected were Rev. Helbert Esby, Beaumont, clerk; George C. Hill, Los Angeles, financial agent; W. W. Hoy, Santa Ana, treasurer of New World Movement fund; Rev. W. E. Hannah, Whittier, superintendent of missions; Rev. J. H. Vorheis, Los Angeles, superintendent of young people's work; Rev. J. O. McConnell, Culver City, superintendent of Bible schools. More than fifty clergy and lay delegates attended.

Orange County Pioneer Taken in Long Illness

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

REDLANDS, April 17.—John Wheaton, 84 years of age, pioneer of San Bernardino Valley, died at the home of his son, Charles Wheaton, 424 Sylvan Boulevard this morning after an illness of about twenty months.

Mr. Wheaton came to San Bernardino in 1850 with his parents when he was 10 years of age. He lived there until he was a young man and then moved to Orange county. In those days Anaheim Landing was an important place, Santa Ana just a village and Los Angeles not much more than a village.

Mr. Wheaton is survived by five sons, Allen Wheaton, president of the Chamber of Commerce and City Trustee of Redlands; John Wheaton and Charles Wheaton of this city; Ernest Wheaton of Anaheim, and George Wheaton of

WILL SEEK FRANCHISE FOR STEAMER DOCKS

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, April 17.—Application for a ten-year franchise for suitable dock space and wharfage at the municipal piers in Long Beach harbor will be presented to the City Council by the Wilmington Transportation Company, operators of the Catalina Island steamers, within a few days, it was said here today. Attorneys for the company are preparing the application in consultation with City Attorney Burr A. Brown.

A total of 500 feet of space will be required by the steamship line for its proposed Long Beach terminal it was said. The Pacific Electric Company, working in conjunction with the steamship company, will reconstruct its electric car lines to the docks in anticipation of the passenger traffic that will result from the adoption by the Wrigley interests of Long Beach harbor as a terminal.

WORLD WAR VETERAN DIES AT LA HABRA

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

LA HABRA, April 17.—Apparently in good health in the afternoon while in La Habra, Paul Nunemaker died at the Murphy Memorial Hospital in Whittier last evening at 8 o'clock. Mr. Nunemaker was the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Nunemaker, pioneer citrus rancher of this section. He was injured in the oil fields several years ago and it is thought that the sudden death was caused from this injury. Mr. Nunemaker was an overseas veteran and was among the troops that occupied the Ruhr. He leaves a widow, besides his parents, and a sister, Mrs. Charles Hart of Delano.

WILLIAMS HEADS CHAMBER

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, April 17. — James B. Williams, district manager of the Union Oil Company, and vice-president of the Crown Building and Loan Corporation, today was elected president of the Pasadena Chamber of Commerce. He will succeed T. D. Allin. Harold Landreth was elected first vice-president; Joseph Leddy, second vice-president; William Dunkerley, secretary, and James T. Jenkins, treasurer.

YOUTH HELD AS VILLAGE DISTURBER

Arrest in El Rio Step in Move to Curb Activity of Asserted Gang

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

VENTURA, April 17.—First steps of county authorities toward stamping out a reign of terror carried on by youths at El Rio, a village near here, were taken today with the arrest and certification to the Juvenile Court of Jose Solano, 17 years of age, on a charge of disturbing the peace. Acts of vandalism have been perpetrated with impunity, according to complaint to authorities.

One act on which special stress was laid was the throwing of spoiled eggs at several young girls on the way home from a neighborhood store at night. They had spurned the advances of the youths, it is said.

It was intimated here that other arrests may be made soon.

MUSIC DIRECTOR IN GLENDALE HIGH DIES

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

GLENDALE, April 17.—Mrs. Dora L. Gibson, for sixteen years director of music in the Glendale High School, died suddenly today at her home at 1321 North Maryland street, death being due to heart disease. Mrs. Gibson apparently was in good health up till the moment of her seizure, which occurred at 9:15 a.m., while she was talking with her son, James Gibson. In addition to her school work Mrs. Gibson had attained widespread fame as a writer on musical subjects, and was also active in women's club work. At the time of her death she was preparing two books which were to be published shortly. She was scheduled to appear on the program at the convention of the California Federated Music Clubs at Berkeley from the 26th inst. to May 1.

MANY NEW BUILDINGS RISING AT INGLEWOOD

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

INGLEWOOD, April 17.—Inglewood has started on a building boom that is unprecedented in the history of the city. Five new business buildings have sprung up on Market street within ninety days, and half a dozen more are planned that will give the main street an altogether different appearance. Among those to be started soon are the new 2000-seat theater to be operated by D. H. Vanderlip, who also operates the Inglewood Theater.

BULLET-RIDDEN CAR IS MYSTERY

[By a "Times" Staff Correspondent.]

SIERRA MADRE, April 17.—A large sedan riddled with bullet holes was found on Live Oak avenue late last night by A. M. Udell, City Marshal. Considerable mystery surrounds the finding of the car, police declare, no clews of any kind being found.

Investigation revealed that the car belongs to M. R. Wells, Pasadena business man, who reported his car stolen several days ago.

In addition to bullet holes, the sedan was otherwise wrecked. A door was shattered and the fenders were damaged.

BEACH CITY MAY BOOST VALUATIONS

Mayor of Santa Monica Orders Building Permits be Sworn To

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

SANTA MONICA, April 17.—Should an edict issued in Council session this morning by Mayor Steele be approved by members, building investment in this city will be sworn to, thereby making building totals 25 per cent higher, according to predictions in the Building Department. City Attorney Coffin will be instructed to prepare an amendment to the building ordinance requiring an oath on every building permit and fixing a penalty for violation of same.

Commissioners agree that this city loses the publicity value of a high rating because applicants are too conservative in their statements of costs.

Low figures given in building permits may save the builder a few dollars on the fee for the permit, which is graded on the cost, but has no effect on taxes, officials insist.

VICTIM OF LOCKJAW REPORTED IMPROVED

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

UPLAND, April 17.—George P. Lutz, member of the plumbing firm of Lutz & Bane, was reported improved this evening at the San Antonio Hospital, where he was taken yesterday suffering from a severe case of lockjaw. Mr. Lutz a few days ago accidentally cut two fingers on his left hand and the wound became infected. Finally his entire body became perfectly rigid and he was unable to open his mouth. It was found necessary to administer 30,000 units of tetanus antitoxin in an effort to save his life. While his condition is still considered grave, his case was reported hopeful tonight.

SALVATION ARMY TO BUILD LOCAL BARRACKS

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

BURBANK, April 17.—Plans are rapidly developing for the installation of a Salvation Army barracks here. The intention is to organize a corps with two officials in charge. Local friends of the Army purpose aiding the organization in providing a budget of $3500 to carry the work on through the fiscal year. More pretentious plans provide for the acquisition of a lot and the construction of a home. Discussion of the financing of this undertaking is being indulged in by the friends of the movement.

SUMMER SCHOOL FOR DELINQUENT STUDENTS

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

VENICE, April 17.—Announcement was made today by Alfred George, vice-principal of the local high school, that a summer school is being arranged for pupils who are behind in their studies. The school will be conducted for a period of six weeks, commencing June 23, which still affords the pupils a month of summer vacation. It was announced that several pupils will take advantage of the school

NEW DISEASE CAUSES DIVORCE

TWO NEW CASES OF DISEASE

Fresh Outbreak Occurs in Lamanda Park Herds; Fight Keeps Up

Two more cases of foot-and-mouth disease in Los Angeles county were reported late yesterday, both being discovered in the Lamanda Park section, where several cases had previously appeared, one a herd of twenty-seven cows and seven goats on Colorado street, the other a single family cow in the same neighborhood.

Other Southern California counties are enforcing strict measures of protection against a possible spreading of the disease to their districts. The Supervisors of Imperial county yesterday decided to begin immediately to fumigate all persons, automobiles and parcels entering the county, fumigation stations being established at all highway and railroad gateways into the valley. Ventura county also is taking every precaution and has laid down drastic rules regarding traffic into that territory through Conejo Station and Santa Susana Station, with special fumigating squads at these entrances.

The ban on State society picnics, imposed recently to prevent the further spread of the hoof-and-mouth disease, has been officially lifted, it was announced yesterday. The Washington and Texas State picnics, scheduled for Saturday, have been indefinitely postponed because of the impossibility of making proper arrangements for them on such short notice. The Illinois State Society picnic, however, will be conducted on the 26th inst. as scheduled.

County Forester Flintham announced yesterday that quarantine for all mountain districts will be enforced by the 600 armed guards, who will be stationed along all trails, paths and roads leading into these districts. Camping parties and hikers will be turned back promptly and no one but residents who have permits will be allowed to enter the districts under quarantine. The sweeping quarantine order, Mr. Flintham said, is made necessary by the fact that if the game animals, such as deer, are once affected it will be virtually impossible to stamp out the disease.

SIX NEW CASES IN STATE ARE REPORTED

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SACRAMENTO, April 17.—Reports of six new cases of foot-and-mouth disease were received by the State Department of Agriculture today. Four of these were reported from the Merced-Mariposa county quarantined area, one from San Joaquin county and the last from the Los Angeles district. The latest infection in the Los Angeles district was discovered among a herd of sixty-seven cattle near Lankershim. The outbreak in San Joaquin county affects a small herd but that in the Merced-Mariposa area is more serious. Four herds of 827 cattle, 157 hogs and three goats are reported to have been affected in this area.

Gov. Richardson's committee, appointed at the recommendation of a general conference of agricultural and industrial interests, left for Washington yesterday to confer with Secretary of Agriculture Wallace. The committee will protest against the "unreasonable and unnecessary embargoes against various California products by other Western States."

W. B. Lewis, superintendent of the Yosemite National Park, yesterday closed the park to automobile traffic with the exception of sages as a precaution against the spread of the epidemic. Rail traffic is not affected by the order.

Imperial county authorities also took steps to prevent the spread of the disease. All persons, cars and parcels coming into the county will be fumigated.

"THIS man evidently had a peculiar disease," Judge Burks of the Superior Court remarked yesterday in granting a divorce to Stella Novak from Frank M. Novak. "He walked all day and talked all night."

Mrs. Novak testified that her husband was a salesman. His ability in this line of endeavor, however, seemed limited, she said. He never made any money and she was forced to sell her jewels in order to keep them from starving.

Almost every night, however, he would expound to her on the matter of his ability as a salesman, she said. She finally grew weary of listening to him talk, she said, and one day suggested that he get a job which would enable him to earn a living. In reply to this he was to slap her in the face, she declared. Attorney Harold E. Prudhon represented Mrs. Novak.

TRAP-DOOR SPIDER HAS INGENIOUS HOME

There is a spider in warm, dry countries which forms well-like pits or burrows in the ground, closed by a hinged lid, that is known as the trap-door spider. These burrows are lined with a coating of silk, and in every case the entrance is closed by a tight-fitting circular door composed of clay, bound and lined with silk, hinged at one side to the lining of the burrow. The top of the door is left rough and earthy, so that when it is closed nothing betrays the presence of such a contrivance.

The spider can hold this door so firmly shut that nothing short of tearing the structure apart will suffice to open it. If these doors are torn off a new one will be made overnight, for several nights in succession, or until the insect's strength is so exhausted that it can no longer produce the requisite silk.

In building these burrows the spiders cut down and carry away all trails, paths and roads leading to these districts. Camping parties and hikers will be turned back promptly and no one but residents who have permits will be allowed to enter the districts under quarantine. The sweeping quarantine order, Mr. Flintham said, is made necessary by the fact that if the game animals, such as deer, are once affected it will be virtually impossible to stamp out the disease.

Submarine Fertilizer

Tops of submarine volcanoes rising from extreme deeps in the lonely Pacific are now furnishing fertilizer for farms in Great Britain. Naru and Ocean islands, 165 miles apart and 2200 miles northeast of Australia, are both being actively worked for phosphate. Each island is encircled by a coral reef on which is built a long steel traveling crane. The cranes carry the phosphate from the island shores across the reefs and discharge it into steamers anchored in the ocean outside.—[Exchange.

Mammoth Liner Belgenland to Call at Harbor

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN FRANCISCO, April 17.—The Belgenland, flagship of the Red Star Line fleet, is to put into Los Angeles and San Francisco in December on an around-the-world cruise, it was announced here today by T. H. Larke, Pacific Coast manager of the International Mercantile Marine, owner of the great vessel.

The Belgenland, with its 27,122 gross tonnage, will be the largest vessel of any type to visit the Pacific waters, according to the operators. Although not as long as the Mount Vernon, which claims the present record, the Belgenland registers nearly 10,000 tons more than the former German boat. She ranks as the world's eighth largest liner.

The dates of the liner's visits to the Pacific Ocean ports are now being arranged.

The Dominguez oil field developed its second big gas well yesterday when the Union Oil Company's Callender No. 2 well blew in as a gasser during the early morning hours, developing a tremendous gas pressure, and blowing off at least 40,000,000 cubic feet of gas a day, according to estimates made by the Union's field department. The blow-out occurred when the well burst a valve in the control-head while being placed on production.

It had been drilled to 4365 feet—the deepest well yet drilled in that area. It had flowed over 500 barrels in two hours, when the gas pressure broke loose and caused the valve to give away.

At a late hour last night crews were still working at the well under the direction of Frank F. Hill, manager of field operations for the Union Oil Company, and it was said by Mr. Hill that chances of replacing the broken valve and stopping the escaping gas were good.

The Callender well, No. 2, is located about 800 feet northwest of Reyes No. 2 of the Shell Company, which went wild Monday. The Callender is apparently flowing a much larger amount of oil than the Reyes and the gas pressure is greater.

Shell Controls Gasser

After blowing off for approximately three days and nights, the Shell Company Reyes No. 2 well in the Dominguez field, the first gasser in that territory, was successfully plugged at 11 a.m. yesterday, according to reports from officials of the Shell Company.

The gasser was stopped by forcing rope and cement in between the eight and one-quarter-inch and the ten-inch casing. This clogged the vent and forced the well to sand up. It will be allowed to stand for several days and then the field department will pump the three-inch tubing full of mud and undertake a general repair job in the hope of salvaging the hole.

Officials of the Shell said yesterday that the casing had been split by gas pressure, but that otherwise the well was probably not in bad shape, considering the ordeal through which it had passed. One Shell official ventured the estimate that the hole was not yielding more than 1000 barrels of fluid per day, but admitted that the gas pressure appeared to indicate large production from a greater depth.

Drilling Halts

The Pan-American Petroleum Company's Pacific Southwest No. 1 at El Segundo is idle after striking a hard formation at 3694 feet, according to reports from the field. Drilling in this well was resumed about ten days ago after the completion of a fishing job which lasted for several weeks. The well was cemented at 3676, where the trouble occurred, and cores between that point and the present depth of 3694 have been encouraging, it is said. Gas pressure in the well is said to have caused two blowouts, mud with traces of oil running into the sump on both occasions.

Production Grows

The daily average gross crude oil production of the United States increased 38,350 barrels for the week ended the 12th inst., totaling 1,553,350 barrels, according to the weekly summary of the American Petroleum Institute. The daily average production of the Rocky Mountains was 1,293,850 barrels, an increase of 32,650. California production was 555,500 barrels, an increase of 5500.

Daily average imports of petroleum at principal ports for the week ended the 12th inst. were 307,571 barrels, compared with 303,286 for the previous week. Daily average receipts of California oil at Atlantic and Gulf Coast ports were 160,000 barrels, compared with 139,000 for the previous week. There were no changes reported in crude oil prices for the major districts—Mid-Continent being quoted from $1.25 to $2.25 a barrel, according to the gravity of the oil; Pennsylvania cruce, Bradford district, $4.50 and all other grades $4. Gulf Coast crude grade "A," $2; grade "B," $1.70 a barrel and California crude ranges from $1 to $1.40, depending upon the gravity of the oil.

Rogers Well Deepened

The Rogers No. 1 of the De Landrecie Oil Company in the Signal Hill field is deepening from 3100 feet to 3000 feet, according to officials of the company. The casing in the bottom of the hole is said to be in bad shape and the crew started sidetracking it at 2985 feet. The Rogers went on production a year ago.

New Well Found

The Bell-Evans Oil Syndicate has brought in its fourth well and started its fifth well in the Hovey Hills field, according to reports from the field. The well is down about 1700 feet and is said to be producing about 150 barrels per day.

Brown Shale Met

The Transport Oil Company is drilling ahead at 850 feet in brown shale in its Hovey Hills well, according to Kenneth Wallace, general manager of the company. The Transport well is one of the outposts of the field, being located about a quarter of a mile northwest of the nearest production.

Deep Well Offset

The Mascot Oil Company is building a rig to offset the deep test of the Kendon Oil Company in the Hovey Hills field, according to reports from that district. It is planned to tap the deep sand from which the Kendon is now producing and to go 3500 feet unless the bottom of the sand is found shallower than that depth.

The Kendon well is doing 250 barrels per day, according to officials of the company. This is a substantial increase over its production last week. The well is the deepest producer in the field, being down 2600 feet and still in the sand.

Water Stops Well

The Globe Petroleum Corporation succeeded in bringing in its Brunson No. 2 in the Santa Fe Springs field from the Bell sand, only to have the test spoiled by water which broke in from above,

CAN YOUR TAXES BE CUT?

BY JOHN F. SINCLAIR

[Copyright, 1924, in United States and Great Britain by North American Newspaper Alliance. All rights reserved.]

On February 6, 1922, the United States, Great Britain, France, Italy and Japan signed the first naval disarmament contract in history. As a result twenty-one battleships and battle cruisers of the United States Navy have been or will be scrapped and destroyed. Yet the Navy of the United States cost the taxpayers for the fiscal year 1923, a total of $323,218,000. This is $83,000,000 more than was spent by all the colleges and universities in the United States in 1920.

In the fiscal year 1922 the Navy cost even more. The amount was a little over $476,000,000. These figures are too big to comprehend. Still, the Navy has not always been so costly.

The American government spent $570 on the Navy in 1791. The next year just $53 was spent, and 1793 was the banner year—we spent not a cent. It was not until 1853 that the amount equaled $10,000,000 for any year.

Then came the Civil War. Naval expenses rose rapidly. They rose from $12,400,000 in 1861 to $123,600,000 in 1865. The next year they dropped to $43,300,000. For the next thirty years $15,000,000 to $20,000,000 a year was the usual amount spent on the Navy. Fifty million dollars was not again reached until 1898. From that time on the Navy expenses have grown enormously.

AN EXPENSIVE ARM

During the last twenty-five years the Navy Department has had given to it by the American people a grand total of approximately $7,750,000,000. Of this amount more than $5,000,000,000 has been spent on building up the Navy during the past six years.

How much is $5,000,000,000? It is nine times as much as the total productive funds of all the colleges and universities in the United States. It is equal to more than one-third of the valuation of all the railroads in the United States. It is more than the capital stock of all the 30,000 banks in America. For that amount 1,000,000 workingmen's homes costing $5000 each could have been built to relieve the people of acute congestion and high rents.

In plain English, the people of the United States have spent more than $2,400,000 every day for the past six years on building up the American Navy. That is $100,000 an hour, or $1665 a minute. National preparedness has been the great slogan.

The State of Minnesota has at this time $12,019,000 invested in buildings and dormitories for all the colleges and universities of that State. It includes the great plant of the University of Minnesota, with about 10,000 students. A modern battleship costs three and one-half times this amount. And it's just junk in fifteen years. Modern civilization!

We have spent every day for the last six years more money on the Navy than George Washington did on his Navy during his entire eight years of office. We spent more money in 1923 for the Navy than we did in all the years from 1791 to 1860 combined. Surely we are now prepared for every need. We have not been stinting in our expenses to make our Navy the first in the world, but it seems we are not in good shape.

DEFICIENT, SAYS EXPERT

Capt. McNamee, naval expert, says: "I find that in capital ships, both the United States and Japan are at present deficient in offensive and defensive strength, or older capital ships, as compared with Great Britain. In modern cruisers, we are definitely inferior. When our ten are completed, we will have thirty-seven less than Great Britain and fifteen less than Japan. In flotilla leaders, Great Britain has eighteen built and building, while neither the United States or Japan has a single one. We are faced by a condition and not a theory. It is a condition that must be met."

Lieutenant-Commander R. R. M. Emmet of the Bureau of Navigation, United States Navy, says: "So long as we remain a second-class sea-power, we remain a second-class commercial power. Another billion of dollars, besides the current expenses, spread over a period of ten years on our Navy, would be the best and most profitable investment this country ever made."

Secretary Denby in his 1923 report says: "The Navy of the United States is so ill balanced and so deficient in cruiser strength that it would be put at a serious disadvantage in a major operation of any kind."

The Navy League, a group of distinguished and anxious Americans, says in a recent circular that the United States should spend about $700,000,000 a year for several years in order to bring our Navy up to the standard of Great Britain, and we spent only $323,000,000 for the fiscal year 1923.

It just seems from these expert opinions that we are in for a long period of huge spending in order to put us on a par with Great Britain.

Now let us go into the figures which make up these huge totals. I shall eliminate all the fractions less than $1000.

(1.) A total of $3,681,000 was spent for the running expenses of the department proper for 1923. This is to be increased by about $300,000 for 1924.

(2.) A little over $56,932,000 was spent in 1923 in increases in the Navy. This is for consguction of ships. This is increased by about $1,000,000 for 1924, according to the budget bureau estimate. Another item of $9,507,000 was spent in scrapping old vessels. It seems that vessels get old in a remarkably short time. Those ships that were in Class 1 in the World War, have now been relegated to Class 3. Soon they will be out of commission entirely, and will be used for target practice by the new vessels now being built. This item of scrapping is increased to an estimated total of $15,000,000 in 1924.

(3.) The Bureau of Aeronautics spent $14,702,000 for 1923. This is a new department, which bids fair to become one of the big spending bureaus of the Navy. However, this is reduced to about $15,000,000 in the 1924 estimates.

We pass over quickly the expenditures of several of the bureaus where additional millions were used up in 1923:

The Bureau of Ordnance, $10,670,000; The Bureau of Yards and Docks, $7,504,000; The Bureau of Medicine and Surgery, $3,290,000; The Bureau of Navigation, $12,475,000; The Bureau of Construction and Repairs, $17,510,000; The Bureau of Engineering, $19,309,000; the Navy Academy at Annapolis, $2,162,000; clerical expenses in the secretary's office, $3,944,000; expenses for temporary government for West Indian Islands, $243,000; the Naval Observatory, $80,000.

You will note that several of the bureaus mentioned in one line spent more money in 1923 than was spent in the same year by several of the important departments of the government.

In the expenses for the current operations for 1923 two spending bureaus of the Navy Department deserve special mention, the Bureau of Supplies and Accounts and the Marine Corps.

The Bureau of Supplies and Accounts spent $140,274,000 for the fiscal year 1923. It is asking for $157,760,000 for 1924, but for 1925 it asks again for about $160,000,000. This includes the pay for all men in the service, provisions for the departments, freight and fuel and transportation. This is about $500,000 a day.

The Marine Corps spent $30,159,000 in 1923. It asks for $6,000,000 less for 1924. This is the land contingent of the Navy and it is nearly always the first branch of the military service in battle. This was true in the World War. The Marine Corps is scattered throughout the world. The marines are in Haiti, Santo Domingo and many other countries.

ESTIMATES FOR 1924

The expenses so far mentioned are all for current operation. They totaled for 1923 over $310,164,000.

The other division of naval activities is that of public works. The amount spent for this division for 1923 was $10,073,000. This is, however, decreased by more than $4,000,000 in the estimates for 1923. No money was spent for new projects in this division for the fiscal year 1923. A few miscellaneous costs make up the balance.

And so to sum up: 1923 saw an expenditure of $323,000,000 by the American Navy. The revenue of the department totaled about $19,000,000, mostly made up of the sale of war supplies. The estimate has been increased for expenditures for 1924 to $341,873,000.

In addition to a naval and Marine Corps personnel of more than 100,000 officers and men, the Navy Department maintains a civil force of 42,842. The department in Washington maintains 5418 stenographers, clerks and other civilian assistants.

These, then, are the bare facts of the Navy Department. It is one of the large spending bureaus. For every dollar spent by the United States government in 1923, the Navy Department took 9.01 cents. This does not include expenses of past wars or interest on the public debt due to Navy increases.

It would seem as though here was a place where joint action could be had with the present government of England and of other governments in Europe, which are now very hard pressed in making national budgets balance, to have a second conference called which will demand drastic reduction in all other naval building, not included in the first conference, such as cruisers, airplanes and submarines.

according to official accounts. The well was plugged back to 2830 feet from 4700 feet, from which it had produced 500,000 barrels. On the production test at 2860 feet it gave evidence of making a 500-barrel well until the water intruded. Drillers are confident that there will be no difficulty in correcting the trouble.

Staff Changed

The State oil and gas supervisor announces the following changes in the field personnel of his department.

V. H. Wilhelm has been appointed deputy supervisor for district No. 5, with headquarters at Coalinga, to fill the position made vacant by the resignation of former Deputy Supervisor R. M. Barnes.

E. Huguenin has been appointed deputy supervisor for district No. 4, with headquarters at Taft, to fill the position made vacant by the resignation of former Deputy Supervisor W. W. Cepp.

H. A. Godde, formerly petroleum engineer in the Department of Petroleum and Gas, has been appointed deputy supervisor for district No. 2, with headquarters at Santa Paula, to succeed Deputy Supervisor E. Huguenin, who has been transferred to and put in charge of district No. 4.

BUSINESS NEWS

BANK APPOINTMENTS

Appointment of B. H. Brown and William L. McFee as assistant vice-presidents, and of Leslie S. Colyer and E. A. Winstanley as assistant trust officers, is announced by the directors of the Hellman Commercial Trust and Savings Bank.

Mr. Brown is well known in local banking circles, having served for seven years as a bank examiner with the Los Angeles Clearing-house Association. Mr. McKee is from Chicago, where he was associated in an executive capacity with one of the large banks, while Messrs. Colyer and Winstanley are among the Hellman bank's oldest employees, having been connected with the trust department since the time when they comprised the department themselves.

BOND PROFITS

In its statements to stockholders for the period ended March 31, 1924, the District Bond Company states that dividends were more than twice earned in the last quarter. The company also reports a large amount of financing on hand, which will be completed on a satisfactory basis.

The loss-and-gain statement shows profits from sales of $19,-322.90. Accruals from interest and syndicate profits as of March 31 were $13,087.91.

DIVIDEND PAYMENT

Stockholders of the Rio Grande Oil Company have been mailed dividend checks for the first quarter at the rate of 2 per cent, according to an announcement from L. E. Lockhart, chairman of the board of directors. The stockholders were also notified of preparations by drilling companies to prospect the ground surrounding the Rio Grande refinery at Vinvale, which is expected to enhance the value of the refinery site.

BANKERS' MEETING

Several Los Angeles bankers are expected to leave next week for Augusta, Ga., to attend the spring council meeting of the executive committee of the American Bankers' Association, which is to be held from April 28 to May 1. Local members of the committee are W. R. Morehouse, W. D. Longyear and L. H. Rosenberry, vice-presidents of the Security Trust and Savings Bank; Henry McKee, past president of the California Bankers' Association, and Guy E. Bowerman, president of the Arlington Heights State Bank.

NOTE OF CAUTION IN COTTON DEALING

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, April 17.—Cotton futures turned moderately weak on the local exchange today and ended a rather quiet session with net losses of 14 to 24 points. Trading was small in volume, evening up for over the holiday furnishing the bulk of business. Caution was the keynote to the reduced speculative dealings, while news factors furnished little influence either way. The start was 8 to 28 points net higher, with near positions showing most improvement on the better Liverpool cables which brought some scattered buying orders from commission houses. Later the list eased off on selling by local interests and brokers with Wall street connections due to predictions of more settled weather and thereafter prices fluctuated narrowly to the close, which was up a few points from the worst.

Spot cotton closed 30?9 down 10 points net.

CRUDE RUBBER MARKET

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, April 17.—Trading in the rubber market remains exceedingly dull, characterized by little exchanges. Manufacturers are buying only for their current needs and this business is all in small lots. Quotations this week are as follows: Ribbed sheets, 23½; brown crepe, thin, clean, 21¾; amber No. 1, 21¾; first latex crepe, Para, 19½. Fluctuations for the last several days have been no more than ¼c per pound and this for very brief periods of trading.

MORTGAGE GUARANTEE COMPANY

Sound Security Plus—

SELECT, in your mind, any piece of well-located, improved real estate considered worth $10,000. Then suppose you had a first mortgage of $4000 on that property. You would not question the safety of your money, would you?

Such a loan may be taken as typical of the loans made by the Mortgage Guarantee Company, none of which exceed 50% of the appraisal values—or about 40% of the market values.

Consider, then, that the Guaranteed First Mortgage Certificates of this Company represent actual pro rata ownership of a diversified group of conservative first mortgage loans on improved and income-producing properties.

Hence these Certificates are not only as safe as a conservative first mortgage, but even safer if that is possible, by virtue of the fact that they are also guaranteed as to both principal and interest by this strong, State-supervised institution.

If you are seeking an investment combining maximum safety and convenience, free from all California taxes, you will be interested in these Guaranteed First Mortgage Certificates. May we send you further information?

"But You Can't Eat Flowers"

"BEAUTIFUL: But you can't eat flowers; and you can't live on climate alone." The eastern manufacturer who made this remark when visiting Los Angeles twenty years ago would voice a different sentiment today.

Climate was probably the first factor in the growth of Los Angeles. More than three hundred sunny days a year; flower gardens always abloom; seashore, orange groves and snow-clad mountains accessible in a one-day jaunt—such advantages could not fail to draw visitors in very great numbers; to attract capital; to make for the building of a large city.

Los Angeles, while capitalizing its climate, has been aggressive and successful in building great industries; in developing the natural advantages of the city and its surrounding territory. Figures obtained by the Chamber of Commerce show more than five thousand manufacturing establishments in its metropolitan district, with an annual output in excess of one billion dollars. Cheap and abundant electric power and fuel oil, ocean and railroad transportation facilities, access to raw materials and the world's markets, all have worked shoulder to shoulder with the enterprise of its citizens in building a city whose population is now estimated at 1,100,000.

The Sunshine City. No city in the world has been more greatly favored in climate and natural resources than Los Angeles. No city has made better use of its natural advantages in every branch of industry. We are vitally interested in the commercial and industrial development of the city. During the past forty years The Harris Organization has bought millions of dollars of bonds issued for Los Angeles' municipal, public utility and other enterprises, and has sold these bonds to a constantly growing list of investors throughout the United States. This is one of a series of advertisements featuring some of the city's industries.

BOND QUOTATIONS

Governments Lead

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, April 17.—Under the leadership of United States government obligations, several issues of which established new top figures for 1924 bond prices generally moved into higher ground today. Improvement in the market's tone was helped by the ready subscription to new offerings.

Institutional buying of Liberty Bonds, combined with the easing of money rates, stimulated activity throughout the government list, sending First and Fourth 4s to par for the first time this year and carrying the Treasury 4s to a new record price of 101 10-32. Purchases were believed to be for accounts of both the British and United States governments.

With liquidations of the Japanese 6½s still in progress, the price dropped 5-8 to 90, which was 2½ points below the subscription price. Other foreign obligations, however, were firm.

A broader tone for high-grade railroad liens was reflected in stiffening prices through this list with a number of speculative rails displaying independent strength. Sugar and rubber bonds improved with the advance in stocks.

Awards of the $10,000,000 Illinois service compensation bonds to a New York banking syndicate on a bid of 100.197, it was stated, would be followed by a public offering next week, probably on a 4 per cent yield basis. New York bankers also announced today the purchase of $5,000,000 short-term 5 per cent Swedish Treasury bills which were placed privately without a public offering.

NEW YORK CURB

Upward Trend

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, April 17.—Considerable irregularity developed in today's curb market but the main trend was upward. Active oils showed little change but gains of 1 to 3 points were recorded in such ordinarily inactive issues as Illinois Pipe, Cities Service, Buckeye Pipe and Prairie Oil and Gas.

National Tea was again the individual feature in the industrial group, soaring 15 points to 310, a record high, in future reflection of the recent increase from $2 to $5 in the quarterly dividend and the proposed declaration of a stock dividend of 150 per cent. At today's top price it was 68 points above the initial quotation last Saturday.

Activity of the copper shares was the outstanding development in the mining group.

GLASS JAR FACTORY IS COMING

New Enterprise Making Widely Used Commodity to Locate Here

Another promising infant industry has decided to cast its lot with Los Angeles, establish a factory in or near this city, and utilize the exceptional distributing facilities available here for the output.

It is the Beaver Glass Manufacturing Company, with offices in the W. M. Garland Building at Ninth and Spring, and while the plans of the corporation are not yet sufficiently advanced to announce the location of the factory or the directorate, Elmer Beavers, who is backing the project, admitted yesterday that it would include the names of leading business men and local financiers.

Mr. Beavers is vice-president of the Beaver Seal Jar Cap Company, which operates a large plant at Norristown, Pa., and is the inventor of a patent top for glass jars which, it is claimed, entirely eliminates the bad features of the old-fashioned jars, involving the fitting of rubber bands, the soaking in hot water to remove them, the burned hands and oozing contents.

The principle of the new top is embodied in a paraffin fiber disk, which takes the place of the usual rubber ring. The heat of the contents effectively seals the cap onto the jar when it is screwed down, and keeps them in perfect condition. A small square length of metal rod is fitted into the groove on each cap, and a slight twist, due to the leverage employed, opens the most stubborn jar with ease and safety, according to the inventor.

The Los Angeles company will have the exclusive right to manufacture this top for Pacific distribution, and in addition will manufacture a newly invented triple-seal Mason jar.

Because of the large volume of such jars used by the packing industries on this Coast, where abundant fruit supplies also make the retail trade highly attractive, Mr. Beavers is confident of a large distribution from the very inception of operations. In fact, he is already in receipt of invitations to submit the product of the new factory to several leading wholesalers, who are at present called upon to carry large stocks of an extremely bulky product, which "freezes" valuable capital in freight and warehouse charges. This is a condition, of which the eastern concern has been cognizant for some time, and only after careful consideration of available locations on the Pacific Coast has Los Angeles been decided upon as the most ideal-able in every way.

Mr. Beavers said yesterday that the company already has over $500,000 worth of contracts, calling for delivery within six months, and that the factory will give initial employment to between 200 and 300 workers. An executive of long experience in the glass business and for twenty-eight years manager of the McBeth-Evans Glass Company of Pittsburg, will be at the head of the Los Angeles plant, which is to be capitalized for $1,000,000, of which $500,000 will be in preferred 8 per cent stock, $100 par and $500,000 of no par value common stock, which will be offered in units of two preferred and one common for $200.

LOS ANGELES EXCHANGE

Riding on another burst of buying enthusiasm, Los Angeles Investment, although selling exdividend, climbed 17 points over the previous day to a high of 4.42 in yesterday's market on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange. The advance was well sustained, the price only once falling below the opening of 4.30. At the finish, the stock was off 1 cent from the high at 4.41, or a net advance of 16 cents.

For the first time in several months, Southern California Edison common occupied a position of some prominence in the trading. This stock was active at 103 1-2, a slight gain of 1-8 over the previous session.

Oils moved in an apathetic manner, and the volume of sales was small. Standard of California sold up 1-8 to 59 1-8, and Union of California was firm at 118. U. S. Royalties acquired 1 cent at 21 1-2 and transactions were executed in Globe Petroleum at 5 1-2 cents.

Los Angeles at Top on Coast in Gross Building

Los Angeles had 35 per cent of the building activity of the entire Pacific Coast in the first quarter of 1924, with a total of $46,511,696, which was a gain of 4 per cent over 1923, according to figures made public yesterday by S. W. Straus & Co.

Washington made the greatest relative gain over 1923, an increase of 48 per cent, while Oregon made a gain of 36 per cent. Building activity as a whole was 8 per cent in advance of the first quarter of last year. The California gain was 3 per cent. In seventy-one West Coast cities, building permits aggregated $129,424,312 for the quarter.

San Francisco building permits for the quarter totaled $11,743,512.

NEW CHARGE FILED

Pair in Fraud Case Arraigned on Fresh Complaint

A new complaint charging grand larceny was issued by Dep. Dist.-Atty. Vobayda yesterday against W. H. Mercer and C. J. Ramsay. In this complaint they are accused of defrauding Dr. Harry G. Palmer of Compton of $2000. At the recommendation of Dist.-Atty Keyes their bail was fixed at $25,000 each on the new charge when they were arraigned in Justice Court. The two suspects are also accused of a number of similar offenses in complaints previously issued.

Their method of operation, according to police, was to obtain the bonds of victims on the pretext that they would exchange them for bonds of more value

OWNERSHIP OF LIQUOR IS NOT PROVED

Hollywood Man Set Free Despite Confession That Whisky Was His

Failure of Federal dry agents to prove ownership resulted yesterday in the dismissal by United States Commissioner Long of a liquor charge against Edward S. Berkowitz of Hollywood. The defendant had been under bond since December 30, 1923, when he announced that he was the owner of $600 worth of Scotch whisky and alcohol that had been seized by Hollywood police and turned over to the Federal agents.

At a hearing before Commissioner Long several days ago the only evidence that the confiscated liquor belonged to Berkowitz was the statement to that effect made by Berkowitz. Inasmuch as the law does not permit the use of a confession as evidence against a defendant until proof of the asserted crime has been obtained the Commissioner heard the testimony of dry agents in an effort to establish the ownership. The desired evidence was lacking and the case was continued until yesterday to give the agents an opportunity to obtain further information.

On showing that the only evidence of possession was that given by Berkowitz, Commissioner Long released the defendant. At the same time he ordered the liquor destroyed as there was no evidence that it had been obtained legally under a permit issued by the government.

Governor Asks New Mexico for Return of Blair

Requisition papers were drawn yesterday by Gov. Richardson on Gov. Hinkle of New Mexico for the extradition of Sidney Blair, process server, who is wanted here on a charge of having conspired with Grant McCartney to manufacture evidence that would prevent Mrs. Paula McCartney from obtaining a divorce. Deputy Sheriff Dewar has gone to Albuquerque to take the man into custody for the return trip to Los Angeles.

Blair and McCartney dropped from sight following publication of Mrs. McCartney's charges that Blair persuaded her to go to a roadhouse with him on the 6th inst. on the pretext that he needed her aid in serving some of the divorce papers on her husband. He is then said to have aided her husband to obtain a flashlight photograph of her in a compromising position after, she says, she had been knocked down.

Mrs. McCartney instituted a police search for her husband and Blair. She swore to complaints charging assault likely to cause great bodily injury and conspiracy to prepare false evidence.

McCartney has not been found.

KIDNAPING PLOT LAID TO YOUTHS BY WOMAN

PROPOSED VICTIM SAYS PAIR IN AUTO ATTEMPTED TO SEIZE HER

Police were searching yesterday for two well-dressed youths who late Wednesday night attempted, it is reported, to kidnap Mrs. Gertrude Laymon of 850 South Norton avenue.

According to the police report, Mrs. Laymon was walking on Norton avenue near her home when the youths drove up to the curb in an inclosed auto. One of them asked her to go for a ride, she said. Mrs. Laymon says she did not answer and hurried on. The car followed near the curb, the men persisting in their attentions to her, police were told. After she had walked several hundred feet, she said, one of the men leaped out of the car toward her. Avoiding his clutches by only a few feet, she declares she ran across a lawn to 870 South Norton avenue and rang the door bell. The ringing of the bell, heard from the outside, frightened the men, and they fled, according to the woman. Descriptions of the would-be kidnapers were obtained.

PURCHASING AGENTS SPEND TIME IN JAIL

MEMBERS OF ASSOCIATION HEAR BOND ADDRESS AT LUNCHEON

The gates of the Lincoln Heights Jail closed yesterday noon on the finance committee of the Purchasing Agents' Association of Los Angeles. But only for a short time. The committee of the association were the guests of Chief of Police Vollmer and the police department at luncheon and for the inspection of the new jail buildings.

Arthur Baker, chairman of the finance committee, presided at the luncheon and Chief Vollmer spoke at length on the police bond question. The voting of bonds at the next election will provide for eleven new police stations and added equipment necessary for the adequate service of the department.

AUTOIST HURT WHEN CAR LEAVES HIGHWAY

When Vick Madrick's car ran off the road yesterday at Riverside Drive and Rich street, it went over an embankment thirty-five feet high and rolled over several times. Madrick was thrown out at the second turn. His chest had been crushed against the steering wheel. He was treated at Receiving Hospital and then taken to his home, 936 East Sixth street. He is expected to recover.

KNIGHTS OPEN STATE MEETING

Pageantine Commanderies at Templar Conclave

Parade Impressive Spectacle

Duke's Annual Address is Given at Hotel

PASADENA, April 17.—While thousand of Pasadenans lined the principal streets, fifty-nine commanderies of Knights Templar, dozens of bands, and scores of mounted Knights Templar officers participated in an impressive pageant here today. The parade marked the opening of the State conclave of the Grand Chapter, Knights Templar of California.

The parade followed the same route of Pasadena's famous Tournament of Roses and was several miles in length. Albert E. Boynton, Grand Commander of the Grand Chapter, and Galusha M. Cook of Pasadena, oldest Knight in the State, headed the procession in a rose-decorated automobile.

More than 1000 members of the Knights Templar attired in full-dress uniform and with plumed helmets marched in various formations. Knights from San Francisco rode middle horses. The Los Angeles delegation drew much applause as did the Pasadena commandery for the well-executed maneuvers of their drill teams.

Bands from a number of California commanderies and also bands from the California Institute of Technology and Pasadena High Schools were included in the line of march.

Following the opening session of the conclave in the Hotel Huntington Grand Commander Boynton delivered his annual address to the knights representing every county in the State. One of the outstanding features of his address was his recommendation of the raising of $10 per capita by the commanderies to the educational fund of the Grand Commandery. The fund assists young men who seek to obtain college education.

An appropriation by the Grand Commandery of $10,000 for the Masonic Children's Home of Covina was also recommended. He also urged the indorsement by the Grand Commandery of the order of DeMolay, the fraternity for boys, sponsored by the Masons. He suggested changing the date of the Templar Pilgrimage for Holy Week to the week just preceding Holy Week and asked for an appropriation of $500 to build a Masonic clubhouse at the University of California was recommended.

Following the session was attended by the election of officers of the Grand Commandery. It was decided to elect officers at tomorrow morning's session. William D. Knights, Grand Recorder, read the report.

The most brilliant event of the conclave was held in the Crystal Ballroom of the Hotel Huntington last night when the Grand Commandery ball was staged. Only Knights in full dress of the order and their ladies were admitted. Dr. J. Tyler Parker of Pasadena was in charge of the ball.

LEGISLATIVE RATIO IS AIM OF MEETING

Deadlock on Assembly Reapportionment Plan May be Broken

For the purpose of considering a new constitutional amendment to the State charter on legislative reapportionment, officials and representatives of civic and commercial organizations throughout Southern California will meet with the reapportionment committee of the Chamber of Commerce at the headquarters of that organization today.

The meeting was called ten days ago after the local reapportionment committee had held a conference with a committee from the California Development Association which resulted in a deadlock over the Assembly question.

After the invitations had been sent out, widespread interest in the conference was forecast as a majority of the organizations replied that delegates had been chosen to attend the meeting.

The Chamber of Commerce will provide a buffet luncheon for those attending the conference at noon as it is expected the meeting will last until early in the afternoon.

Representatives of many local organizations, including Ralph Arnold, chairman of the Republican Central Committe, and John B. Elliott, chairman of the Democratic County Central Committee, will be present.

PUGILIST JAILED; USED WIFE TO SPAR WITH

Mickey O'Donnell, a pugilist of 212 South Hill street, was given ninety days in the City Jail, the limit for the offense, for disturbing the peace yesterday. Detective Lieutenant Johnson testified he found O'Donnell practicing ring blows on his wife and that the man tried to strike her again after he was handcuffed.

BABIES-IN-ARMS NO MORE

Pasadena Doctor Invents Suitcase-Carrier-Crib; Customs Men Look for Dog, Find Infant

Returning to the United States from Europe after a visit of seven months, Dr. and Mrs. Charles H. Lewis of Los Angeles arrived in New York yesterday. As they stepped from the gangplank a customs inspector noted a ventilated suitcase. Dr. Lewis was carrying.

"You've got a permit for that dog, haven't you?" the official wanted to know.

"NO DOG POSSESSION

"Baby, nuthing!" Mrs. Lewis indignantly.

The inspector registered an I'm-from-Missouri grunt and said: "You see, I've got to have proof before I believe it's a baby."

Dr. Lewis solemnly opened the suitcase. The inspector peered in and beheld a baby peacefully resting and sucking on a rubber nipple. The baby was duly examined and apparently found happy baby for its months. The inspector was not quite satisfied. "I don't think I ever saw a baby that first-class in a dog basket."

"That's my own baby," Dr. Lewis insisted. That it was made special-

HUNT BODY OF STAR WITNESS

Officers Examine Home of Charles B. Walker

Hasty Departure Indicated by Unfinished Meal

Missing Man Delays Trial of Dr. Schley

Fearing that Charles B. Walker, missing principal witness in the trial of Dr. W. C. Schley, prominent Pasadena physician charged with manslaughter, may have been murdered and his body hidden in his home, 834 Catalina avenue, deputy sheriffs last night forced their way into the house and made a minute search.

The officers say they found evidence of an unfinished meal, which leads them to believe Mr. Walker, who is 65 years of age and chief witness for the prosecution in the manslaughter case, left his home hurriedly. A hat, shirt and a pair of shoes, identified as belonging to the aged man, were also found by the officers.

A search of the mail box outside the house revealed the fact that unopened mail had been received up to three days ago.

It is known that a few weeks ago Mr. Walker collected $4500 from an insurance company for the death of his wife, Ida Elizabeth Walker, who was killed on January 3 last, in a collision at Pasadena between the car in which she and her husband were riding, and a machine driven by Dr. Schley.

JURY SELECTED

The trial of Dr. Schley opened yesterday in Judge Hahn's department of the Superior Court. A jury had been selected and Judge Hahn was preparing to swear it in when Mr. Walker's absence was called to the attention of Dep. Dist.-Atty. Ostrom.

A number of other witnesses were questioned. They gave information indicating that the witness may have met with foul play. Judge Hahn continued the case until today.

Two of the witnesses in court yesterday told Mr. Ostrom they knew definitely that Mr. Walker had collected $4500 in life insurance some weeks ago and expressed the belief that he had either fallen into the hands of bandits and was being held a prisoner or had been killed and robbed.

Mrs Floyd M. Green, a neighbor of Mr. Walker, stated that she had seen him in the company of a stranger a number of times and had warned him against associating with the suspicious-looking individual. Last Wednesday, she said, she called at his house and reminded him that Dr. Schley's trial was to begin in a short time. At that time, she said, he told her he would be present when the case opened.

NO RESPONSE AT HOME

W. H. Long, another witness, said that he passed by Mr. Walker's home at 834 Catalina avenue yesterday morning and thinking he might drive him to the city in his car stopped and knocked.

He obtained no response, he said. There were indications that no one had been in the house for some time, the witness stated.

Mrs. Rush Hughes

Young Rush Marries Marion Harris, Vaudeville Artist and Divorcee, Secretly in East

BY GRACE KINGSLEY

The secret marriage in New York of Rush Hughes, 22-year-old son of Rupert Hughes, famous novelist and screen director, to Marion Harris, divorcee, some years the bridegroom's senior and who is well known as a vaudeville artist and cafe entertainer, has just come to light, and is causing no little stir in film and theatrical circles.

The new bride, who is pretty and talented, according to telegraphic word, received from New York, fell ill in the East and went to Child's Hospital in the eastern metropolis for an operation. She registered under her married name and in this manner the first suspicion of the news was harked abroad. Just when the wedding occurred has not been learned.

WELL KNOWN HERE

Just before leaving New York last Friday for Los Angeles, Rupert Hughes was asked concerning the marriage. He admitted the truth of the report but was noncommittal about the details. But it is said that when the romance first began to bud, Maj. Hughes was greatly opposed to it.

Rush Hughes met Marion Harris in Los Angeles while she was singing at a local cafe more than a year ago. She was formerly married and has a little daughter. When young Hughes made known to his father he intended marrying, it is said the elder Hughes protested. But the devotion of the

LONG BEACH ORATORS TO MEET TODAY

Counties of Riverside and San Diego Also Pick Men for Contest Semifinals

The oratorical champions of three districts, Long Beach, San Diego and Riverside counties, will meet today to select representatives to the semifinals in the national oratorical contest.

The San Diego meet, which will be conducted at National City, will be addressed by representatives of the high schools of Coronado, Escondido, Fallbrook, Julian, Lakeside, National City, Ramona, La Jolla, Campo and Oceanside.

The Riverside county contest will take place at Riverside and contestants will participate from Banning, Beaumont, Blythe, Coachella, Corona, Elsinore, Hemet, Perris and San Jacinto.

The Long Beach contest is scheduled for 1:30 o'clock in the Polytechnic High School auditorium at Long Beach. Candidates are Jack McGuire, William Pennel, Elizabeth Burcham, Mabel Funk, Leonard La Rue and Lucille Hays.

Judges will be Russell Pray, Rev. Henry Kendall Booth and Rev. George D. Knights. Prizes aggregating $235, with $125 as the first prize, will be awarded to the successful candidates.

These are the only district contests taking place this week, most of the schools being closed, owing to the Easter holiday. The districts that have not already selected their representatives for the semifinals will do so next week, the last district meet being scheduled for the 26th inst. About a dozen districts will conduct their meets on the 25th inst.

Many Notables on Liner's List for Los Angeles

The most interesting list of celebrities of the season sailed for Los Angeles yesterday from New York aboard the liner Manchuria, 27,000-ton flagship of the Panama-Pacific Line. Practically every trade and profession, as well as the titled lines of Europe, are represented among the 400 passengers. The Manchuria will arrive May 2.

Derrick Browne, 4-year-old British screen actor who crossed the Atlantic alone on the White Star liner Celtic, is a passenger. He is coming to Hollywood.

Others include the Marchioness de Larrinaga of Madrid and Paris; Maj. G. Dehriz, Spanish diplomat, and Smith L. Block, an American paper king.

The Pacific Mail liner Venezuela sailed for Havana, and New York yesterday with 125 passengers and one of the largest cargoes ever carried from this port by a passenger liner. Dr. Albert Solland, Santa Fe official and prominent yachtsman, was a passenger, accompanied by Mrs. Solland.

Advices to the local offices of the Dollar Steamship Line from Capt. K. A. Ahlin indicate that the President Harrison, completing the pathfinding tour of the world for the Dollar Line, will arrive here on schedule at daylight on the 21st inst. She has thirty passengers for this port.

FILM MERGER IS COMPLETED

Metro, Goldwyn and Mayer Interests Now One

Papers Signed in East; All Stars Are Retained

Production Will Center at Culver City Studio

Final steps in the merging of the interests of Metro Pictures, Goldwyn pictures and the Louis B. Mayer Company were taken in New York yesterday, official announcement of the $83,000,000 combine being made here by Mr. Mayer in his confirmation of reports from New York.

The negotiations, which were instituted by F. J. Godsol, president of the Goldwyn, were successfully concluded when the principals signed the necessary documents. The new organization is to be formally known as the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Pictures Corporation.

Mr. Mayer will have affiliated with him Irving G. Thalberg, formerly director-general of Universal for four years and who has been with Mr. Mayer for the past year, and Harry Rapf, prominent independent producer.

Marcus Loew, president of Metro, will hold a similar office in the merged corporation. Louis B. Mayer will be vice-president and will have charge of all production activities of the new organization. F. J. Godsol, former president of Goldwyn, and Edward Bowes, vice-president, will be on the board of directors of the merged Goldwyn company.

The merger greatly increases the already vast number of theaters owned, controlled or operated by Marcus Loew. The Capitol, New York, the California and Miller's theaters in Los Angeles, the Ascher Circuit of twenty theaters in Chicago and houses in Seattle, Tacoma, Wash., and Portland, Or., all of which were controlled or operated by Goldwyn, are now added to the Loew chain. This makes Marcus Loew the director of approximately 350 theaters in all parts of the United States.

The Goldwyn studios at Culver City will be the center of the new company's production activities. The old Metro studio will be sold, as the land on which it is built is worth, on the basis of present Hollywood real estate prices, about $1,000,000, according to eastern officials.

The Metro-Goldwyn company will continue the production of "Ben Hur," which is now in the making abroad, a company having been sent to Rome for the purpose. All directors and stars under contract to Goldwyn will continue to work for the merged companies.

Among the directors who will be grouped together in this new consolidation are Rex Ingram, Fred Niblo, John M. Stahl, Robert Vignola, Reginald Barker, Victor Seastrom, Rupert Hughes, Eric Von Stroheim, Hobart Henley, Marshall Neilan, Elinor Glyn, Frank Borzage, Monta Bell, King Vidor, Robert Z. Leonard and others.

The star list will include Mae Murray, Ramon Navarro, Laurette Taylor, Eileen Pringle, Elinor Boardman, Claire Windsor, Norma Shearer, Renee Adoree, Hedda Hopper, Conrad Nagel, Lew Cody, Huntley Gordon, Robert Fraser and other screen favorites.

Cosmopolitan productions will release its product through Metro-Goldwyn for the present, though no permanent arrangement has as yet been made.

Among those responsible for the amalgamation was Joseph M. Schenck, producer of the Talmadge and Keaton pictures, who is also interested in Metro, and his brother, Nicholas Schenck, an officer in the latter organization.

The deal was held up for several days, owing to a spirited effort on the part of P. A. Powers, prominent film man and formerly heavily interested in the Universal Film Corporation, to get control of the Goldwyn company. Powers was seriously considered by th edirectors of the Goldwyn company, but it was found negotiations with Marcus Loew had proceeded so far that any other arrangement than that finally made was impossible.

NO SERVICES AT MT. RUBIDOUX

Easter Sunrise Meeting Canceled to Avoid Large Gatherings

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

RIVERSIDE, April 17.—Following a meeting of business men with officials of the Mt. Rubidoux Easter sunrise service this afternoon, it was announced that the service set for Sunday had been canceled.

The action was not taken on account of any other consideration than a desire to co-operate with other Southern California cities in discouraging any large outdoor gatherings at this time, officials declared.

FINANCE DRIVE SUCCESS SURE

Results of First Day Are Highly Pleasing

Subscribers Asked to Pay Only by Check

Long Beach and Fullerton Promise Support

Firing the opening gun in the campaign through which officers expect to list 25,000 members in the Greater Los Angeles Association, 500 salesmen yesterday began work in the business district of the city. Although no tabulation of the returns was made last night, it was reported from association headquarters in the Hill-street Building that the results of the first day's drive were highly satisfactory and indicated that the task of bringing the membership to the desired figure will be accomplished in record time.

Those in charge of the campaign yesterday issued a request that business men and others who sign up applications take precautions that they are giving their subscriptions to qualified salesmen. These salesmen are all supplied with proper credentials.

PAY BY CHECK

Cash subscriptions should not be given in any event. Salesmen are instructed to ask for checks payable to W. D. Longyear, treasurer of the Greater Los Angeles Association. Adherence to this check regulation, it was pointed out, will preclude any possibility of fraud.

Assurances of support continues to pour into association headquarters, according to President Harry H. Merrick, who said yesterday that the response from the city proper and the outlying districts as well has been so widespread that success of the organization is assured.

CITIES JOIN MOVE

At a meeting of the Long Beach Chamber of Commerce yesterday, members of that organization indorsed the movement by a unanimous vote after hearing addresses on the purposes of the association made by Rex B. Goodcell and S. H. Woodruff.

Fullerton, through its Chamber of Commerce, also pledged support to the association and to the Industrial and Finance Corporation which the association purposes to organize. Among the speakers at the Fullerton meeting were Mr. Goodcell, T. B. Talbert of Anaheim, chairman of the Orange County Board of Supervisors, A. B. Hayden of Santa Ana, William Schumaker of Anaheim, E. C. Robertson of Orange and L. E. Tarbox of Huntington Beach.

GORGE VIEW IN COLORADO IS IMPROVED

Railroad Representative Tells of New Facilities for Observation

Travelers through the famous Royal Gorge in Colorado this summer will have better chance for observation than formerly, according to Fred Wild of Denver, chief traffic officer of the Denver and Rio Grande Western Railroad, now at the Biltmore.

"Our road has erected a platform 700 feet long in the middle of the gorge and through trains will stop there for ten minutes to allow the passengers to get out and look around," said Mr. Wild. "Prior to this sightseeing facilities have been provided by means of roofless coaches, while the train passed through this scenic section, but tourists have suggested that this did not give them the opportunity for observation that they desired."

Mr. Wild said the tourist traffic this year promises to be heavier than ever before, according to advices reaching his road. The Rio Grande is putting on an additional train June 1, to accommodate the increased travel between Denver and Salt Lake City.

RAILWAY PLANS STIR CITY

Prospect of New Transcontinental Road to Los Angeles Spurs Development

The imminent prospect of a new transcontinental railway with its western terminus in Los Angeles, as told in yesterday's Times, was the chief topic of discussion in industrial and transportation circles yesterday and the opinion was unanimously expressed that the announcement will serve as a tremendous spur to the present program of industrial development in Los Angeles.

The building of this road by a syndicate comprising the Rock Island, El Paso and Southwestern, Texas and Pacific and some smaller railway interests, will probably actually start this summer, according to H. B. Wilkinson, president of the Tidewater Main Line Association, an organization interested in furthering the plans of the Tucson, Phoenix and Tidewater Railway Company to build a road from Tucson to Phoenix. The interests of this company have been taken over by the El Paso and Southwestern, which has also bought a forty-acre tract adjoining the Plaza, in Los Angeles, for terminal purposes.

The trackage required to bring the Rock Island syndicate into Los Angeles on its own rails will consist of this leg from Tucson to Phoenix and from Phoenix to Los Angeles. At Phoenix the road will connect with the Santa Fe Parker cut-off to Cadiz and permission is being sought for the use of this trackage pending the building of the Phoenix-Los Angeles leg.

The El Paso and Southwestern is reported to have paid $7,000,000 for the forty acres near the Plaza, bought from L. E. Hanchett. Similar facilities for railway yards in Phoenix are reported to have cost $500,000. While the

New Golf and Country Club Incorporated

Papers of incorporation were filed yesterday by twelve prominent sportsmen of the harbor district for the organization and establishment in the Palos Verdes Hills, overlooking the town of San Pedro, of the Acropolis Golf, White Point, of the Acropolis Athletic and Country Club.

A fifty-year lease has been taken, it was announced, on 125 acres of the Sepulveda estate, of which 110 acres fronts directly on the sea. The course, to be constructed by Willard Spalding, will be constructed under the supervision of William Thomas, with the clubhouse and swimming pool. Approximately $100,000. The course will be of eighteen holes with natural hazards and covering about 6500 yards. It is planned to have it opened to members in July.

Those named in the papers of incorporation are Eliot J. Ashe, Howard Mahar, Phillip M. Cate, Herbert Killian, Lazard Lisenby, Charles Ackler, Abe Henry, James Dodson, Jr., Henry Gee, Albert Sepulveda, Clyde Bailey and Tom Morlaney.

SUSPECT AT HARBOR TAKEN INTO CUSTODY

SPECIFIC CHARGE OF PUBLIC DISTURBANCE MADE BY OFFICERS

Peter Rosas, alias Peter [illegible], said to be a Spanish seaman, was arrested at Los Angeles harbor yesterday charged with disturbing the peace, after Mrs. M. E. Dewey and Mrs. B. A. Hughes of 1500 Twelfth street, Los Angeles harbor, said they saw him assault their two little girls.

EX-NAVAL OFFICER IS FORGER SUSPECT

Edward Mayerle, 30 years of age, former naval lieutenant, and during the war an army flight officer, was arrested yesterday by the department store at Ninth and Broadway on a charge of forgery. The arrest was made by Detectives Lieutenants Hartmeyer and Finn. The detectives attempted to get Mayerle on the store floor to check on the [illegible]

LIONS HUNT IS TOLD TO LIONS

R. T. Burge Describes His African Experiences

Found Sewing Machines in Wild Places

Soldiers' Monument for Square Explained

Though he and his wife sailed 2000 miles up the Yang-tse-kiang River seeking a wild place where no white men had ever been before, the quest proved fruitless, R. T. Burge told the members of the Lions Club at their luncheon at the Biltmore yesterday. Mr. Burge was the principal speaker at the meeting.

"We found the place wild enough when we landed all right," said Mr. Burge, "but we also found a tiny store selling Standard Oil kerosene and Singer sewing machines."

He observed he had traveled for fifteen years in out-of-the-way corners of the earth, but never had discovered a place where some other Caucasian hadn't preceded him.

"But my wife did achieve the distinction of visiting places that no other white woman had seen when we trekked into the hinterland of Africa seeking wild game," he declared. "She also distinguished herself by shooting the first lion on the expedition, which penetrated some 500 miles into the jungle."

Mr. Burge returned with hundreds of specimens of animals and birds from his hunting trip, which covered a period of eighteen months and extended over thousands of miles of territory in Africa and Asia. He informed his audience that he will place these trophies on exhibition in Los Angeles soon where they will be open to the inspection of the public.

The club was also addressed briefly by Maj. Robert C. Cotton, military instructor of the One Hundred and Sixtieth Infantry Regiment, located here, who spoke briefly of the soldiers' monument being erected in Pershing Park. He stated that the monument, a bronze statue of a doughboy, will arrive in Los Angeles on May 18 and will be ready for unveiling soon thereafter.

RULING FOR WORKER IS IMPORTANT

High Court Decision in Fatality Case Discussed by Commissioner

Employees and their dependents in the State have won a decision of vital importance as regards compensation due them for industrial injuries, State Industrial Accident Commissioner John W. Carrigan declared yesterday in discussing the recent State Supreme Court decision in the case of the Western Pacific Railroad against the commission which upheld the Workmen's Compensation Act.

"An attack was made on certain essential provisions of the act which if they had been successful would have deprived disabled workmen in many instances from recovering compensation for industrial injury," the commissioner said.

"Even a more serious aspect would have resulted," he declared, "in the far-reaching effect it would have had on workmen's families. Money which dependents now receive when workmen are fatally injured and which is equal to three times their average annual earnings would have been cut off."

The case was on an appeal from a decision of the Industrial Accident Commission, which gave to Mrs. Lucy Johnson, widow of Howard Johnson, an employee of the Western Pacific Railroad, $5000 as a death benefit.

Johnson was fatally hurt while riding an unlighted bicycle in the performance of duty. The company appealed, asserting that Johnson had unnecessarily increased the danger connected with his employment by not having a light on his bicycle and for that reason the company could not be held responsible.

Justice Lennon, in writing the decision of the court, Mr. Carrigan said, pointed out that the common law was superseded by the Workmen's Compensation Act and that the employer's plea that Johnson had shown contributory negligence could not be recognized as a defense.

Unique Campaign Sticker Makes Hit

Telling Officer About It

Miss Mildred McCollum shows Traffic Officer Ben F. Russell how a "Cal 24" license plate looks to a good Coolidge supporter and, below, green and white Coolidge campaign sticker on windshield, where it has entire approval of Officer Russell and Coolidge campaign headquarters.

A CALIFORNIAN in Washington was asked if President Calvin Coolidge will win the Presidential primary election in this State, May 6.

His rejoiner was an emphatic affirmative.

"And why shouldn't California vote for Coolidge," said he, "when we have more than 1,000,000 automobiles in the State with two license plates on each machine and each plate bearing the Coolidge campaign slogan—'Cal—24'?"

This remark, catching the fancy of one of the capital newspaper correspondents, was wired to various publications throughout the United States and inspired one of the President's admirers here to have printed a campaign sticker conforming in size, color and appearance with the California motor license plate.

Several thousand of the unique campaign stickers have been obtained for distribution in Los Angeles and Southern California and may be obtained at the Coolidge Campaign Headquarters, second floor, Angelus Hotel.

Ernst Lubitsch, Genius of Films, Asks Citizenship

Ernst Lubitsch, motion-picture director, yesterday filed an application for citizenship papers with the clerk of the United States District Court. He gave his age as 32 years and his birthplace as Berlin. At the same time Heinz Blanke, giving his occupation as assistant director, filed an application for citizenship. He gave his age as 22 years and his birthplace as Berlin.

Lubitsch directed Pola Negri in picture made on the continent. He also directed Mary Pickford in "Rosita." Pola Negri's present director, Dimitri Boakhovetzky, and his wife, Irene Boakhovetzky, recently filed applications for citizenship. They gave their ages as 30 years and 24 years, respectively, and their birthplace as Moscow.

FLOOD BOND ISSUE PLAN IS OPPOSED

Investigators' Report to Citizen Committee Advises Defeat

At a directors' meeting of the Citizens' Committee of Ten Thousand yesterday at the Clark Hotel, the Committee on Bonds, consisting of Chester W. Brown, chairman, E. P. Clark and Hugo Burgwald, submitted a report which reads:

"Your committee has made an exhaustive investigation into the proposed Flood Control bond issue of $35,300,000, which has been placed on the May 6 ballot by the Board of Supervisors of Los Angeles county, and has come to the conclusion, after consulting with eminent engineers who have devoted their life work to flood control matters, and after making a survey of the report of Chief Engineer J. W. Reagan, of the Los Angeles Flood Control District, that in the absence of a fuller report of the engineering plans and a more detailed presentation by the Board of Supervisors of the whole matter of flood control, we believe that these bonds should not be indorsed and, in fact, should be opposed.

"There appears to be little question among engineers and laymen generally regarding the necessity for both flood control and the conservation of flood water in Los Angeles county. It seems, however, to be the general opinion that the Board of Supervisors should have had its plans made public in detail, reviewed by a competent and independent board of engineers.

"It is the further finding of your committee that a part of this program would necessarily contemplate the spoliation of valuable public property now used for park purposes in at least one of the districts affected, viz., Pasadena.

"It is therefore the recommendation of your committee that the Flood Control bond issue of $35,300,000 be opposed by the Citizens' Committee of Ten Thousand and the voters of Los Angeles county be urged to vote against these bonds."

Nine Unsolved Bank Robberies Shown in Year

Twenty-one of the thirty-bank robberies committed in Los Angeles county since last May have been solved, according to an official report completed yesterday by Capt. Harvel Bell of the Sheriff's robbery squad, and filed with Chief Criminal Deputy Sheriff Wright. In all of the twenty-one cases, the criminals were arrested and their identies were known.

Twenty-two of the bank robberies were committed within the city limits of Los Angeles. The remaining eight occurred in smaller county cities. Of the twenty-two Los Angeles city robberies, eight were solved by the Sheriff's office or in co-operation with the police department, according to the report. Nine of the city robberies remain unsolved, while all of he robberies in the county outside of the city have been solved, with only six men to be apprehended.

as the finest physical entry of the week.

Even the babies themselves seem to sense that the city's attention is soon to be turned on them, for they assumed all sorts of prima donna airs yesterday at the office. A dignified silence was maintained by them when asked for their pictures, their size, age and other necessary data.

Since its origin eight years ago, baby week has increased in interest and popularity, until now mothers register their babies as early as December for fear they might be too late. The Mothers' Educational Center, with Dr. Maud Wilde as president, is doing a splendid work in the city examining babies, instructing mothers as to their care and in a general way overseeing the development of children until they are 6 years of age. It has branches in all parts of the county, and babies are being registered from outlying parts.

The examination of children will start Monday morning in the church parish house and will continue through the week. At the close the name of the baby who shows the finest physical development will be announced.

Among the babies who were registered yesterday were Jeanette Thompson, 11 months, of 1814 Oak street; William Le Roy Jones, 21 months, 352a Garnett street; Arleen Shirley Johnson, 18 months, 3528 1-2 Garnett street, and Celia Astor, 11 months.

TOT BOOKED FOR VOYAGE TO HAWAII

Little Thelma Murphy to Sail on Calawaii to Join New Parents

Carrying upward of 150 passengers and a large cargo of freight the Los Angeles-Honolulu liner Calawaii will sail on her nineteenth voyage to the Hawaiian Islands tomorrow noon.

Included among the passengers who are en route to the Paradise Isles is Miss Thelma Murphy, 4 years of age. Under the watchful eye of a stewardess this tiny traveler will make the long voyage to Honolulu alone to meet her new parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. K. Murphy, the girl's aunt and uncle who recently adopted her through Mrs. E. M. Kaschub, Los Angeles county official.

Others include Mr. and Mrs. James A. Stitt, capitalist; Mr. and Mrs. Alexander and Mr. Edward A. White, real estate broker, and Mrs. White, all of Los Angeles; Daniel Tweedie, San Diego newspaper man, and Mrs. Tweedie; Mrs. Dena Andrews and daughter Ruby, and Miss Nadine Jones, all of Long Beach, and Col. and Mrs. Beverly F. Browne en route to Schofield Barracks near Honolulu where Col. Browne will be stationed.

That the Hawaiian Islands are making arrangements for the large number of tourists scheduled to pass through Los Angeles during the coming summer was indicated by Mr. Lowen Sale, president of the Western Wholesale Drug Company of Los Angeles, who was a returning passenger on the Calawaii on her last voyage from the Islands. Mr. Sale says that some of the large hotels are making extensive improvements preparatory to the rush.

STEPS TO BE TAKEN TO CLOSE UP RANCH

Steps seeking to force the abandonment of stock raising on a ranch operated by J. A. Agajanian, near Lomita, because of alleged unsanitary conditions and improper observance of hygienic measures, were taken by officers yesterday following an inspection of the place. The inspection was made by Dr. A. C. Woodward of the Federal Department of Agriculture; J. H. Childs, City Sanitary Engineer; Dr. Ewing Brown, Deputy Health Surgeon; A. T. Hall, State Humane Officer; Capt. W. L. Hagenbaugh of the harbor police and Dr. A. Clark, County Inspector. Agajanian recently was arrested by Humane Officer Hall and will face trial in Judge McConnell's Justice Court next Friday on the charge of cruelty to dumb animals.

HAROLD DICKSON AND HILDA HUNTER MARRY

Hilda Hunter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Hunter of Hollywood, and Harold Laurence Dickson, a captain in the British army during the war, now engaged in business at Hollywood, were married yesterday morning at Riverside. The ceremony was performed by Dr. John Gardner of the First Congregational Church at Riverside. Mrs. H. H. Dickson, a sister of the bride and the wife of the groom's brother, acted as matron of honor. The newlyweds left yesterday for La Jolla, where they will spend their honeymoon.

MAN COUGHS UP DRUG EVIDENCE; CONVICTED

Elmer Smith literally coughed up enough evidence yesterday to send himself to jail for sixty days. The evidence, consisting of a bindle of morphine, had been swallowed by the prisoner just before he was placed under arrest by officers of the narcotic squad. The officers, however, called in science to aid them. The prisoner was taken to the Receiving Hospital and the rest was accomplished. Police Judge Richardson, after one look at the carefully collected evidence, imposed sentence.

SOLVES CREAM PUFF CASE

Salvatore Campenelli Faced With Half-eaten Pastry Bares Mystery That Has Baffled Police

The famous cream-puff mystery was solved at the Sheriff's office yesterday. It was one that had baffled Captain Harvey Bell's robbery squad since the day when Virgil Atcheson's store at Graham Station was visited by a cream-puff fiend who entered with two other men, a puff and a bottle of soda pop and departed with the cash register—and the solution was found in the startling confession of Salvatore Campenelli.

When Mr. Campenelli was arrested by Deputy Sheriffs White and Monteleone he denied any knowledge of the cream-puff mystery.

FACED WITH EVIDENCE

"Give a look at this!" exclaimed Deputy Sheriff White, flourishing a half-eaten cream puff in Mr. Campenelli's face.

It was a lovely cream puff, succulent though a trifle aged. Mr. Campenelli cringed before it.

"Give another look!" exclaimed Deputy Sheriff Monteleone, brandishing an empty sola-pop bottle. Mr. Campenelli recringed.

The cream puff and the pop bottle were the tell-tale clews that the deputies had found on the day of the crime. They inspired the confession from Mr. Campenelli. But he had not been alone. Two other men assisted him. They had invited his acquaintance on the first step of a street car.

TELLS OF TEMPTORS

Mr. Campenelli and his newfound friends went to Graham Station in quest of employment, the confesser related. It was noontime so, since Mr. Campenelli always lunches on cream puffs, he entered a store and purchased a few.

"I come out while I eat da cream puff," Mr. Campenelli told the deputies.

"'Let's-a sticka dees guy up,' my friends he say to me.

"'Nerve, I aint got it,' I say.

"My friends he geeve to me a gun. 'Go ahead,' he say.

"'You hold heem up. Wa stay by da outside.'

"So I go buy tree more da cream puff. I come back and my friends he say: 'Ah—you hold heem up, what?'

SENT BACK FOR HOLD-UP

"My friends he say: 'You go get da soda pop and hold heem up.'

"Mooch oblige, no, I say. Salvatore's nerve he aint got. I say to my friends he got so much da nerve why don't he hold heem up? My friends he say for me to bring da bottle and he will hold him up with me. Mooch oblige, I say. An' my friends he go in, take da cash regeester. Salvatore just eat da cream puff and drink da soda pop."

TEN-YEAR SENTENCE TO INDIAN

Notice of Appeal Given for Rogers in Killing of Japanese Driver

Dawes Rogers, Cherokee Indian convicted of manslaughter in connection with the death of Matajiro Nakamoto, a Japanese truck driver, was sentenced yesterday by Judge Keetch to a term of from one to ten years in San Quentin penitentiary.

Sentence was imposed after Guy Eddie, attorney for Rogers, had made an appeal for leniency for his client. Eddie argued that a term in prison would be more to the detriment than to the benefit of Rogers. He pointed out that the convicted man had enjoyed a good reputation previous to his arrest, that he was possessed of a substantial income from oil interests in Indian lands in Oklahoma and that he was also under the supervision of the government. A term in San Quentin, he said, would result in his client being turned back to society with more of a criminal bent than any with which he might now be possessed.

Judge Keetch, however, held that San Quentin was more of a correctional institution than a prison and told Eddie that Rogers should benefit from his incarceration.

Subsequently, Judge Keetch denied Rogers's motion for a new trial and also his application for probation. Eddie then served oral notice of appea' from the court's findings.

Testimony at the trial was to the effect that Rogers struck Nakamoto over the head with a steel instrument following an argument which started when an automobile in which Rogers was riding backed into a truck operated by the Japanese. Rogers contended he acted in self-defense.

TRADE EXTENSION SCHOOL DISCUSSED

EIGHT-WEEK TERM PLANNED FOR SUMMER; LONGER SESSION LIKELY

The Trade Extension High School will have an eight-week term this summer and will continue the entire summer period if legal warrant can be found for keeping it open, the Board of Education decided yesterday. In any event, it was said, if trade associations will put up the money the school will be kept open until fall.

The board decided that neither of two sites for a high school in South Hollywood was satisfactory and decided to defer action until a third site is offered. It was practically decided to take an option on ten acres in Lomita for school purposes and this probably will be done at the next meeting.

SEIZED GOODS SOLD

Schwaebe Takes in $756 at Sale for Uncle Sam

United States Collector of Customs Schwaebe conducted an auction of smuggled and confiscated goods yesterday. He brought in to Uncle Sam's coffers $756. This included an automobile sold for $45.50 and a diamond ring for $470.

The next auction will be in July when goods valued at $13,000 seized at the San Diego Exposition will be sold.

DIRECTOR OF FILMS SUED FOR DIVORCE

Virginia Caldwell Ruggles Charges Desertion; Money Troubles Blamed

Virginia Caldwell Ruggles, former actress, yesterday filed suit for divorce against Wesley Ruggles, film director, charging desertion.

When the separation of the couple became known in the latter part of March, Mrs. Ruggles said she did not contemplate a divorce.

"My husband and I simply could not agree," she said. "There is no third person involved in our troubles." She also declared that disagreements over financial matters caused the trouble.

Ruggles recently directed Agnes Ayres for Lasky in the East. His wife formerly was an actress in New York appearing in Raymond Hitchcock's "Hitchy Koo." She also is well known in art circles of New York.

She charges Ruggles left her March 21, last. It is understood a property settlement has been made. The couple were married November 24, 1920, at Riverside. They have no children.

REQUEST FOR STAGE LINE PERMIT FILED

SERVICE FROM SAN FERNANDO TO PROPOSED VETERAN HOSPITAL PLANNED

Application was filed with the State Railroad Commission yesterday by the Original State Line for a certificate to operate a passenger automobile service between San Fernando and the proposed United States Disabled Veterans' Hospital to be erected several miles from the city. The application says actual construction of the hospital is to begin within sixty days and that there is no transportation service to accommodate the district.

Permission was also asked for a certificate to operate a bus line between San Fernando and the Olive View Sanitarium as the free service operated by the city was recently discontinued.

Bekins Fireproof Storage Company filed application for permission to extend its household shipping business by truck to include service from Los Angeles to Glendale, Pasadena, San Pedro and other beach towns and Banning.

MAN IS FOUND DEAD IN GAS-FILLED ROOM

Lying dead in a gas-filled bathroom but with the gas jet turned off, Herman Reith, 55 years of age, a baker, was found yesterday at 1322 Mytle street. Though the police recorded the case as suicide no one could assign any reason and the theory was advanced that he had found the jet on when he entered the room and had collapsed before he could get out after turning it off. He has no known relatives. The body was sent to the Connell undertaking rooms.

Remarkable New Discovery
Ends Drudgery of Polishing

Invisible finish protects bright metalware from rust, tarnish or corrosion

SCIENCE has found another way to make your housework easier. Instead of wasting many weary hours scouring and rubbing with polish on silver and other bright metal ware, you can now finish these metals with Izen and they will keep their lustre for a year or more!

It is a simple process. First polish the metal surface bright. Then wipe the surface with alcohol and apply Izen with a soft, free camels-hair brush in every direction. In 10 minutes Izen is dry and the metal surface is protected indefinitely from dampness, rust or tarnish. The Izen is invisible and will not flake or peel. Washing in warm water will not affect it. Weather will not harm it. That is why many tedious hours of polishing will soon be saved.

BAY CITY POLIC HOLD 'CAT EYE

Description Fits Suspect Banditry Here

Girl is Wanted in $40,0 Local Robberies

Arrested in Attempt Dispose of Gems

The girl known by the descr alias of "Cat Eyes" who suspected of robbing wealthy fa of Los Angeles and vicin of nearly 40,000 in gems wh breaking as a maid, is believed have at last fallen into the clut of the police, according to report from San Francisco lodged late yesterday by Assista Captain of Detectives Cato.

The suspect held at San Fra was taken into custody, police reported, when she attemp to sell jewelry. Her descripti is said to fit that of the muc sought-for girl who slipped aw from Los Angeles after she co filled her fourth and largest ro jewelry in the past few months. T suspect gave her name as Cathe Moore, the report stated.

PHOTOS ASKED

Capt. Cato telegraphed the po of the northern city to run additional description of the gi with her photographs and the as sorted loot recovered.

The most recent robbery attrib uted to the girl was at the hom of William R. Staats, wealthy res dent of Pasadena on the 3rd inst when more than $20,000 worth of jew elry disappeared from a safe a the time the maid left.

Other robberies attributed to the girl are those on October 19 1923, at the home of Mrs. J. C Watts, 621 South Norton avenue in which $2500 worth of jewelry was taken; on November 6, 1923 at the home of James Neville, 73 South Gramercy Place, where gems valued at $2500 were taken.

POSED AS MAID

On January 20, last, Mrs. A. Tauber, 1527 Orange Grove avenue, was robbed of $7500 worth of jewelry by her maid and male companion in a bold hold-up when Mrs. Tauber returned home late at night.

It is all of the robberies said to have been committed by "Cat Eyes" she followed the procedure of obtaining employment as a maid and then familiarized herself with the location of valuables. The disappearance of the maid and the jewelry followed.

Police records show that a girl of the same description is known to practically every large city in the United States, according to Capt. Cato.

PROBATION GRANTED IN AUTO THEFT

Youthful Victim of War Experiences Ordered to Go Home

Allan A. Wilson, 22 years of age, former Columbia University student, war veteran, soldier of fortune and son of a Bridgeport (Ct.) banker, yesterday was granted probation by Judge Keetch after he had pleaded guilty to a charge of grand larceny. Terms of the probation provided that Wilson go back to his home, follow the straight and narrow path and report to the local probation officer once a month for two years, the reports to be made through his father, Lynn W. Wilson.

Wilson was charged with stealing an automobile February 13 belonging to Silvio Mannarelli of 1721 Sunset Boulevard. He was said to have driven the car to San Francisco, contemplating a transcontinental trip to his home in Connecticut. While on his way to Sacramento the machine ran out of gasoline and Wilson was taken into custody.

The probation officer's report stated that Wilson had entered the military service when he was a boy of 16 years of age and that he had been injured in a gas explosion and had been in a hospital in France. According to a letter received from his father, Allan Wilson's mental development was arrested by his war experiences.

Museum Junior Club Has Full Day's Schedule

Tomorrow will be a busy day for the Junior Club at the Southwest Museum, according to an announcement of activities yesterday.

From 10 a.m. to 12 o'clock there will be a natural-history field trip for the purpose of studying birds to be taken under the leadership of Elbert Benjamin and Alfred S. Pratt. The art-appreciation division will meet from 10 to 11 a.m. under Mrs. Nell Blooker Torrey, while the drama and pageantry division will meet at the same time. The fair division will meet at the studio under Mrs. Beatty. Mrs. Mara Baumgardt will conduct the astronomy division in place of the regular music meeting.

In observance of patriotic week, Dr. J. G. Van Zandt, an A.E.F. man, will explain various relics of the World War on display at the museum.

The Sunday lecture program has been abandoned owing to Easter Sunday. It will be given the following Sunday.

The Argonauts Club will meet Thursday at 2 p.m. An illustrated lecture on Japan will be given by Terrance C. Welch. Mrs. A. Thayer will be in charge.

The Collegienne Suit
The Collegienne Frock

Three Types Featured and Illustrated at $25

For Easter, for Campus, for School Party or Prom—Bullock's Clothes Collegienne invite the Easter vacationist to assemble her new Springtime wardrobe.

Her Boy-like Suit of Smart Tweed

Illustrating how the college girl adapts the tailored mode to her own personality. Straight and slim, this suit for Easter or school-going trunks. Rich brown tweed bound with flannel in burning sand or copper shades. Smartly tailored and unusual in its low price—$25.

Tucked! Her Daytime Frock of Silk

With its choir-boy collar and flowing tie. Interesting with its intermittent rows of tiny tucks, used vertically. Or perhaps she prefers something less severe—a frock with a touch of cream lace. One that uses buttons, plaits or tiers. A collection of frocks which smartly express her individual type—exceptional at $25.00.

Bouffant—Her Dance Frock of Taffeta

In quaint basque effect — with hooped skirt Trimmed with lace, with ruffles, with touches of metallic ribbon. In those lovely pastel tints or deeper, more vivid shades. At $25.00.

—The Collegienne Shops, Bullock's Fifth Floor.

From France! Beaded Blouses, Here, $12.50

Welcome news for women who do not care for tailored types—who prefer the softened, flattering outlines of the beaded blouse.

These French Blouses of heavy crepe de chine are lavish with their use of beads applied as only the French seem to be able to apply them.

—In the New Costume Section of Blouses, Skirts and Sweaters, Bullock's Fourth Floor.

At $11.— In White Kid or Patent

In tan calf as well as white kid and black patent. Semi-sports Pumps at $11.00.

A Colonial Sandal in patent or white kid—at the same attractive price—$11.00.

Sports Hose $1.00 or $1.25 Pair

—Bullock's Sportswear Store, Seventh Street Building.

New Summer Butterick Patterns

are now at Bullock's. Also, the New Butterick Quarterly containing 600 summer styles and the May Delineator, which give one an idea of the many fascinating styles for the season to come.

—Butterick Pattern Section, Bullock's Second Floor.

Not for many seasons has neckwear been so fashionable—so variable—so important.

The Suit—the smartest contribution to spring fashions has been the inspiration for many modes of neckwear.

The Guimpe, of real lace, caters to the woman who does not care for severity in neckwear.

Neckwear for Easter at Bullock's in a Style Introduction $1.00 to $37.50.

—Neckwear Section, Bullock's First Floor.

In Bengaline---Three Favored Hat-types---

The cloche, the tricorne, the roll-brim. The three tiny shapes most approved by fashion,—and featured at Bullock's to complete the Easter ensemble.

In bengaline—the fabric that the season deems so smart for Hats that emphasize the boyish—the tailored.

In white, in black-and-white, in black. And some in the new coppery brown.

All briefly trimmed with merely a bow, and cocarde, a buckle or monogram. At $10. At $12.50. At $15. Also some higher.

—Millinery Fashion Section, Bullock's Third Floor.

New Negligees, $5.95 Of Box-Loom Crepe!

Of that delightful summer fabric—box-loom crepe. Lustrous in finish, cool and of especially good quality. And how beautifully it launders.

One would expect the price to be so very much more than $5.95.

—The Negligee Section, Bullock's Fourth Floor.

5 New Shades of 6-Inch Caracul, $6 Yd!

8-Inch Caracul at $8.50 Yard!

Prices which represent a mere fraction of what this fur would sell for in a regular way.

Fine quality of Caracul—silky and well matched pelts in

Fashionable Fur Shades—Platinum—Beige—Oakwood—Peach—New Cocoa

Three-quarter length coats for Easter can be made smarter by adding a collar of this fur at a meager expense, for instance, ¾ of a yard at $6.00—$4.50!

—Trimming Section, Bullock's Second Floor.

Women's Colored Linen 'Kerchiefs, 25c each

—Women's Handkerchief Section, Bullock's First Floor.

The Skirt-Blouse —Costume

Interpreted In Blue Flannel

From Bullock's new section, which is expressing the smart costume by harmonizing the skirt and blouse—or the skirt and sweater.

The Jumper Blouse, $19.50
The Plaited Skirt, $14.75
The Complete Costume, $34.25

—In the New Costume Section of Blouses, Skirts and Sweaters, Bullock's Fourth Floor.

WHY COTTAGE?
Isn't it about time to change the name of cottage cheese to apartment-house cheese—and raise the price accordingly?

BUT NOT MUCH
If this bobbed-hair fad keeps up at its present rate a Lady Godiva soon might be able to attract attention at even one of our bathing beaches.

GOLDEN VOICES
Speaking of trained voices, it appears in connection with one of the government investigations that auctioneers selling supplies from the War Department made more than $40,000 a day in commissions. The voice of an accomplished auctioneer in the midst of his opportunities will net more than the warblings of a Caruso.

REFORMS IN BULGARIA
Reformers will give three cheers for Bulgaria. The government is forbidding indulgence in cigars or pipes. But wait a minute. The reason is that cigarette-making is the leading industry of Bulgaria, but lots of the Bulgars prefer American cigars. To head this off patriotic Bulgars are expected to smear themselves with home-brewed cigarettes.

BIG LEAGUE STUFF
The French, the English and the German governments are indicating a belief that the Dawes Commission findings will be accepted. They will at least furnish a basis for a settlement of the financial complications resulting from the war. In that respect the document will be the greatest product of the aftermath. It will be even more potent than the Treaty of Versailles.

COSTLY CHATTER
Even gossip comes high. It costs the government thousands of dollars to bring witnesses to Washington to repeat the chatter that was said to have been heard around the convention halls of the big political parties four years ago. This is the sort of farce that is being carried on under the pretense of accomplishing justice. The little joker is about the only card that Congress can play with.

THE WET HOPE
Gov. Al Smith appears to be the enthusiastic choice of the Democrats of New York and Wisconsin and the glow must come from the belief that a term of Smith would mean a limbering up of the Volstead Act. If any Smith bags the Democratic nomination it will be over the solemn and vehement protest of William Jennings Bryan. That veteran will make no compromises with the forces of evil.

THE GARAGE INDUSTRY
Henry Ford doesn't seem to care about going into the gasoline business. He seems content to leave that to the oil barons. But he intends to break into the garage end of the game. He feels a certain obligation in the matter of providing parking space for his millions of road rabbits. It is declared that as a starter he will build three garages in Boston—to house about 3000 cars apiece. It is hoped to operate them on the club plan with a cafeteria and other conveniences in connection with each. The streets of Boston are very narrow and the parking problem has affected the use of the motor. By providing plenty of anchorage Henry will kill two birds with one stone. He will stimulate the use of his mouse traps and at the same time make a profit on their upkeep. What he does in Boston he may do in other cities. He is likely to conduct more parking castles and incidentally acquire bits of valuable downtown property in the growing cities of America. If Providence spares him Henry will ultimately have all the money in the world. He has the Rockefellers working nights for him now.

HIS OWN PLATFORM
In his address to New York Republicans our distinguished Secretary of State made the assertion that Calvin Coolidge was his own platform. In his words and acts since he attained the seat of power he has charted the course of Republicanism. Mr. Hughes declares that no other platform is necessary. Which is a known fact. So far as the citizenship of America is concerned there is little interest in platforms. The people indicate a desire to vote for Calvin Coolidge. The theory is that they wish to give opportunity and a square deal to one who has shown a purpose and intent to give everybody else a square deal. Yet the platform builders will be busy with their words and phrases. They will shine up the ancient platitudes and perhaps reveal some fresh material. But mostly they will incite bickering. There will be a group of hostiles whose efforts will be directed to the creation of a platform which the President could not consistently sustain. If he could be brought to repudiate the platform or reject a nomination under its auspices they would be content. It is their purpose to flout and embarrass the administration as much as possible. Yet the rank and file of Americans heartily rebuke this buccaneering. They are going to vote for Calvin Coolidge and they are going to bowl over every obstacle that stands in the way. If it wears the garb of a peanut politician so much the worse.

THE JAPANESE EXCLUSION BILL
Fundamental questions of serious import are involved in the Japanese exclusion legislation favored by the Senate. Declarations of principles are involved that may assume the importance half a century hence of the Monroe Doctrine at the present time. Statesmanship is required to solve these questions justly and conclusively. Inflammatory speeches and ultimatums may do a great deal of harm. They can do no good and should be suppressed.

Japan was unfortunate in having Hanihara for its Ambassador at Washington when this legislation was under consideration. His note of protest has a political flavor. It reads as though written to create a favorable impression in Japan, rather than in the United States. The Japanese jingoes seized avidly upon it. According to one leading Tokio newspaper, "Ambassador Hanihara's letter fully represents what the Japanese nation wants to say." The logical assumption from this would be that his reference to "grave consequences" voices what the Japanese people want to do.

The situation has been rendered more acute by the badly worded protest of the Japanese Ambassador. It sounded like a threat. It is one thing to say that a people should not do what it has a legal right to do, urging reasons of justice and morality; and a very different thing to say that it shall not do what under its own law it has a right to do. Language carrying a veiled threat only added fuel to the flame, making any modification that Japan might suggest impossible.

Equally unfortunate have been some of the inflammatory speeches made on the bill in the two houses. They have served to aggravate an already serious situation in Japan. Some of our Senators have been no more diplomatic than Ambassador Hanihara. It is always dangerous to enter into such important discussions with a campaign in the offing. For there are demagogues in both houses of Congress who spend the greater part of their time searching for something safe to rant about. They are always considering blocks of votes; and they welcome the opportunity to rant about the Japanese peril because the Japanese in this country have no vote.

As far as the present is concerned the proposed legislation will make no changes in fact in existing conditions. It simply writes into the law the present "gentlemen's agreement." It will not affect the rights of any Japanese now in this country. It does not withdraw from them the privilege to go on a visit to their home land and return. It does not modify any existing laws in regard to the ownership or lease of real estate.

It is opposed by the Japanese government on the principle that it denies that the Japanese are a Caucasian race and refuses to them rights that are granted to Caucasian peoples. The Japanese government accepted the "gentlemen's agreement" as a temporary expedient. But it is the apparent desire of Congress that this discrimination shall be based on principle that the exclusion shall be permanent. This policy, this distinction, is repugnant to the Japanese government and people.

That such a dispute should arise between the two peoples is regrettable; that it should be rendered more acute by the utterances of wild tongues and political demagogues in both nations is deplorable. But regrets for the past solve no problems for the future. The issue presents itself. Further delay would be only postponing the inevitable.

CALIFORNIA AND THE PRESIDENCY
The nomination of President Coolidge by the Republican convention, now assured, will be accomplished not because the President wants or seeks the office; not because political considerations demand his nomination and not because of any organized effort in his behalf, but solely because at this time and under the conditions existing in this nation Calvin Coolidge is the one outstanding figure whom the people of the United States regard as the man best fitted to head the Federal government.

Mr. Coolidge has not risen by accident in the respect and confidence of his countrymen. His ability, his character, his integrity, his courage, his judgment, all have been demonstrated, tested, proven. He speaks with conviction and with a vigor and clarity wholly in keeping with the honesty of his purpose. Had there been in him any weakness or selfishness; any hesitancy in performing duty or assuming responsibility, or the remotest suggestion now or at any time formerly of indecision as between a right course and a wrong course Mr. Coolidge could not have weathered the storms that have raged about him.

That as President he has been untouched either by hysteria or calculated malice is no less a tribute than the fact that as a candidate to succeed himself he has gained in popular favor and respect. Nomination of Mr. Coolidge on the first ballot taken by the Republican National Convention is assured and will become a fact within the next ten days, when States known to favor his candidacy instruct their delegates for him. He will have far more than a nominating majority, therefore, when the Republican electors on May 6 express their choice for President as between Mr. Coolidge, the actual Republican nominee, and Senator Hiram Johnson, whose candidacy has been unequivocally rejected by the Republicans of the nation.

Hence the California election, while no longer having a bearing upon the outcome of the Republican primary contest, in its relation to the final contest between the Republican nominee and the Democratic nominee has a national interest and influence requiring the thoughtful attention and consideration of the Republicans of this State.

By instructing its Republican delegation to support President Coolidge and his administration California will align itself with the representative Republican States of the Union and will materially aid in establishing harmony of action and unanimity of purpose of the Republican party under the leadership of the President. A delegation from California instructed for Senator Johnson will find itself in a small minority of disgruntled spirits out of step with party principles and progress and in direct opposition to the Republican spokesman. Senator Johnson represents no moral influence or movement within the Republican ranks, and it is only Johnson, the egotist and politician, who seeks to compare himself in this respect with a man of such acknowledged probity, integrity, honor and accomplished ideals as Calvin Coolidge.

Mr. Johnson's candidacy, now and as ever, is wholly his own. If he were a bigger man or less a politician he would urge California to make the nomination of the President unanimous, but this, of course, he will not do. Rather will he in this instance seek to repeat his tactics of 1912, of 1916 and of 1920, disregarding the welfare of his State and his constituency and inviting action which, if taken, will inevitably weaken again, as it has weakened in the past, the standing of California in the councils of the nation.

These are the facts and the issues which the Republican voters of California must face and decide when they vote in the Presidential preferential primary next month. From every thoughtful standpoint it would appear that the result will be a decisive indorsement of President Coolidge and his administration.

IN MEMORY OF A SLAVE
The West Indians are building a monument to the memory of Edmond Albino, who was born and died a slave. He learned why the vanilla plant, which bloomed as well on the islands as on the mainland, failed to produce beans. Due to a membrane over the pods, the pollen could not enter. The slave proved to the islanders that, by piercing the pods with a bamboo point, the plants could be cured of sterility. Since then insects have been imported to pierce the pods and effect fertilization, but the need of the insects was discovered by the slave. Posterity always preserves the memory of persons, however humble, who do something for mankind.

BLESSINGS OF SICKNESS
Though we look on serious illness as a grievous calamity, it also is among the most revealing blessings of life. It brings us back with a jerk to a proper sense of values and renewed confidence in the goodness of the world.

We are inclined to get so absorbed in business that we forget to love; so wrapped up in the pursuit of pleasure that we forget joy; so eager for money that we forget the riches of the heart; so obsessed with our personal ambitions that we forget our kinship with humanity; and even so self-satisfied with our own petty achievings that we forget God. And then comes sickness and in a flash shows us the worthlessness of our false gods compared to the things which really count.

The shadow of death falls on one dear to us and we learn in a moment how much more that life means than mere business, how much more our happiness is wrapped up in it than in the pleasures we pursue, how incalculably dearer it is than the money we strive for, how much we are dependent on the world we live in for sympathy and kindness and aid and how natural it is to bow our hearts in humble supplication to some Power higher than ourselves. No matter how skeptical or worldly we have grown we then learn how to pray again, in our hearts, if not openly, with all the simplicity which was ours in childhood.

Then people come to us, not only friends but people on whom we have no claim, to do what they can. "How's the little fellow this morning?" asks the grocer, with real friendly concern. "I sure do hope the little darlin's better," says the washwoman, with sincerity no one can question. "Run in and use our phone any time you want to—and be sure and let us know if there's anything we can do," insists the wealthy woman across the street—the one we used to think was such a snob. "Yes, and if you need our car any time, day or night, all you have to do is speak, you know," adds her husband the man we used to think didn't care a rap whether we and ours lived or died.

Shy little children force themselves to our door with queer little bunches of flowers and marred little picture books which they mutely present for the invalid. Even the tired school-teacher comes over after school to offer to sit by the bedside and tell fairy stories. It all makes a fellow who had got the warped idea that this is a cold and selfish world feel mighty humble.

If it weren't for serious illnesses and such great trials of spirit most of us could never realize the true beauty of sympathy nor know how soundly good the old world is at heart, whatever its superficial faults.

HOW IT STARTED

BY JEAN NEWTON

Prize Fighting

For the origin of the now popular sport, boxing, we must go back to the days of antiquity. We have a reference to it in Homer's "Iliad," written 900 years before Christ. This reference to contemporary prize fighting is in a description of the games at the funeral of Patroclus. The champions engaged were Epeus, the builder of the celebrated wooden horse, and Eurysalus. It is gathered from the account that the combatants were naked except for a belt.

According to Virgil similar games took place within the walls of Troy at the funeral of Hector, the principal boxers here being Dares and the great Butex. Dares won.

The idea of gloves came in the eighteenth century, but they were used only in practice bouts, the real fighting being done with bare hands until the latter half of the last century, when boxing became a scientific sport conducted according to strict rules and restrictions by law.

THE SAGE OF CALABASAS

Of modern wastes one of the most appalling is the waste of words.

"Take time to be brief" used to be a motto heard of occasionally, but no one seems to have time for that any more.

The strength of the United States Constitution is that it is a plain, simple document written in ordinary English and about one-twentieth the length of the Los Angeles traffic ordinance.

The average State constitution, printed in agate type as "want ads" are, would occupy four or five newspaper pages and could probably be boiled down to a couple of columns by experts, with nothing essential left out.

All the average Senator says in an all-day speech can be and is condensed frequently into an ordinary newspaper paragraph, but goes in full into the Congressional Record. Which is one of the reasons nobody but the government proofreaders ever reads that extremely uninteresting publication.

Yes, newspapers offend, too. They tell most items of news three times—once in the "head," once in the first paragraph and once more at least in the rest of the account.

RIPPLING RHYMES

THE COLLAPSE

Perk Perkins walked with stately stride about our little town; we always spoke with honest pride of him and his renown. When he returned, at divers times, from circles high and grand, the churches all rang out their chimes, we met him with a band. Triumphal arches spanned the street, flags hung o'er every door, and damsels, garlanded and sweet, sang, "Home Again Once More!" To welcome him in noble style we used to plot and plan; and this was surely worth the while of any mortal man. But all this love and high esteem were not enough for Perk; he had a dark and hateful dream of grafts he well might work. He worked his grafts and gathered chink, a huge, dishonest pile; and he would give it all, I think, to see his neighbors smile. The other day marked his return to Punktown-in-the-Glen; he saw no ruddy beacons burn, no maids sang "Home Again." A clammy silence held the town, as cold as winter sleet, when quaking Perkins journeyed down the old familiar street. Men watched in sorrow as he trod the highway's turns and bends, the man who traded for a wad the faith and love of friends. He shivered as he met the gaze of neighbors he had known in those old glad triumphant days when honor held its throne.

It is said that there will be no advance in the price of gasoline this spring. It seems that Rockefeller has all the shiny nickels he will need to carry him through the golf season.

Walter Johnson still continues to mow 'em down for the Washington team. What has become of the old-fashioned baseball writer who used to predict Johnson's speed would burn him out in a couple of seasons?

The Hagenbecks of the world tell us that a full-grown lion can be bought for about half the money it costs for a first-class tiger. After this we will stick to lions and cut out the tigers. In that way we may be able to save enough to buy a home.

THIS IS THE DAY

The United States Senate and House of Representatives jointly declared "That the people of Cuba are and of right ought to be free and independent." This constituted the declaration of war against Spain in the year 1898.

Earthquake and fire in California destroyed the business section of San Francisco in the year 1906. The first quake was recorded at 5:13 a.m. and fire broke out shortly after. The total property loss was about $300,000,000, of which $175,000,000 was covered by insurance. Measured by loss of lives and property, this was, up to that time, the greatest disaster caused by natural elements in the history of the United States.

The battle of Cerro Gordo, Mex., was fought in the year 1847. American victory. Three thousand Mexicans surrendered.

A JAPANESE VIEWPOINT

BY BARON MATSUI

[This article is the principal part of an address delivered by the Minister of Japan before the International Rotary Club in Tokio on February 3, 1924, by the Living Age from the Japanese Advertiser.]

Out of the idea of competition, carried to the extreme in Germany, came the great war with its calamity to the world. The states of Europe, and even many other parts of the world, are still suffering, and will have to endure grave hardships for many decades, as a result of that ghastly error.

But at least one valuable achievement has come out of the war. The nations have had an awakening. They have learned the lesson that war does not pay and, within certain limitations, that armaments are wanton and are even instruments that breed hostility. They have learned that the business that can be gained abroad does not warrant what, in business phraseology, is called the "overhead charges"—that is to say, the cost of armaments and the maintenance of armed forces beyond the necessities of their own security.

It was with a purged spirit and an experienced common sense that the nations most concerned in the peace and prosperity of the Pacific Ocean gathered two years ago at Washington. Agreement among the representatives of the several States was consequently easy to reach, and the treaties were duly and readily ratified. The results of the Washington conference we all know. The great achievement, the first of its kind the world has ever known, was an agreement between the principal naval powers to limit the construction of the only character of vessel that can become aggressive. The Four-Power Treaty pledged the governments concerned to enter into conference, discussion and adjustment over any issue that might threaten to disturb their security in the Pacific. Treaties and understandings with regard to China were agreed upon and accepted by nine countries, giving a further added assurance that the old order of things shall not again prevail in her territory. These are incalculable blessings to us Japanese; and no government that would be likely to impair the spirit, to say nothing of the letter, of those treaties could endure in office in our country.

The relations between the greater powers concerned in the Pacific are now such that business men may have confidence in foreign enterprises not only for today, but for the future. They may invest abroad as well as at home with assurance that their efforts are less speculative, as far as international affairs are concerned, than they have ever been in the history of our ocean.

This is particularly a splendid assurance for Japan, for we, at the present time, are in a stage of transition from a condition originally agricultural to one that is already largely one of manufacturing, commerce, banking and shipping. By our understandings with other powers we are freed of anxiety lest the difficulties that may come during our further transition may be made harder to bear by the possibility of international conflict. We are happily at liberty to work out our domestic readjustments without the dangers of serious foreign complications. And, our foreign relations being thus substantially based, I think I am not too sanguine in my belief that, while not ignoring our shortcomings or overestimating our abilities, we may look also with assurance to the overcoming of our domestic difficulties and the solving of our economic problems. Without boastfulness, I think I may fairly say that we have character, ability and wisdom sufficient for our needs and that our measure of these qualities has been recognized by foreign nations. Everywhere we have friends. No man who has seen what other nations have done for us in our recent catastrophe—spontaneously and without design, except to help us as fellow-men—could deny those friendships.

It is not only the business side of the matter—the hard, callous, calculating side of human nature—upon which we can depend. The side of humanity has had an even greater influence in shaping the thoughts of nations. After the great war the cry [illegible] diers in Europe was "[illegible] happen again," and this [illegible] of which that cry [illegible] dead. I am as [illegible] gard to humanity [illegible] just as in dealing [illegible] man to man, or in [illegible] other nations, the [illegible] ful appeals are to the [illegible] ties. The greatest [illegible] ignorance and [illegible] men do not know they [illegible] to distrust; and [illegible] easily aroused at times [illegible] seeking individuals who [illegible] have knowledge.

For example, it has been frequently the case that [illegible] seekers from one portion [illegible] or another have gone to [illegible] developed states and [illegible] for profitable employment [illegible] times in conflict with [illegible] ests or the rights of [illegible] other states; and [illegible] have been made to the [illegible] of their own people [illegible] ject of rallying support [illegible] of their private [illegible] often such concentration [illegible] tained this support and [illegible] has been irritation and [illegible] irritation far beyond [illegible] and far beyond any [illegible] al profit that could [illegible] enterprise. I am not [illegible] any particular case; I [illegible] only of the practice [illegible] tices have been followed [illegible] past in the territories of [illegible] rica, where we have [illegible] whatever, and in Africa, [illegible] South America, where [illegible] practically none. It is [illegible] China that this sort of [illegible] eering has from time [illegible] veloped and caused [illegible] public rallyings of [illegible] against another. [illegible] governments of the [illegible] have come to realize [illegible] the lesser states have [illegible] compelled to see—that [illegible] unfair and generally [illegible] mit the interests of [illegible] of their nationals in [illegible] to disturb the friendship [illegible] whole country.

Please do not misunderstand me. I do not mean to advocate the surrender of any fair privilege or concession or fair business. On the contrary, I think it would be an unwise policy for any government, our own or [illegible] to stand firmly in support of its nationals in honest enterprises in [illegible] country. I mean only to [illegible] the old idea that [illegible] vailed with some nations, that [illegible] was the duty of a government to support aggressive [illegible] the part of its nationals, [illegible] fair or unfair, was not only [illegible] just but likewise as [illegible] cy. The old principle of [illegible] a wise one among individuals [illegible] as among individual states.

With specific reference to [illegible] what my predecessors and [illegible] resentatives of our country [illegible] Washington have said [illegible] again repeating: [illegible] for trade and concession [illegible] velopments that we [illegible] valuable in China we have [illegible] fear from foreign [illegible] field of China is big [illegible] foreign investors and [illegible] ness men. We have no [illegible] cial capacity to supply [illegible] ital that China will require [illegible] ades to come; nor have we [illegible] commercial ability or [illegible] meet all of China's needs. [illegible] have the advantage of [illegible] proximity; and, if we develop [illegible] own ability within [illegible] selves to meet the [illegible] ments of our neighbor, [illegible] ful share of trade will [illegible] come to us. And I believe [illegible] developing this trade, and [illegible] development of it, we [illegible] must not fail to adhere [illegible] dence and the principle [illegible] Chinese people.

It is, happily, a new [illegible] which we are launched [illegible] is a wiser place. Now we [illegible] they can, with safety [illegible] with profit, let their [illegible] stincts have fuller play.

THE OLD SAWYER HOUSE

Knocked down to the highest bidder, the antique fittings and furnishings of the old Sawyer house, built at Stillwater two years before Minnesota became a State, were to be sold late today and carted away to make room for the wreckers. Stillwater's oldest landmark, in the heart of the business district, must give way at last before the march of progress.

As pioneers of the State gathered at the weather-beaten doors of the hotel today or moved through the dismantled rooms where men famous in the history of the State had come and gone, recalling stories of the old hostelry, a small crowd of visitors bid on the relics. Memories lay thick in the dust they disturbed in every room of the old Sawyer house.

Here the Last Man's Club had met and watched the empty chairs that each year increased in number, as the survivors of Company B of the First Minnesota Regiment dwindled. The four members alive today will have to meet in some other place this year.

The hotel was built by Edward Sawyer in 1856 and the doors opened to guests the next year. Isaac Staples, a wealthy lumberman of early days, lived there for years. His huge walnut furniture will be sold tomorrow. A massive dresser, with a long center mirror, and a high-back bed are among the relics.

The mirror will be given to the log cabin of the Minnesota Territorial Pioneers, the gift of friends of the organization, George H. Hazard, secretary, said today. Even the big easy chair where "Uncle" John Daubney used to sit when he visited the hotel, must be sold.

Over the ruins of the old Sawyer house, when the wreckers complete their work this month, will rise a new, modern apartment-house, according to Oscar Ostrom, present landlord. — [Minneapolis Journal.

CHOIR ON HILL

The choir of St. Luke's Episcopal Church of Long Beach, under the direction of William Conrad Mills, with songs and music appropriate to Holy Week, created a setting of sacred majesty. The voices of pleasing timber, blended into harmony.

Cecil Price Frigon, soprano, sang several incidental solos with purity of note and clarity of diction. Mae Gilbert Reese contributed a piano solo of "Romance" with a delicacy that did not intrude upon the atmosphere of veneration. Theodore Arbeely respecting the mood of the program and the religious beauty of Gounod's "There is a Green Hill Far Away," presented it with complete devotion to its substances.

Pearl Meade Barry, whose readings have been enjoyed by Radioland on several occasions in the past, returned with four new and interesting stories, one of which, Van Dyke's "Gospel of Work," was in proper spirit for the coming holiday.

Ethel Grew contralto, accompanied by Claire Forbes Crane, rendered a program distinguished by its uncommon selection of songs. "The aria divinites du Styx," from the opera "Alceste" by Gluck, was given with all the solumn majesty and dignity due such an invocation. The pathos of the woman deserted by her lover in "Coquard's "Hai luli" found response in the vibrant tones of Miss Grew's voice. A group of English manuscript songs, one of which, "Secret," by Carl Brandorff, was written for and dedicated to Miss Grew, was offered in conclusion of what her audience considered an arrangement notable for its discriminating taste.

VOICE DELIGHTS

The activities of Barker Brothers still form a powerful agency in the movement for the advancement of radio broadcast music. And through their courtesy Claire Forbes Crane arranged and presented a lecture-recital devoted to French art, song and the influence of the French idiom on the American composer. This lecture was illustrated by Gladys Wagner, one of the most subtle interpretess of the French school. A pupil of Constantino and the New England Conservatory of Music she brings to her work a wealth of imagination and keen analysis of the most intricate emotions—two qualities which are indispensable to the singer of modern songs.

Her voice was limpid, slight in volume but with the impact of a celeste in its top tones. Its underbring faint melancholy seemed to make it a perfect vehicle for Debussy and his followers.

Her songs ranged from "Mon Petit Coeur Souffir" of the eighteenth century to "Mandolin" of Szulc, one of the most modern French composers. "Nuit De Toiles" (Night of Stars) considered one of the most perfect songs of the young Debussy, reminded the listeners of a clear, languorous night of late spring, with the fragrant odor of budding apple blossoms.

MURPHEY SINGS

Edward Murphey, departing from the realm of drama, in which he is known to all Radioland, returned to an old love and appeared at KHJ in a program of bass solos accompanied by Edith Petysch. The depths to which Mr. Murphey's bel-like voice descended in his rendition of the "Cellar Man," were perilously close to the abode of Pluto. But he remained there for but a brief period and emerged just at the "Dawn," which was so impressive that he gave vent to song. The deep notes of "The Bass Viol" were sent soaring into the ether and returned with many requests for encores.

Hatch Graham experienced the same difficulty that greets him on every appearance. He found it impossible to keep abreast of the demands which piled into the office in rapid succession for more numbers. His banjo philosophy and "Ladies," according to the letters received, seems, like good wine, to improve with age. Hatch is usually compelled to repeat the number, but since he described the "Angel's Ragtime Ball," the cry has been doubled and now requests both numbers choke up the telephone lines.

MORAVIANS DISCUSSED

Having concluded his visit with the Dunkards, Prof. Walter Sylvester Hertzog took his followers to the home of Count Zinzendorf, who, persecuted in Moravia for his religious beliefs, banded his supporters and fled to America where he founded his colony in Bethlehem, Pa., in the year 1742. The professor pointed to the importance of music in the affairs of these Moravians and the world-wide popularity of their music festivals held every four years in commeration of Bach's works. The first girls' seminary in the United States was established by this colony in 1786. Prof. Hertzog informed his hearers that Lafayette, wounded in the battle of Brandywine, was nursed back to health by the Moravian nuns at Bethlehem.

Dickie Brandon did not permit his injured foot to dampen his spirits for he arrived at the studio as gay as ever and told his cute little stories and jokes, bringing laughs from the lads and lassies. His usual impromptu conversation with Uncle John delighted studio visitors.

Ruth Badenoch, 13 years of age, and Jane Badenoch, 11, both pianist pupils of Mrs. Walter M. Raiford, played four classical numbers with a style that not only held much promise for the future but indicated that their training was of a high order. Jane Adele Riley, still some distance from her sixth birthday, stood before the microphone and without fluster or dismay read a few short stories. Uncle John concluded the program with his bedtime story.

WOMAN ASKS POLICE TO LOCATE DAUGHTER

Aid of the police was asked yesterday by Mrs. Laura Willard, 11 Virginia avenue, Venice, in the search for her daughter, Laura, 15 years of age, who left home last Thursday. The girl left a note saying she intended to make her own way in the world, Mrs. Willard reported.

The missing girl had only $5 when she left, the mother said. She is described as being about 5 feet 6 inches tall, weighs about 145 pounds, had brown, bobbed hair, hazel eyes and fair skin. She wore a rose-colored waist and skirt, a brown coat with a fur collar, black shoes and stockings, the mother reported.

NEAL TO ACCUSE EX-AGENT

Sensational Charges Promised for Today at Trial of Ousted Officer on Conspiracy Charge

Sensational charges against a former Federal dry agent in charge will be made by Francis C. Neal when he takes the stand today at his trial with his wife and six others before United States District Judge Bledsoe, it was indicated yesterday by his attorney, William J. Clarke.

Neal, a former dry agent, and the others are charged with conspiracy to violate the prohibition laws in connection with the seizure of a cargo of liquor on a yacht near Malibu in February.

Attorney Clark declared that another Federal official will be implicated in the testimony Neal will give on the stand today. Neal's defense, it was indicated, will be that he was a government secret informer at the time of the arrest. Neal was discharged as a dry agent in January, it was reported.

Among the witnesses yesterday were members of the crew of the asserted rum runner. They testified that they took a cargo of liquor off a ship from Mazatlan, Mexico, bound for Canada, but were forced to put in near Malibu on account of a leaky ship.

James C. Borum, watchman at the Malibu pier, yesterday identified Neal and W. C. D. Smith, another defendant, as two men of a party of three who tried to bribe him to let them use his pier to unload liquor.

The case is believed to be nearing completion and will be virtually over today, it was said.

PAN-AMERICAN GETS TIME FOR ANSWER

CANCELLATION OF DOHENY ELK HILLS LEASE SOUGHT IN GOVERNMENT SUIT

An agreement yesterday between counsel for the Federal government and the Pan-American Petroleum Company gave the latter a twenty-day extension of time in which they may file an answer to the receivership proceedings filed by the government.

The proceedings are to cancel the so-called Doheny lease on the Elk Hill naval reserves in California.

SOCIETY

BY JUANA NEAL LEVY

Among the many delightful affairs given in honor of brides-elect of the season will be the bridge tea with which Miss Alice Palmer will entertain tomorrow afternoon at the home of her parents, Col. and Mrs. Guy G. Palmer, on South Irving Boulevard. The special guests of honor will be Miss Liora Louise Breyfogle, whose marriage to William Watson La Force will be one of the events of next week, and Miss Gwendolen Parish, whose engagement to Charles Noyes has been announced, although no date has been set for the wedding. Spring flowers in all the glorious pastel tones will be combined with foliage in the decorations of the tea table, and those included will be Miss Breyfogle, Miss Parish, Mrs. Porter Bruck (Dorothy Palmer,) sister of the hostess; Mrs. Brice Hays Chapman, Miss Mabel Warner, Miss Agnes Smith, Miss Gladys Mann, Miss Marie Crismon, Mrs. Frank Partee and Miss Ruth Mann.

Easter Morning

As is the usual custom at Beverly Hills Hotel, Easter morning will be ushered in to guests with carols at sunrise. More than 100 choir boys from St. Matthias's Cathedral will gather in the hotel gardens for this service. Later, at the breakfast hour they will give a concert of solos and group numbers in the lobby. The afternoon will be devoted to a party for young guests. Gathering on the lawn at 3 o'clock, all the kiddies will participate in an egg hunt and an egg roll, followed by Easter games and refreshments.

Golden Wedding

Among the delightful affairs of recent date was the dinner party last Saturday given by Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Barret at their beautiful home in Hollywood, the event celebrating the golden-wedding anniversary of Mrs. Barret's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert P. McJohnston of Beverly Hills. The decorations, lavishly carried out in the golden motif included golden-hued spring blossoms with golden gauze ribbons and fluffy tulle, tiny golden wedding bells adding an artistic touch to the effect. The guests at the dinner were relatives, but later in the evening a number of friends called to extend congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. McJohnston and wish them joy in the future. Dancing in the nature of years ago, including the Virginia reel and quadrilles, were enjoyed, and there also was singing of songs dear to all the hearts of those present.

Omaha Club

The Omaha Luncheon Club entertained at the Ambassador Tuesday afternoon. The decorations were artistically carried out with spring flowers and foliage, and among guests were Mrs. W. R. Mcfarland, Mrs. E. A. Hatfield, Mrs. W. H. Garrett, Mrs. H. O. Frederick, Mrs. A. L. Frederick, Mrs. L. B. Ervin, Mrs. H. B. Randall, Mrs. Elmer J. Neville, Mrs. Milton B. Newman, Mrs. A. I. Root, Mrs. S. M. Braden, Mrs. William Archibald Smith, Mrs. Charles W. Hayes, Mrs. Walter L. Selby, Mrs. Leonora L. Selby, Mrs. Charles J. Hubbard, Mrs. W. H. Bucholz, Mrs. Charles W. Partridge and Mrs. Edward M. Syfert. The May meeting will be in the nature of a bridge and mah jongg party at Beverly Hills Hotel.

Livingston-Gary

The marriage of Miss Dorothy Livingston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Livingston, to Wright Gary, formerly of Chicago, was solemnized yesterday afternoon in the Church of the Messiah, Rev. Edward D. Gaylord officiating. Mr. Livingston gave his daughter into the keeping of the bridegroom at the altar. The bride wore an imported gown of white beaded georgette with trimmings of pearls and a wreath of orange blossoms crowned her head. She wore no wedding veil, but carried an arm shower of white orchids, gardenias and lilies of the valley. Miss Monsette Steel, in an exquisite frock of yellow georgette crepe, assisted as maid of honor, while the bridesmaids, Misses Peggy Carter and Aileen Craig, wore gowns of pink and orchid taffeta, respectively.

Myron Livingston, brother of the bride, served Mr. Gary as best man, and the tiny ring bearer was Mickey Harris. After a reception at the home of the bride's parents on Fifth avenue, Mr. and Mrs. Gary left for the East. After their return they will make their home here. Mr. Gary was graduated from Stanford and is a member of the Phi Psi Fraternity, while Mrs. Gary belongs to the Tri Gamma Sorority and was educated in Los Angeles schools. Among affairs given in honor of this charming bride before the wedding was the mah jongg tea with which Miss Peggy Carter entertained at her home on Gramercy Place Monday afternoon, the feature of the afternoon being the presentation to the bride of a "shower" for her dower chest. There will be many affairs given for Mrs. Gary after her return from her wedding trip.

Return of Fleet

A series of dances and other festivities is being planned at Coronado and San Diego to welcome officers and men of the Pacific Fleet, which arrived at its home port in San Diego Bay several days ago. Several big balls will be given at Hotel del Coronado and also at the officers' headquarters, North Island, and at the Civic Auditorium in Balboa Park, San Diego.

At Coronado

Mrs. Gouverneur Morris of Washington, D. C., who arrived in Southern California early in the winter, is now at Hotel del Coronado, where she is planning an indefinite visit.

For Bride-elect

Honoring Miss Irene Brauer, one of the most popular brides-elect of the season, a delightful luncheon was given yesterday afternoon at the Biltmore by Miss Alma Barman, daughter of the Fred Barmans of Normandie avenue. The guests were Miss Brauer, Mrs. Harold Walters, Mrs. John Hauerwaas, Mrs. Howard Sears, Miss Florence McGarry, Miss Cecile McLaughlin, Miss Hortense Laughlin, Miss Betty Robbins and Miss Ruth Brauer. The decorations carried out the Easter motif in spring flowers, trailing grasses and sprays of gypsophilia blooms.

One grain of gold-leaf will gild fifty-six square inches of surface.

How Beautiful Is A Woman?

That question will never be fully answered. It has been asked since time began. But one thing is certain, and that is that without fine pores true beauty cannot exist. Vivaudou of Paris has made splendid use of this truth in the creation of his new astringent cream which beautifies by keeping the pores young. A free sample of this wonder cream awaits you.

Ask Her Pores

Besides being an unusual beautifier, Vivaudou's Astringent Cream is also an excellent powder base. The powder rests on the face smoothly and evenly, and without flaking off. Be sure to ask for your free sample immediately. You will be glad you did. Obtainable at stores of Sun Drug Company and Owl Drug Company and all department and drug stores.

CORONADO FISH SALAD

Mix one and a half cupfuls of flaked, cold, cooked fish with two cupfuls of diced celery, half a cup of chopped olives, one chopped hard-boiled egg, two tablespoonfuls of capers, one tablespoonful of lemon juice and half a cup of French dressing; pile on lettuce-covered plates, mask with mayonnaise and sprinkle with chopped parsley and chopped pimentos.

CHEESE BISCUITS

Sift two cupfuls of sifted flour with four level teaspoonfuls of baking powder and half a teaspoonful of salt; rub into these three tablespoonfuls of butter and when well mixed add one cupful of grated cheese; mix to a smooth dough with three-quarters of a cup of milk; place on a floured board, pat out to half an inch in thickness, cut with small biscuit cutter, place on a buttered pan half an inch apart and bake in a moderate oven twelve minutes.

ORANGE PUDDING

Cover two cupfuls of fine bread crumbs with three-quarters of a cupful of sugar and three cupfuls of milk and let stand half an hour; mix into these three well beaten eggs, half a teaspoonful of salt, two tablespoonfuls of grated orange rind, three peeled and diced oranges, one tablespoonful of lemon juice and three tablespoonfuls of melted butter; mix and pour into a buttered pudding dish and bake in a moderate oven thirty minutes.

PEA SOUP

Place in a saucepan three cupfuls of cooked peas, three cupfuls of water, two tablespoonfuls of butter rubbed to a smooth paste with one and a half tablespoonfuls of flour, one slice of onion, one sprig of mint; boil and rub through a sieve; return to the saucepan, season with salt, paprika and a little mace and serve with croutons.

FRICADELLES

Run one pound of veal from which all fat and gristle has been removed through the meat chopper, using the finest knife of the meat chopper; add two cupfuls of bread crumbs soaked in water, squeezed dry and mixed with the chopped veal, add half a cupful of creamed butter, two well beaten eggs, a seasoning of salt, pepper and nutmeg and one tablespoonful of onion juice. Mix well, divide in twelve cakes, dip each in flour, roll in round balls, flatten slightly and brown on both sides in hot butter; set the pan in the oven to finish cooking. Cover a platter with cooked, drained noodles, cover the noodles with the fricadelles and pour over a Robert sauce.

CONFESSIONS OF A BABY

We Are Not Small Adults

In one of my papers I told you about how worried my Daddy was at first over my short bow legs, my barrel-shaped chest, my flat face and big head and other differences between my body and that of a grown-up. Now, don't get the idea that we really are funny shaped, Mamas, because we are not. Our shapes are normal for us. We would be funny looking, indeed, if we were miniature adults, like the old artists used to paint us.

There are many other ways besides in external appearances, Mamas, in which we differ from you grown-ups. In fact, we differ so much in size, in form, in structure, in physical and even chemical ways, that we can be regarded as having a different animal form from the adult form. Why, we are almost as different from the adult form as the caterpillar is different from the butterfly!

All during our babyhood and our childhood, we are gradually changing in all of these things until we reach the adult stage. It is highly important that you realise this fact, Mamas, that we are really not small adults, so you will not judge us in any way by adult standard.

I have told you about some of our external differences. Now let me tell you about our internal differences. Our bodies at birth are approximately 75 per cent water and yours are approximately 60 per cent, so you see we have 15 per cent more water in our tissues. We're great little old soaks! It is on account of its loose, watery structure that our brains are so heavy. Our respiration and our pulse rates are very much more rapid than yours. Even the marrow in our bones is different—it has so many more blood vessels that it is bright red, while yours is yellow. And of course our bones are softer and have more blood vessels. Our blood is richer in white and red corpuscles. Many of our organs are a little differently placed in our bodies and even differently formed.

A point that is very interesting, Mamas, is our stomachs. They are more tubular in shape, more perpendicular in position and are placed higher up. This tubular shape and its position, combined with the fact that the esophageal sphincter (the muscle at the top of the stomach where the esophagus enters) is not so well developed, is the reason why we vomit so easily, Mamas. It's really no trouble for us to vomit at all. We don't retch and strain; we just open our mouths and out it comes, if, for some reason, it wants to come. (Most often it is because we have had a little too much to eat.)

But the most important differences of all are the differences of our nervous system. You know, Mamas, that when we are born, we really are the most helpless bits of animal life in the world. We have about one instinct and that is the instinct to nurse, and we have some reflex activities. Otherwise, we are just little bundles of loving, living matter, without will, without reason, without intelligence—but with what wonderful possibilities and potentialities!

I told you that our brains are large and contain a large percentage of water. Some of the most important cells of our brains are not present for at least two months after we are born. Then they gradually begin to form, according to some authorities, the convolutions do not develop until we are six months old. You know, the convolutions of the brain are supposed to have to do with intelligence. Sorry we must confess that perhaps we don't have any at first.

Now, it's so awfully important that you know about our system that I think I shall talk to you about this again next week. Au revoir, Mamas.

COUNCIL RESOLUTION PAVES WAY FOR SETTLEMENT OF DISPUTE

In order to lay before the court the legal tangle which has resulted over the permit which the Board of Harbor Commissioners granted to E. L. Doheny's Pan-American Petroleum Company for the use of seven acres of land at Los Angeles Harbor for an oil loading station, the City Council yesterday, upon recommendation of City Attorney Stephens, adopted a resolution declaring that a dispute had arisen. This resolution will be the basis of an application by the city and the oil company for a settlement of the dispute.

The oil company agreed to pay the city and the city agreed to receive a thirty-year lease to seven acres of Pier L which the city takes the position that the company received only the permit, although the harbor board's opinion is that the permit, or lease, is for thirty years. Councilman Rose opposed the resolution on the ground that it was up to the city to start court proceedings and not up to the Council to take that action.

...Drama League President Injured

Members of the Drama League, Los Angeles Branch, will be glad to know that their president, Mrs. Margaret Gillette, is rapidly recovering at her home, 579 Fifth avenue, from the serious injuries received two weeks ago when her automobile skidded and overturned as she was on her way to judge the drama productions of the Ventura Eisteddfod of Community Service.

Plans for the annual convention of the Drama League of America which will be conducted in Pasadena beginning May 26 are well under way. June 2 will be Los Angeles Day under the direction of Mrs. Gillette.

Miss Margaret Goetz, director of the league, will speak in the ballroom of the Little Theater, 1324 South Figueroa street, Thursday at 8 p.m. on the subject: "The Co-operation of Dramatic Content and Strong Situation Necessary to Successful Operatic Composition." Miss Goetz will also read "Andrea Chenier" illustrated by music.

Southwest Museum Notes

The Junior Club of the Southwest Museum will have for its program tomorrow from 10 a.m. to noon a "Natural History Field Trip" for the purpose of studying birds under the leadership of Elbert Benjamine and Miss Helen S. Pratt. Those wishing to go are asked to be at tunnel entrance to museum at 10 a.m.

The art appreciation division will meet from 10 to 11 to study "The Woods" under direction of Mrs. Nell Brooker Mayhew.

The drama and pageantry divisions from 10 to 11 will be under the direction of Mrs. Thomas Sellers.

The "Fairy Division" will be under the direct supervision of Mrs. Beatty.

In place of the music division, which will not meet next Saturday morning, the astronomy division under the direction of Dr. Mare Baumgardt will hear the story of "Andromeda, the Chained Lady." "Solar Creation Myths" will also be discussed and "Legends of the Stars," including the Great Bear and the Little Bear, and "Orion, the Hunter," will be told by the extension department, illustrated with pictures and charts.

There will be no lecture in the Southwest Museum next Sunday afternoon, as the lecture program will be suspended due to Easter services, all over the city. Thus the program scheduled for next Sunday will be given on the 27th inst.

The Eugenesia Club of the Southwest Museum, meeting on Tuesday at 3 p.m. is open to the public. The Japanese tea service and floral display, interpolated with Japanese music and dancing, will form the principal feature of educational entertainment for the afternoon. An illustrated lecture on Japan will be given by Torrance C. Welch, one of the trustees of the museum. This afternoon is being planned by Mrs. W. B. Thayer, who will be in the museum on that afternoon to talk on the Japanese prints which she has lent to the museum for a special Japanese art exhibit during the month of April. The public is invited.

In observance of Patriotic week the Southwest Museum is showing relics of the World War brought back by Capt. J. G. Van Zandt of the American Expeditionary Forces, who will be in the museum next Saturday morning to talk to the children. Helmets worn by the boys of America, France, Italy and Germany, including the death's head helmet worn by the Crown Prince of Germany, gas masks of the Americans and the enemy and a Big Bertha shell case, form part of the collection. These mammoth guns that shelled Paris from the St. Gobain Forest, seventy-five miles distant, were twenty feet long and threw a projectile of 200 pounds, which rose twenty miles in the air and reached Paris in three minutes.

A United States grave marker from Belleau Wood tells its own story. French signs indicating the distance to the enemy's territory found near the St. Mihuel front, hand grenades and their packing cases, a Moorish flag found on French soil, French and English newspapers and other mementoes are included in the collection, which has been presented to the museum by Capt. Van Zandt.

La Camarada Club

Mrs. W. W. Knighten, at her home, 2439 Monmouth street, was hostess to La Camarada Club on Wednesday afternoon. Instead of reciprocity day, the president, Mrs. C. W. Wade, explained, La Camarada received at its first friendship day and welcomed the guests of the members to the meeting. The members wore the club flower, the California poppy, and dainty rosebud bouquets were worn by the guests. All business was suspended for the afternoon.

A piano duet, Liszt's Rhapsodie Hongroise No. II, was played by Mrs. J. E. Croft and Mrs. C. F. Johnson; Miss Letitia Williams sang "Trees," "By the Waters of Minnetonka," "I Came With a Song On My Lips" and, by special request, "Mammy's Lullaby."

A one-act comedy, "The Florist Shop," was read by Mrs. Z. Z. Dodge. Mrs. Walter Wessell gave two violin solos, "La Orientale," "Meditation" and as an encore, "Roses of Picardy." The last number of the novel program was by Miss Ruth Ebbs, who sang "The Little Shepherd's Song, "By Jhelem's Stream," "Morning" and "Sally Rosen." Refreshments were served. The next meeting, on May 7, will be at the home of Mrs. J. E. Gribble, 238 West Avenue 52.

STORE SAFE ROBBED

Yeggs Remove Strong-box to Gully and Blow it Open

Yeggs broke into the grocery store of C. E. Rain at 806 Annandale avenue early yesterday and after carrying the store safe into a near-by ravine, blew it open with black powder, it was reported to Lincoln Heights police.

Entrance to the store was made by breaking out a panel in the rear door. Detectives from Lincoln Heights Station are examining the remains of the safe for possible fingerprints. The safe contained $24.23.

FACES CHECK CHARGE

Architect Accused of Passing Paper on Auto Trip

Accused of passing a bad check on a motor trip from the east to Los Angeles, R. E. Leffingwell, architect with offices in the Black Building, was arrested yesterday by Deputy Sheriffs Luker and Collins. He is said to be wanted on one charge at Fort Morgan, Colo., for passing an asserted fictitious check for $2500. Officers said Leffingwell, his wife and children left Elizabethtown, N. J., last October.

THE LAST WORD.

BY ALMA WHITAKER

A DRUG FIEND

I am by way of becoming a bit of a drug fiend myself. For the past year I have heard dozens of antinarcotic talks, and some of them by people in good repute.

Only recently I heard a speaker tell a meeting of club women that there are 5,000,000 drug addicts in the United States; that there is a new drug that makes people addicts in six doses; that the average age of the heroin addict is below 22 years; that there are 1700 (actually I think he said 17,000, but my notes are not quite clear on this, so I will give him the benefit of that dubious "0") children addicts in one city alone; that there are 700 new drug addict recruits in one school.

I find it impossible to believe these violent figures regarding our children. Like any other mother with children of her own in the schools, I suffered agonies of anxiety at this ghastly information and proceeded to make voluminous inquiries on my own account. None of the scores of high school children I know ever heard of a single case in their schools. None of the teachers I know had any definite case to cite. Mrs. Susan M. Dorsey, superintendent of the Los Angeles city schools, is not aware of such a condition. And Dr. C. E. Terry, acknowledged authority on narcotics, visiting here from New York, told me that it was impossible to get accurate data, that there is no way of knowing how many addicts there are or what percentage of them are children. He himself considered the figures quoted highly exaggerated.

It was therefore with the deepest and most profound gratitude that I read the report of H. L. Kirby, director of the bureau of drug addiction, sponsored by the University of Southern California, in which the blessed paragraph appears:

"Drug peddlers do not stand on street corners in Los Angeles or any other American city, soliciting business from school children. There are no data which would indicate that the percentage of drug addiction among actual American school children is anything but what the normal person would suppose—negligible."

Negligible—thank God! I can believe that. Instinctively that is just what I always believed. And I have been saying it wherever I got the chance—without the authority of this merciful report.

Actually this drug problem is quite bad enough without any exaggeration. The truth should be ample, the authentically known facts sufficient for all purposes. It is unnecessary that the shame be enhanced a hundredfold before we could be induced to stir and aid in protest.

I would like to see every charge of this kind challenged and probed to its very core. Yet at every meeting that I have heard speeches made on this subject, there has been no challenge, no probing questions—none but the few feeble ones I dared to utter myself and draw dire suspicions upon my head.

This bureau of drug addiction, after months of the most careful and painstaking research, fails to discover any evidence to prove these charges against our children and says, mercifully, that drug addiction among children is "negligible." No wondrous piece of literature that was ever penned gave me such a sense of pure joy and relief as the foregoing quoted paragraph in that report.

This thing should be fought by the adults for the adults. It isn't a children's problem at all—and we have no right to make it one. It is a subject exclusively for grown men and women, responsible organizations, the churches and the police and the medical profession, and then only as it really is.

FORGER SUSPECT HELD TO ANSWER BY COURT

Charged with forging the name of Mrs. Jay Spence, wife of a vice-president of the Pacific-Southwest Trust and Savings Bank, Virgil Smith was held to answer yesterday by Justice Blake. The name was signed to a check for $35. It is asserted, which Smith tried to cash at the Pacific-Southwest Bank. He was prosecuted by Dep. Dist.-Atty. Lucas.

Senate Kept Oil in Mind on Vote, Doheny Asserts

The Senate's action in passing the Japanese exclusion bill was directly attributable to the impregnable position held by the United States since the establishment of the Pearl Harbor naval base and the 8,000,000 barrels of fuel oil available for the Navy's use are sufficient evidence of the wisdom of the naval policy in the naval reserve lease contracts, E. L. Doheny asserted here yesterday in commenting on Washington dispatches quoting H. W. Ballard's testimony before the committee. Incidentally, Doheny dismissed the Ballard testimony with the statement that he "erred" in saying that he (Doheny) knew something about the supposed oil deal at the 1920 Chicago convention.

OFF FOR PARIS

Head of Unique To Visit Fashion Center

To select the exclusive merchandise for which his house is famed, Max Isaacs, of The Unique starts in a few days upon his annual trip to Paris and other European centers of fashion.

Mr. Isaacs will remain abroad for several months and when he returns will bring with him the latest fads of the Parisian capital, as well as a choice selection of gowns, wraps and sports wear, of the highest class. It is the policy of The Unique to so manage, by means of close European connections, that prices of exclusive garments, laid down here, are far more moderate than is usual with imported merchandise. Mr. Isaacs plans to open a millinery section in connection with The Unique, upon his return and he will, during his stay, choose for this event, chapeaux and elegant accessories comparable to the class of garments always carried by his house. During the summer, Mr. Isaacs will attend those famous gatherings of fashion, the races, horse shows, openings, etc., and will visit the noted resorts of Europe.

ONE FRIEND TELLS ANOTHER

The fame of a successful remedy is often spread far and wide by women telling one another of its merits, as is evidenced by a letter written by Mrs. Delbert Bush of Masena, N. Y. She writes: "I was in such a bad condition I could hardly walk, a friend who had taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound with excellent results advised me to try it. It has given me back my health and I cannot praise it enough." There are women everywhere who have been benefited by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and gladly tell their friends and neighbors about it.—[Advertisement.

Getting Too Fat? Try This—Reduce

MRS. WILLIS IS INDICTED

Confessed Murderess Will Enter Plea Monday

Woman Taken to Quarters in County Jail

Defense and Prosecution Get New Evidence

On account of the physical condition of Mrs. Margaret Willis, indicted yesterday for the trunk murder of Dr. Beecher Benjamin Baldwin, she was transferred from the City Jail to more comfortable quarters in the women's ward at the County Jail. The confessed murderess has a weak heart, and on several occasions has fainted. Her fear of immediate death was exemplified in the will and note she wrote the night of the murder, last Friday.

Both the defense and prosecution uncovered what is declared to be material evidence yesterday. Dr. Victor Parkin, retained by the defense, yesterday submitted to Attorney S. S. Hahn a report on his findings after an examination of the body. The report was kept secret by Attorney Hahn and will not be revealed until the trial, but it is believed that Dr. Parkin found evidences that the doctor had been drinking, which would bear out Mrs. Willis's story of the attack.

GUN TRIAL OUT

Dep. Dist.-Atty. Dennison and Capt. Hunter, of the District Attorney's office, with Edward C. Crossman, firearms expert, yesterday conducted experiments with the gun which Mrs. Willis says she used. The pistol was fired at cardboard targets, and the report was that the gun was held at a distance of from eighteen inches to two feet from the body, which controverts the woman's story that she fired while they were struggling on the floor.

Bert C. Webster, friend of Mrs. Willis, will be taken over the ground today by Assistant Captain of Detectives D. W. Longuevan and will be asked to repeat his former story. The police are not yet satisfied that his account is correct.

ARRAIGNMENT MONDAY

Mrs. Willis is to be arraigned before Judge Crail Monday, at which time she will enter her plea and the trial date will be set. She was indicted on a charge of first-degree murder by the grand jury yesterday morning. The only witnesses were Webster, the widow, Mrs. Helen Baldwin and Capt. Longuevan. The indictment was filed before Judge Crail yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Willis was not present.

The quarantine was lifted from the woman's ward of the City Jail yesterday, and will not delay the trial.

Attorney Hahn declared that the plea next Monday will be not guilty, and a stiff battle will be presented at the trial on the grounds of self-defense.

BANDITS IN AUTOS TAKE GEMS, CASH

Victims Forced to Give Up Valuables in Three Hold-ups at Gun Point

One woman and two men were the victims of auto bandits late Wednesday night, according to reports made at Central Police Station yesterday.

J. C. Danielson of One Hundred and First avenue and Pico Boulevard, Sawtelle, was seated in his car on National Boulevard when two men drove up in a car and, leveling revolvers at him, ordered him to "shell out." They obtained Mr. Danielson's watch and chain, $15 in currency and a lady's ring valued at $150.

Mrs. Anita Fitz of 4526 Dockweiler street reported to the police that she was walking at Pico and Mullen streets when two men drove up alongside the curb in an inclosed auto. One of the men stepped and thrust a revolver against her side, she said, at the same time snatching her handbag containing $8. The bandit then jumped back into the car and was driven off by his companion.

Three men in a large car stopped G. C. Farmer of 1221 South Hill street at Pico and Oxford street, forcing him to drive his own car into the curb. One of the trio stepped over to the running board of Mr. Farmer's car and thrust a revolver against his side. Another of the trio, who had been riding in the rear seat of the bandit car, searched Mr. Farmer's pockets and obtained $15 in cash, a $75 watch and chain and a $75 ring.

Jews Here Plan Celebration of Passover Feast

Celebrating the Feast of the Passover, commemorating the "Season of Liberty" which marks the departure of the Jews from the land of the Pharaoh, who enslaved them, a series of jubilee services will be conducted at Beth Israel, the oldest orthodox synagogue in Los Angeles, beginning this evening.

Dr. S. M. Neches, rabbi of Beth Israel, will preach at the synagogue this evening, tomorrow morning and next Sunday morning. Services of rejoicing will also be conducted on the following Thursday evening and on the succeeding Friday and Saturday mornings.

Beth Israel, at 227 North Olive street, was established twenty-five years ago and has been one of the favorite synagogues of the Jewish people since its organization. Dr. Neches, who came to America ten years ago and who has been rabbi of Beth Israel for the last three years, was born and reared in Jerusalem and is an authority on the history and present-day customs of Palestine.

ORDINANCE ORDERED

The City Attorney and the City Engineer were yesterday instructed by the City Council to present at once the ordinance of intention for the widening of Flower street from Seventh street to Washington street.

ABER CONFESSION RIDDLED

Mrs. Remington Denies She Knows Veteran Who Says He Murdered Her Husband

Already crumbling under the questioning of the Portland police the story told by Lawrence Aber, 39 years of age, World War veteran, that he is the man who shot down Earle Remington here on February 15, 1923, was further discredited yesterday when Mrs. Virginia Milster Remington, the dead man's widow, telegraphed the local authorities from Spartanburg, S. C., that she does not know Aber.

Aber, according to dispatches from Portland, walked into the police station there last Wednesday and confessed to the murder of Remington. He said that with a number of other ex-service men he laid in wait for Remington and shot him as he was parking his automobile in the driveway of his home. Aber went into the story of the murder in detail and stated that he killed Remington because he was selling war veterans liquor and drugs.

ABER DISAPPEARED

At the time of the murder a number of war veterans were questioned by the local police. Aber was one of the men questioned. Three days after the murder he failed to report back to the hospital after he had obtained leave and was marked "missing on the records.

Mrs. Remington in her telegram to the authorities said:

"Know nothing of boy you mention or can I verify any of his statements."

In his confession Aber told the Portland police that he knew Mrs. Remington and had attended a number of social affairs given by her for the disabled war veterans. He also stated that on the night of the murder Mrs. Remington and a number of motion-picture actors attended a party and entertained a group of veterans.

WEAPON NEVER FOUND

Police records here show that Mrs. Remington and her negro maid were at home all day before the murder and were asleep in the Remington home when he was shot down in the driveway. Aber also stated in his confession that he hid the shotgun with which he killed Remington, near the house of the slain man. The weapon, according to the local police was never found.

According to Captain of Detectives Home, Aber was an insane patient at the soldier's home. His story is not believed here by the local authorities, but a careful check will be made with the northern police before Aber is ordered released.

JAPANESE TROUPE TO SHOW HERE

Tenkatsu's sixteen butterflies are Japanese chorus girls, as dainty, tiny misses as ever wipped a toe.

The company, which also has eight male actors, is costumed in Japan's finest cherry blossomed silks, the Follies of Tokio as it were.

Madam Tenkatsu explains that she and her troupe are touring America, bound for European cities, because the earthquake and fire destroyed the best theater buildings in Tokio. The company on the way over showed in Honolulu and San Francisco, and after a few days here will proceed East.

They will show tonight, tomorrow night and Sunday afternoon and night at the Yamato Hall, 323 Jackson street. The proceeds will go to a fund for relief of the earthquake sufferers and the Japanese colony and Americans interested in the artistic side of the Japanese will turn out.

Tenkatsu's former husband was the famous Japanese magician Tenichi, known in this country and the capitals of Europe.

Tenkatsu, it may be truthfully said, has a radiant smile. Her front teeth are set with diamonds and other glittering gems.

YEARS IN WOODS LEAD TO CAREER

Mrs. Maurine Hathaway

Out of a lonely existence in the woods of Minnesota, with no one to look to for companionship, Mrs. Maurine Hathaway ten years ago started in to write poetry. Now she has five books of verse to her credit, and a good share of the little framed mottos and thoughts which hang in homes throughout the country have her name on them. Through her verse she has also worked out a child psychology by which children can be trained by positive suggestions in verse rather than by old-fashioned whippings.

Mrs. Hathaway has been in the city since January at 419 North Serrano street, and plans to make this city her home. Under contract to turn out verses for greeting cards and framed sentiments, she feels that here in California her work will be given new impetus.

PEACE PACT AT PARIS TO BE SUBJECT

Prof. Manley O. Hudson of Harvard to Speak at City Club Luncheon

Manley O. Hudson, professor of international law at Harvadr University and a member of the legal section of the secretariat of the League of Nations at Geneva, will speak in Los Angeles Saturday during the luncheon hour at the City Club, Chapman Building.

Mr. Hudson has been attached to the Department of State at Washington at different times. During the peace negotiations at Paris he was with the law division of the American Commission to Negotiate Peace. He is thoroughly familiar with the workings of the League of Nations and has been a student of international peace efforts for some years.

His subject on Saturday will be, "Will the League of Nations Live?" He is a brilliant, incisive speaker with a fund of first hand knowledge that commands attention.

Mr. Hudson will speak in Los Angeles, Santa Monica and San Diego under the auspices of the League of Nations Non-Partisan Association of Los Angeles county.

The executive committee, which is making arrangements, is composed of the following: W. C. Shelton, president; Mrs. Seward A. Simons, Henry S. McKee, Judge Leslie R. Hewitt, vice-presidents; Mrs. Marie A. Larkey, recording secretary; Miss Mary J. Workman, executive secretary; Marshall Stimson, treasurer; Mrs. Arthur S. Heinman, Everett R. Perry, Judge John Perr Wood.

Assisting the executive committee are: Mrs. Frank A Gibson, Mrs. D. G. Stephens at Santa Monica, Kenneth S. Beam of the California State Church Federation and Mr. and Mrs. John C. MacFarland of South Pasadena.

Jewelry and Loving Cup in Burglar Loot

Jewelry valued at $2000 and a $750 loving cup encrusted with gems were obtained by burglars who raided three homes in the residential district early yesterday morning, according to reports filed at Central Police Station.

Mrs. E. D. Bradford reported that her apartment at 120 South Grand avenue was entered and jewelry valued at $1000 taken.

Jewelry valued at $1000 was obtained in the apartment of Percy Blankwell at 670 Shatto Place by a burglar who entered the place through a jimmied side window.

Rev. E. A. Bradley reported that thieves had entered the church at Adams and Calais and taken a gold loving cup from a small drawer in the altar. The cup was of gold embellished with amethysts, and had been presented to Mr. Bradley by friends, he stated.

TWO CHARGED WITH MAKING OF LIQUOR

Seizure of a complete aparatus for the manufacture of whisky and the arrest of two men on three counts of violating the Wright Act made in a raid early yesterday on a house at 2126 West Seventy-sixth street. The raid was conducted by Officers Chilson and Marshall of the University Police Station. The men arrested gave the names of Daniel Lorenzo, 35 years of age, and A. A. Kelly, 33. Both were booked at the Central Police Station on charges of possession of liquor, possession of apparatus, and manufacture of illicit liquor.

SALES TAX SOON DUE

The attention of manufacturers yesterday was called to the necessity for payment of sales tax for March by the 30th inst., by the Collector of Internal Revenue. He pointed out that the new provisions of the revenue bill are not effective thus far.

New Slip-Ons Of Imported Mohair —$19.50

SLIP-ONS, slim, youthful and becoming, are these new sweaters of Imported Mohair. Perfectly straight of line,—and long sleeves and no belt.

With a collar of linen embroidered in a daintily colored design to match the smart fob on the pocket, one of these sweaters is almost irresistible.

Priced—considering their fineness, newness and distinction—very moderately, at just $19.50.

THIRD FLOOR

Blouses of Silk Pongee $5.75

WITHOUT being in the least extravagant, one could buy several of these tailored sports blouses, so practical, durable, and low priced are they.

In overblouse and tuck-in styles with Peter Pan or V necks, or two-in-one collar.

Or if one would be mannishly attired there is the shirt style with a pocket.

They are very interestingly priced at just $5.75.

THIRD FLOOR

Girls' New Dresses Cool and Colorful For Summer

LOVELY Easter Frocks, delicately colored—And all of them so very moderately priced, that any little girl may possess a number.

Of beautiful linens, voiles and dotted swisses, enriched with hand embroidery, Irish or Val laces. The sizes include both 6 and 16, in green, blue, pink, maize, tangerine and orchid.

FOURTH FLOOR

Girls' Coats, at $25 and $35

So smart looking when fashioned from imported fabrics such as these in plaids and stripes. Or for dress wear in plain colors of twill cords, tan, gray, green and brown.

In sizes from 6 to 14 they are only $25 and $35.

FOURTH FLOOR

Coats—In Important Saturday Event at $47.50 and $57.50

OF good-looking materials which suggest the out-of-doors are these better sports coats—which will be so exceptionally low priced for Saturday.

And for more dressy occasions are long and three-quarter coats of Poiret twill achieving straight lines by narrow tucked borders or by a side fastening which draws the coat closely, to give a slim silhouette.

In tan, gray and green one may select her sports coat; or for street and informal afternoons it may be of navy, black, beige, tan, taupe or tile.

For Saturday, Coats priced at $47.50 and $57.50.

THIRD FLOOR

Silk and Flannel Frocks at $25

FROCKS of silk. And frocks of flannel. Frocks for sports. And frocks for street and afternoon wear. All of them highly desirable.

There are satins and cantons. Prints and wash silks as strictly tailored as one would wish or engagingly trimmed with ruffles and lace collars.

Black, brown, navy, tan, maize, peach, orchid and flannels, in narrow and broad stripes on light grounds.

THIRD FLOOR

Children's Oxfords Elk Trimmed at $7.50

THEY are of brown horsehide, which means long wear—trimmed with smoked elk, which makes them smart looking; and have a creased vamp and plain toe, together with a low heel which gives comfort to growing feet.

For school or sports occasions and for playtime, they are priced for Saturday at $7.50 a pair.

THIRD FLOOR

Merchandise will not be accepted for credit or exchange, unless it be returned within five days from date of sale, accompanied by sales check, and in the same condition as when purchased.

SECOND ACT IN 'BUDGET' FARCE

Power Bureau Document is Seen as Vote Lure

With Version No. 2 Put Over No. 3 is on Way

Attorneys Term Whole Set Merely Waste Paper

As the result of the criticisms of the Power Bureau's so-called "budget" for its $21,000,000 power bonds, the bureau, through Special Counsel Mathews yesterday presented to the Council an entirely new budget, which covers eighteen items and totals up $21,000,000 as did the first "budget." This is the only point of similarity in the two "budgets."

In the second "budget" the Power Bureau attempted to show the various sections of the city in which the bureau purposed to spend the $21,000,000. After the second attempt at budget making by the Power Bureau was read to the Council, Councilman Mushet, chairman of the Council's Finance Committee and formerly City Auditor, said:

"That's not a budget—that's simply a revival of the time-worn political scheme of fishing for votes in various sections of the city. There is no guarantee that if the bonds are voted the money will be spent as set forth in this purely political Power Bureau statement."

NO 3 ON WAY

The supporters of the Power Bureau in the Council "pointed with pride" to the clause in the Power Bureau's Budget No. 2 of its series of daily power bond budgets, which declared that none of the $21,000,000 was to be used for "condemnation" of the electric properties of the Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation, but Councilman Mushet yesterday called attention to the fact that no promise was made in Budget No. 2 that none of the $21,000,000 would be used for paralleling the electric lines of the gas company.

Councilman Mushet has many times attacked this paralleling of the gas company's electric lines by the bureau as wasteful and unnecessary and being carried on by the Power Bureau in its efforts to drive an existing company out of business when, Mr. Mushet said, the bureau should economically and efficiently expend its revenues for the purpose of giving service to the city's own consumers.

Power Bureau Budget No. 3 in the series may be expected today in response to the ultimatum of Chairman Lucius K. Chase of the water and power committee of the Chamber of Commerce.

Secretary Frank Wiggins of the Chamber of Commerce stood at the door of the chamber's headquarters yesterday and told callers that the meeting called to round up support for the $21,000,000 power bonds had been postponed, the date to be announced later.

JUST WASTE PAPER

Meanwhile, in the directors' rooms at W. T. Bishop, treasurer of the chamber; Public Service Commissioner John R. Haynes and Chief Electrical Engineer Scattergood trying to work out a new "budget" for the bond issue. Budget No. 1 had met with such criticism throughout the city and had been so generally denounced as being exorbitant and meager that the chamber did not care to hold a meeting of civic organizations to discuss power bonds until a new budget had been prepared by the Power Bureau that would be satisfactory to the chamber itself.

Engineers have declared that all of the work set forth in the Power Bureau's $21,000,000 budget could be done at a maximum of $10,000,000.

Budget No. 2, submitted to the Council yesterday, was a "geographical" document attempting to show how the $21,000,000 was to be spent in various sections of the city. Neither budget, nor any of the future issues of the series, are worth the paper they are written on, attorneys said yesterday, unless they are incorporated into the bond election ordinance, as unless this is done the Power Bureau can spend the $21,000,000 as it pleases, once it gets its hands on the money.

WIFE IS FREED FROM FINGER-TIP SCORCHER

DEAF MUTES PARTED WHEN WOMAN COMPLAINS OF MATE'S CURSING

Anna Somerson couldn't live with her husband, Burt A. Somerson, because he cursed and upbraided her too frequently and fluently in sign language, she told Judge Burke of the Superior Court yesterday. Both the wife and husband are deaf mutes.

Mrs. Somerson explained her troubles to the court through a sign-language interpreter. She declared that her husband called her foul names, cursed her out roundly and often informed her by means of his fingers that she was a very poor wife. She was granted a divorce.

COURT TO DECIDE

Injunction on Wilshire Zoning Petition Asked

Judge Burke yesterday took under advisement a petition for an injunction brought by W. E. Bigalow, a taxpayer, who asked that City Clerk Domingues be restrained from certifying to the City Council a referendum petition calling for the submission to the electors of an ordinance providing for the establishment of a business zone on Wilshire Boulevard between Parkview and Western avenues.

In his petition Bigalow contended an order for putting the matter on the ballot would be illegal in that the question of a business zone on the street would not affect the welfare of the majority of the taxpayers or residents of the city.

DR. MAGNIN TO SPEAK

"The Extra Cup, the Open Door and the Empty Chair" is the subject of a lecture to be given by Dr. E. F. Magnin at 10:30 a.m. tomorrow at the Temple B'nai B'rith. This evening Dr. Magnin will conduct a passover service at the temple.

BUREAU LIE IS NAILED BY EDISON HEAD

Says He Did Not Indorse Bond Issue and Thinks it is Exorbitant

President John B. Miller of the Southern California Edison Company, in a letter to President R. F. Del Valle of the Board of Public Service Commissioners, made public yesterday, nailed the lie which had been circulated in the literature of "The Mayor's Power and Water Committee" to the effect that President Miller of the Edison company has indorsed the $21,000,000 power-bond issue.

President Miller in his letter declared that he had at no time indorsed the $21,000,000 power bonds and he further declared that, after examination of the so-called "budget" of the Power Bureau setting forth the asserted purposes for which it has declared it will spend the $21,000,000 if the bonds are voted, he (President Miller) is convinced that "the sum of $21,000,000 for which the taxpayers are now asked to authorize bonds is exorbitant." President Miller's letter was as follows:

Mr. R. F. Del Valle, President,
Board of Public Service Commissioners of the City of Los Angeles, Los Angeles, Cal.

My Dear Sir: In certain statements and pamphlets issued on behalf of the Bureau of Power and Light it has been represented to the public that I, as president of the Southern California Edison Company, have agreed that $24,000,000, spread over a three-year period, would be a reasonable sum to cover the needs of the municipal Power Bureau.

Please be advised that I have never agreed to any such proposition or made any such statement. Neither have I indorsed the proposal of the Bureau of Power and Light that $21,000,000 in bonds be issued at this time.

At a meeting some time ago of members of the committee of reclamation and power development of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce I was asked if I would consider $24,000,000 a reasonable sum to be spent by the Bureau of Power and Light covering a three-year program. I referred the question to one of the engineers of the Southern California Edison Company present with me at the meeting, who replied that he could not give an off-hand answer, but that it might be reasonable, depending, of course, on the nature of the program and what it involved. I might add that on the basis of such information as has since been given to the public concerning the aims of the Bureau of Power and Light to provide more efficient service, study by the engineers of our company indicates that the sum of $21,000,000 for which the taxpayers are now asked to authorize bonds is exorbitant.

In view of the foregoing I feel sure that you will cause the erroneous report as to my position to be withdrawn from further circulation.

Yours very truly,
[Signed] JOHN B. MILLER,
President.

GETS RIGHT TO TELL OF 'GAS GRAB'

Company "Permitted" to Inclose Arguments With Sample Ballots

The City Council yesterday granted to the Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation permission to furnish to the City Clerk printed arguments against the two "gas grab" ordinances which will appear on the May 6 election ballot as Propositions Nos. 9 and 10.

The ordinances, which are sponsored by the Power Bureau and initiated its move to "grab" the $20,000,000 electric properties of the gas company with bonds to be later voted by the taxpayers, were subjected to the referendum and a total of 58,760 persons signed the petitions asking that the two ordinances be submitted to the people.

Under the law, arguments, inclosed with sample ballots, may be mailed to voters giving each side of a controversy which is the basis of a referendum, and so the Council, in accordance with the law, granted the gas company permission to supply printed arguments and these will be mailed to voters with the sample ballots.

In opposing these propositions Councilman Mushet said yesterday from the floor of the Council that the taxpayers would get nothing but the shouldering of a huge bond issue out of the "gas grab" if it is ever consummated, as the Power Bureau will, in purchasing the company's electric business, acquire the responsibility of serving the company's consumers. Councilman Mushet said the Power Bureau will gain nothing and the people of the city will be burdened with additional millions of power bonds to pay for the "grab."

WOMAN ACCUSED IN BANK THEFT FREED

MRS. PRIOR WAS SUSPECTED OF RECEIVING PLUNDER IN NORWALK ROBBERY

Mrs. Emma B. Prior, accused with Mrs. Lelia Sullivan of receiving part of the $13,500 stolen from the Norwalk State Bank on October 23, 1923, was discharged yesterday by Judge Reeve on recommendation of Dep. Dist.-Atty. Burke. Insufficient evidence was the reason given.

Mrs. Sullivan was arraigned on charges of receiving part of the plunder and on a charge of participation in the robbery. She pleaded not guilty and her trial was set for June 3. Also accused of the robbery are Frank Sullivan, husband of Mrs. Sullivan, and William O'Connor, both of whom are at large.

BRACELET CUT FROM ARM

Miss Florence Agen, who lives at the Biltmore, reported to the police yesterday that while waiting to enter a picture theater at Sixth and Hill streets, a thief cut a $1000 platinum bracelet from her arm. Miss Agen said she remembered being jostled in the crowd but was not aware she had lost the bracelet until entering the theater.

VON STROHEIM PLEA DENIED

Petition for Accounting by Ex-Wife of $75 Weekly for Son Is Refused After Court Wrangle

Erich Von Stroheim, motion-picture director, failed to obtain an accounting yesterday in Judge Keetch's court from his former wife, May Von Stroheim, as to what she did with the $75 a week he has been paying her for the maintenance of their child, Erich, Jr.

The hearing developed into little more than a wrangle between opposing counsel, and Judge Keetch finally called a halt to the word battle with the suggestion that if Von Stroheim really wanted an accounting he should bring the matter into court on an order to show cause.

There was little testimony given at the hearing, despite the fact that more than an hour of the afternoon session was consumed. The first Mrs. Von Stroheim was put on the stand and testified that all of the money paid her by the director had gone to the support and maintenance of his son, who is a student at a military academy.

Lyle Rucker, attorney for Von Stroheim, told the court he proposed to show that Mrs. Von Stroheim, No. 1, had been devoting a portion of the support money to her own use, but the witness declared vehemently that she supported herself from her wages as a dressmaker, also that any property she might have acquired was paid for out of her own earnings.

Matters pertaining to Von Stroheim's salary again entered the discussion between T. K. Case, attorney for Mrs. Von Stroheim, and Rucker, but Judge Keetch advised the pair that they were wasting their time, as he had no intention of changing his previous decision upholding the right of Mrs. Von Stroheim to receive $75 a week for her son's support.

GRIEVED MAN ENDS HIS LIFE

Hangs Self After Two Years of Loneliness Due to Wife's Death; Was 89 Years of Age

Bereft of his wife and facing the evening of life without her comfort, Joseph John Korber, 89 years of age, found life unbearable. For two years following his wife's death he bore the burden as well as he could, but his four sons and three daughters could see in his hungry eyes a void that could not be filled.

Yesterday, his son, Joseph Korker, 2934 1-2 Kenwood street, returned to his home where the man made his home. He called to his father as was his custom. No answer.

The son told police the story of his father's suffering for his departed wife. The body was taken to the undertaking rooms of J. H. Rideman, 1616 South Main street.

He leaves four sons, Joseph, Frank, Adam and Albert Korber, and three daughters, Mrs. George Keym, Mrs. R. C. Thompson and Mrs. Mina Colton of San Francisco.

CREDIT MEN WOULD PUT CITY THIRD

Snappy Membership Drive Aims at Total of 1500 in Ranks by May

A determined effort to inject more snap into the membership campaign of the Los Angeles Wholesale Credit Managers' Association was launched yesterday when Chairman O. C. Reichert, in charge of membership, assembled his vice-chairmen and instructed that each of their respective aides obtain at least one new member.

It was stated that if this order is executed, the local credit organization will forge ahead of similar associations in San Francisco and three other large cities. This attainment, credit men say, would place the local organization third in the United States, with only Chicago and New York in the lead.

A total of 1500 members by the 30th inst. is the goal set by President A. P. Stepan. At present the number is slightly in excess of 1000.

Important legislative work effected recently here and throughout the United States by credit associations is being emphasized in the drive. It is pointed out that credit men have obtained passage of laws operating against commercial fraud and making for increased honesty in business transactions.

Women of the association, led by Miss Clara M. Harrison, are striving particularly to increase their representation to number 25 per cent of the total membership.

Judge to Speak at Girls' Club Campaign Rally

Judge Harry Archbald, head of the juvenile division of Superior Court, will be the principal speaker at a rally tonight of workers in the campaign of the Business Girls' Club for $50,000. The meeting will be at headquarters in the Biltmore Hotel.

Mrs. Katherine Edson also will speak to teams in the drive which opens Monday and closes May 1. Miss Orfa Jean Shontz will preside.

Special speaking campaigns before clubs have been arranged. Dr. Miriam Van Waters will address the Ebell Club. Other speakers will be Mrs. Louise Pruden, Miss Helen Meyers and Margaret Norwood, under Capt. Margaret Parke.

BURGLARS CAUSE FIRE

Burning Matches Start Flames; Nothing Stolen

Burglars using matches instead of flashlights to search for valuables were blamed by the police yesterday for the fire which caused damage of $500 to the residence of Cleve B. Holden at 1141 North Cummings street, late Wednesday night.

According to Officers Bazaar and Gorman who investigated the blaze, Mr. Holden does not use matches. The burnt stubs of many of them were found strewn about the rooms. The blaze apparently broke out while the burglars were engaged in their search of the house as Mr. Holden reported that nothing had been taken.

BATH RECORD KEPT

Wife Says Mate Made Notation Of Occurrence in Bible

Myo John Elliott is a man who takes his bathing seriously, according to his wife, Maybelle C. Elliott, who filed suit for divorce yesterday.

"I have taken my annual bath," he would enter in the family Bible, she declared in her complaint. The event was as infrequent as it was noteworthy, Mrs. Elliott asserted.

NAVAL BASE FORCE HERE AUGMENTED

Importance of Harbor is Shown by Division Into Two Large Units

Los Angeles Harbor gained added importance as a naval base yesterday with the announcement by the Navy Department of the augmentation of the Base Force, United States Fleet, stationed at this port, and of its division into separate units. Train Squadron One, under command of Rear-Admiral William D. MacDougall, and Train Squadron Two, commanded by Rear-Admiral Jehu V. Chase.

Rear-Admiral George R. Marvell, now commandant of the Sixteenth Naval District, at Cavite, P. I., has been assigned to command the entire Base Force. His flagship has not been assigned.

Admiral Marvell, who is one of the youngest admirals in the Navy, established a strong record while on active service in the war zone during the World War and holds both the Navy Cross and a letter of commendation from the War Department. He will be relieved in the Philippines by Capt. George W. Laws, now commanding the dreadnaught Wyoming.

Train Squadron Two will in personnel and force comprise what is now the Fleet Base Force, under command of Admiral Chase, while Squadron One, to operate with the scouting fleet, will include the ships of what is now the scouting fleet train.

Ships based on Los Angeles Harbor under the new organization will include the flagship Procyon, the hospital ship Relief, the repair ship Prometheus, the supply ships Arctic and Neches, the collier Jason, the fuelers Sapelo, Kanawha, Cuyama and Patoka, and the mine sweepers Widgeon, Ortolan, Brant, Partridge, Kingfisher, Tern and Sonoma. Mine Sqadron Two, including the flagship Burns and the Ludlow, Tanager and Whippoorwill, will remain on station at Honolulu.

Bitter Letters Win Divorce for School Teacher

A bitter letter won a divorce for Mrs. Margaret Elizabeth Holdsworth from her husband, Harry Holdsworth, yesterday in Judge Summerfield's department of Superior Court.

"The best thing you can do is to go out and hang yourself like your blood brother, Judas Iscariot."

"Incidentally, it will take about 3000 years of evolution for your inbred, neurotic-tainted heredity to work out into anything like the semblance of a well-balanced human.

"If you should see me on the street, please give no hint of recognition, as somebody might think I know you," the epistle from the husband read.

Another letter referred to another woman who was declared to have Mrs. Holdsworth "skinned a thousand miles for good looks, pleasant manners and affection." This woman was "a beauty—Spanish type," the letter declared.

Mrs. Holdsworth is a teacher in the city schools.

WIFE BEATING CHARGED

Woman Gets Divorce When Court Hears Tales of Cruelty

Testifying that her husband beat her, knocked her down and finally chased her from the house with a knife, Mrs. Maud Bode won a divorce from Henry Bode yesterday in Judge Fleming's court. Bode also falsely accused her of associating with other men, she said, declaring that on one occasion he threatened to kill her.

NEW SIGNS RECEIVED FOR ANGELES FOREST

R. H. Charlton, supervisor of the Angeles National Forest, has received 500 enameled metal signs which he is preparing to utilize in posting roads and trails in the forest. The signs are similar to 500 that have been in use for some time. They designate directions in most instances, although many of them give the names of various canyons for the guidance of autoists and hikers. "When these signs are in place practically all the roads and trails now in general use will be adequately posted," Charlton said. "We are hoping that the new signs will not be mutilated by shooting, as many of the old signs have been."

JAILED MEN AND COPS TO SIT AT MEAL

Prisoners to be Asked to Air Views at Dinner Arranged by Chief

For the first time, it is believed, in the history of criminology of the United States, prisoners will sit down at a banquet board with police officers and will be allowed to express themselves fully and without fear of punishment.

It will be a luncheon Wednesday noon at the Lincoln Heights Police Station. Chief of Police Vollmer and division commanders will be guests. Speakers will be prisoners, ranging from those with lengthy records, safe crackers, bandits, pickpockets and gunmen to the unfortunate alcoholic. Every prisoner will be allowed to "bawl out" the cops if he desires. Censorship will be cast aside with immunity promised for any outspoken criticism. It will be an excellent chance, it is said, for prisoners to give their sincere opinion of the law and the administration of justice in Los Angeles.

The idea was born in Chief Vollmer's brain in connection with his far-reaching campaign to determine the causes of crime and methods of prevention. Previously he has obtained the ideas of preachers, social workers, psychiatrists, women club workers, business men and others. He was not satisfied until he could hear from the prisoners themselves their opinion of the causes of crime and what they think of modern criminology.

The prisoners at the station, it is said, are enthusiastic and are eagerly grasping the opportunity to tell their friends, the coppers, just what they think of them.

WAMPAS THEATER PARTY

Arrangements have been completed for the banquet and theater party to be given by the Wampas Monday night in honor of Fred Niblo, director. The banquet will be served in a downtown cafe. A street parade will follow. The procession will end at the Mission Theater where Mr. Niblo's latest production, "Thy Name Is Woman," will be shown. Mr. Niblo will be honored by the press agents in appreciation for the services he has extended the Wampas in the past.

BIRTH MAKES IT A "FULL HOUSE"

Detective Allen Now Has Three Sons and Two Daughters

Detective Lieutenant W. C. Allen now is the proud possessor of what he terms a "full house." Early yesterday morning the stork descended on the maternity home at Sichel and North Main streets and left an eight-pound boy. The new arrival, according to the detective, now makes him the father of three boys and two girls.

Mrs. Allen was reported to be doing nicely.

Trial of Greer Continued Until Return of Star

The trial of Horace Greer, former chauffeur for Mabel Normand, was continued yesterday by Judge Crail of the Superior Court until May 26. The continuance was agreed to by Dist.-Atty. Keyes and S. S. Hahn, defense attorney, in order to give Miss Normand time to return to the city and give her testimony in the case. She is at present in Detroit, but Milton Cohen, her attorney, said she will return some time before the trial opens.

Greer is charged with shooting and wounding Courtland S. Dines in the latter's apartment during a party last New Year's Day which was attended by Miss Normand and Edna Purviance, another motion-picture actress.

Dines was not in court yesterday.

McADOO CLUB TO MEET

The Women's McAdoo-for-President club will be at home at the McAdoo headquarters, Hotel Stowell, tomorrow from 2:30 to 5 p.m. The affair will be in the nature of an informal reception for the women delegates to the national convention in New York.

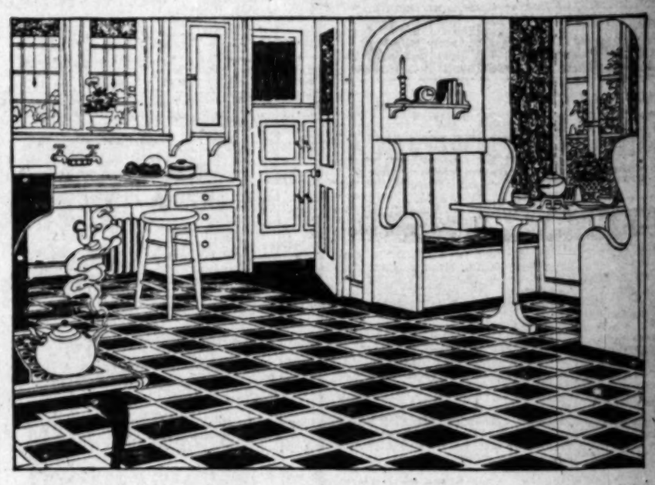
Armstrong's Linoleum

for Every Floor in the House



"When you build your house, that's the time to lay linoleum floors"

THE architect was discussing with Mr. and Mrs. Judson the plans for their new house. They asked him about linoleum floors, not only for kitchen and pantry—that was decided—but for other rooms as well.

"We believe in them," said the architect. "In fact, we are recommending them right along both in new homes and in houses we are remodeling.

"Floors need attention almost from the day you start planning a house until you sweep them for the last time. But the linoleum floor is less of a care than any other kind.

"With linoleum we can get color harmony in floor, walls, and ceiling. Whatever you choose for such a room—furniture, rugs, curtains, lamps, pillows—will look better when you have that foundation color note to build upon.

"Of course a fine linoleum floor is laid according to definite specification. It is cemented down—not directly to the wood underfloor, but over a lining of builders' deadening felt, which is pasted to the wood. Then, no matter how the wood base expands or contracts in summer and winter, the linoleum doesn't crack or stretch or wrinkle. Waterproof cement used at the edges makes it water-tight, a really permanent floor that should last as long as the house itself.

"You will find that linoleum floors make very easy housekeeping, Mrs. Judson," he continued. "They never need refinishing. Linoleum floors are thoroughly waxed once or twice a year. Going over them on cleaning day with a dust-mop moistened with liquid wax takes up the dirt and renews the polish, and is an easy task indeed."

To the builders of new homes

Let us send you a sample of Armstrong's Linoleum and a copy of our booklet, "New Floors for Old." This book shows a score of colored plates of interesting modern colors and designs of Armstrong's Linoleum and describes exactly how modern linoleum should be laid for permanency. We will send you the names of good stores that sell Armstrong's Linoleum and lay it properly. If you desire, our Bureau of Interior Decoration will help you work out color plans for the entire house or for particular rooms. No charge for this service.

STAR MAY FLIT

WILL ROGERS TO DOUBLE IN FILMS AND FOLLIES

By Grace Kingsley

We are likely to lose from our midst one of our famous film stars, and at the same time the one who can come out of the silence and put more wallop into his talks than any ten other men. I refer to Will Rogers, Pathe star, who is working in the Hal Roach vineyard of art down at Culver City.

So pressing and alluring have been the recent offers which Florence Ziegfeld has been sending the film's most famous speaker to return to the Follies, of which he was the bright and shining light during many seasons, that Rogers is trying to get Roach to see that comedies can be made in New York as well as in Culver City. And it begins to look now as though Roach were weakening. Rogers doesn't really want to leave California, where he has his beautiful big home in Beverly Hills, but he did enjoy his work in the Follies, he confesses, and also he would like to oblige Mr. Ziegfeld, who is offering him all kinds of high-sounding money to come back.

Rogers is now working on the last of his series of three political satires, with Hampton del Ruth directing. Del Ruth may make the satire a little bit broader than was the original intention of Bob Wagner and Rogers, indeed some of the gags look like familiar friends, but as Hal Roach justly says, "A little gagging now and then is relished by the best of men."

A fall not written into the script occurred the other day at Exposition Park when Rogers's horse stumbled, throwing the comedian over his head. Rogers received a bad scalp wound beside being knocked out for a minute, but he refused a doctor's aid, and explained with his well-known grin:

"Well, I'm supposed to be playing in England in this picture, and you don't suppose I'm going to let the Prince of Wales put anything over on me when it comes to falls, do you?"

Marie Mosquini, who was formerly Rogers's leading woman, is to play the featured leading feminine role in a new picture in which Rex, the Morgan stallion which Hal Roach used in his recently completed picture, "King of Wild Horses," will play a star horse part as an Arabian steed.

Somebody out there at the studio, the other day, by the way—and it sounds like Rogers's wit—in discussing some of the stories using horses which the western stars have been putting on lately, exclaimed: "Yes, and the story sounds as if the horse wrote it!"

The role which Miss Mosquini will play in the Roach picture, the name of which is not ready for announcement, is the best one she has ever had. Fred Jackman, who made "The Call of the Wild" and "King of Wild Horses," will direct. Others in the cast will be Guinn Williams, Jr., Noah Young, and Chris Lynton. Chick Morrison, who has trained Rex for the screen, will have charge of him during the making of this picture.

Guinn Williams is also known as "Big Boy" Williams. His father is United States Congressman from Texas.

KATHLEEN CLIFFORD NOW WITH CHRISTIE

Kathleen Clifford will don make-up at the Christie Studio this week. She will do a special two-reel comedy novelty, in which she will play a character similar to that which she did with wonderful success on the stage both in this country and abroad. Gil Prat will direct Miss Clifford in her first short comedy offering. The title of the story is "Grandpa's Girl," and it gives the actress an opportunity to appear both as a boy and as a girl in the picture.

It is thought that a subject of this type will be a distinct novelty as played by Miss Clifford, as it was said of her when she was on the stage that "the best-looking girl is a man and the best-looking boy is a girl," the former referring to Julian Eltinge and the latter to Miss Clifford.

The new Christie star has just finished a part in Emmett Flynn's Fox production, "The Man Who Came Back," and she is also the feminine lead in Frank Woods's production, "Richard the Lion-Hearted," which is now playing around the country. She was also in Paramount's "Kick In" and other feature pictures, but has never before appeared in offerings from a comedy studio. Her career on the stage in addition to her well-known vaudeville act included a long engagement with the Ziegfeld show, Savage's "Little Boy Blue," "Business Before Pleasure," "A Pair of Queens" and the Al Woods play, "The Heart of a Child."

Elliot Dexter a Hero

Hero is the word which Elliott Dexter may now write after his name if he so wishes. The picture star is in vaudeville, along with his wife, who has never before appeared on the stage. It was while playing Milwaukee during a matinee recently that the Palace Orpheum Theater there became filled with smoke, which passed up through the floor and filled the auditorium.

All members on the bill, including Dexter and his wife, came on the stage kidding the crowd, telling them to pass out in orderly fashion, or they might "miss the hot jokes that are making the smoke."

The crowd passed out in orderly fashion without injury to anybody.

Mae Murray Comes Home

Mae Murray and her director-husband, Robert Z. Leonard, arrived in Los Angeles yesterday from New York, where they have been for the past three weeks.

Miss Murray announced that she would start work within the next few weeks in "Circe," which was written especially for her by Vincente Blasco Ibanez, and in which she will enact one of the most colorful roles of her career.

While she had no definite announcement to make regarding her plans after "Circe" is completed, Miss Murray intimated that she would have something interesting to announce within the next few weeks.

Mantells to Europe

When Robert Mantell and his beautiful wife, Genevieve Hamper, now playing Shakespeare at the Mason, complete their current season, they are planning to go to Europe and accept an offer to play in Scotland and Ireland.

"Mr. Mantell is Scotch," said Miss Hamper, the other day, "but he has never played in his native land, and he is anxious to do so."

Enhancing Screen and Stage Bills

Victor Varconi, Leatrice Joy and Rod La Rocque

(Gloria Swanson) Edith Lyle

Events of Interest

The scene with Victor Varconi, Leatrice Joy and Rod La Rocque is from "Triumph," which comes to Grauman's Million-Dollar Theater next week; Edith Lyle is in "The Invisible Husband," at the Grand Avenue Theater, and Gloria Swanson is appearing in "A Society Scandal," which moves to the Rialto Theater next week.

POPULAR PREMIERE

De Mille's "Triumph" to Open Without Blare of Trumpets

World premieres have come to be the rule rather than the exception in Los Angeles but additional interest attaches to the premiere of Cecil B. De Mille's newest product, "Triumph," which comes to Grauman's Million Dollar next Tuesday.

With De Mille's "The Ten Commandments" a country-wide sensation at the present time, his admirers felt that the picture to follow would be exceptional, for De Mille believes in progression.

"Triumph," from a Saturday Evening Post story by May Edginton, is interpreted by a typical De Mille cast. Leatrice Joy, Rod La Rocque, Victor Varconi, Charles Ogle, Julia Faye, Theodore Kosloff, Robert Edeson, Zasu Pitts, Raymond Hatton and George Fawcett play principal parts. The story of "Triumph" is one of the strong social satires for which De Mille has achieved an international reputation. In typical De Mille manner he takes the rich and poor apart so that the world may see how they tick.

The run of Mary Pickford in "Dorothy Vernon of Haddon Hall" comes to an end Monday night.

STAGE MANAGER LEAVES

Norman Whisler, well-known local stage manager, who has been in charge back stage at the California since it opened, has sent in his resignation, to take effect about May 1. Mr. Whisler is leaving to take a position with the Forum Theater. His successor at the California has not yet been selected.

FOXE RETURNS

Earle Foxe, who has been on of the cast of "White Collars" for a few days on a short vacation, returned to the part last night at the Egan Theater, on the occasion of the comedy's one hundredth performance here.

"WHITE COLLARS" TO CONTINUE LONG RUN

Monday will mark the thirteenth consecutive week of the Edith Ellis comedy, "White Collars," at the Egan Theater.

If good playing and adequate settings, united with a play of heart appeal and clean comedy, mean success, then "White Collars" has every right to be one. It has all of these. It is conventionally written, but it is simple, clean and wholesome.

ROTHWELL TO LEAVE FOR EUROPEAN TOUR

Walter Henry Rothwell, conductor of the Philharmonic Orchestra, which plays the fourteenth and final symphony pair this afternoon and tomorrow evening, will leave for a European tour almost immediately after the close of the season.

After a few days in New York City, Mr. Rothwell will sail May 3 on the Leviathan. Spending ten days in London, a week in Paris, visits to Berlin, Carlsbad, Switzerland, Rome, Florence and Amsterdam, where he will conduct the Concertgebeouw Orchestra, he will not return to this country until August.

MILLER'S TO HOLD DIVORCE PICTURE

Pauline Frederick and Lou Telegan have made such a hit in "Let Not Men Put Asunder" at Miller's Theater that the production will be held over for a second week, starting tomorrow.

The story centers around divorce problems of today. Married life among the society folk is vividly portrayed in a startling manner.

"Trouble Brewing," a delightful comedy, swept with fun and shot with joy, is an added feature to the current program. Santaella and his orchestra are heard in concert and interpret the feature with an impressive music score.

DE MILLE IN PERSON AT EGYPTIAN AGAIN

Cecil B. DeMille headlines the group of cinema celebrities who will personally appear with the showings of "The Ten Commandments" at Grauman's Hollywood Egyptian Theater today.

Sharing honors with De Mille at both the evening and matinee performances will be Jeanie MacPherson, who wrote "The Ten Commandments" story, together with Jack Holt, Noah Beery, Malcolm McGregor and Julia Faye, with Patsy Ruth Miller as an added attraction for the night performance only.

GEORGE SYDNEY WILL PORTRAY ABE POTASH

Samuel Goldwyn's search, for an actor to succeed the late Barney Bernard as Potash in the next Montague Glass story to be screened, is over. Telegraphic advice from the producer in New York announces the engagement of George Sydney, stage actor, to play Abe in "Potash and Perlmutter in Hollywood." The picture will be produced here under the direction of Al Green and shooting will be started at the United Studios the early part of next month.

George Sydney's latest success on the stage is his characterization in "Give and Take," in which he has been appearing for the past two years. Previously he had played the leading role in "Welcome, Stranger" for several years.

EXTRA "LIGHTNIN'" MATINEE

To satisfy the demand for "Lightnin'," a special matinee will be given this afternoon at the Biltmore. No more ingratiating character than Lightnin' Bill Jones has been seen on the stage since the days of Jefferson's "Rip Van Winkle." His story of the swarm of bees which he drove across the plains in the dead of winter will long be remembered.

NEWS OF THE SAN JOAQUIN VALLEY

TULARE GRAND JURY CHOSEN

Nineteen Are Selected from Thirty Summoned

Poultry Raisers of District Have Record Month

Triple Charge of Violating Motor Law Faced

VISALIA, April 17.—The 1924 Tulare county grand jury has been selected by Superior Judge Wallace, who delivered instructions of the court and otherwise gave the nineteen jurors the legal right to proceed with the new year's work. Thirty were summoned as prospective grand jurors and those chosen were:

Fred D. Bailey, R. O. Bequette, Mrs. Helen L. Dudley, Mrs. Addie G. Bequette Abe Dinkin, Alma Hall, Mrs. Mary Louise Maddox, Arthur F. Stribley, Mrs. Agnes Rhodes, Mrs. Ora Lipscomb, C. R. Whittington, Mrs. Mary A. McMillan, J. W. C. Pogue, Knox W. Nicholson, Walter A. Parr, J. J. Mitchell, James K. Harbis, Mrs. J. E. Huffaker, Mrs. Teresa Schroepfer.

Alma Hall of Porterville was chosen as foreman of the grand jury and Mrs. Mary Louise Maddox of Visalia the secretary.

POULTRY RECORD

TULARE, April 17.—All previous records in the history of the local poultry industry were broken by the March volume of business. An entire trainload of eggs, twelve cars containing 5000 cases and valued at $40,000, was shipped from Tulare during March by the combined local agencies, and this estimate is conservative.

Eggs and poultry prices remained firm, despite an expected drop, and as feed prices were lower than this time a year ago, a greater profit was received by the poultry raisers than ever before in this section.

Total volume of business of the local poultry association for the month amounted to $32,000, the greatest figure for any month previous and exceeding March of last year by more than $5000. Eggs marketed amounted to $18,000; feeds and supplies amounting to $14,000 were distributed; poultry sent to market brought $3500, and baby chicks, valued at $2500, were received and placed in hands of local poultry raisers. The association also marketed 25,000 cases of eggs, the largest volume in its career.

Prices were fixed at 23 cents for 1's and 19 cents for 2's, as against 23 and 19 cents last year.

FACES TRIPLE CHARGE

DINUBA, April 17.—A. C. Coleman of Porterville faces a triple charge of violation of the State motor vehicle laws, being arrested near Goshen Junction for speeding, reckless driving and for having no license plate. Capt. Hegan of the Tulare county unit of the State traffic squad, made the arrest. Coleman will appear in the Dinuba justice court Saturday to answer to the charges.

"BOBS" HAVE IT

PORTERVILLE, April 17.—The "bobs" have it in Porterville Union High School, the ranks steadily increasing both among pupils and teachers. A tally of the bobbettes shows that 275 have succumbed to the mode of the moment while only ninety cling to their long tresses.

HIGH SCHOOL VICTOR OVER FRATERNITY

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

VISALIA, April 17.—When Visalia Union High School student members and officers of the local chapter of Beta Chi Sigma appeared before the Board of School Trustees and assured them that in future there would be the fullest co-operation between the organization and the school authorities, the Greek-letter fraternity mix-up, which attracted considerable attention, was amicably settled.

The school board was assured that not only had student members of the fraternity been dropped from the membership rolls during their period in school, but also that there would be no solicitation for new membership from local school classes at any time in the future.

The Visalia chapter of Phi Chi had previously taken similar action and given similar assurance. The matter is considered a closed incident.

EASTER PROGRAMS AT SAN FERNANDO

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

SAN FERNANDO, April 17.—The Easter church attraction of note here will be in the form of an evening concert by the choir of the Methodist congregation. Mrs. C. W. Judy is to be the organist and Charles A. Scudder the director. The program contains fourteen numbers, including anthems and vocal and instrumental selections suitable to the occasion. At the Presbyterian Church in the evening the choir will present the cantata "King Triumphant."

AWNINGS IGNITED BY SPARKS FROM STACK

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

FRESNO, April 17.—Sparks from a smokestack destroyed three awnings on the back of the Griffith McKenzie Building last night, and threatened destruction of several more. A high wind, fire officials say, swirled the sparks onto the awnings, many feet distant, causing damage of about $50.

WIN GOLF PLAY

STRATHMORE, April 17.—In a foursome match on links of the Tulare County Golf and Country Club near here, Cecil Smith and Paul J. Robinson paired against Paul R. Jones and Vernon L. Hall, won 4 up, playing eighteen holes. Dave Smith, manager and professional at the country club, was to have been paired with Jones, but owing to illness in his family, Hall substituted for Smith. The game between the Tulare Golf Club and a team from the country club was called off.

ESCAPES IN FALL

VISALIA, April 17.—J. Harold McGregor, local automobile salesman, narrowly escaped drowning late Sunday when the car he was driving plunged off a cliff into the Pacific Ocean at San Diego, according to word received here. It was said that McGregor fell asleep on the last lap of his trip south from Visalia.

TURLOCK MAN ENDS HIS LIFE

R. C. Geckler Found Dead in Funeral Parlors

Was Deputy Coroner and Former Mayor

Worry Over Bonds Believed Cause of Suicide

TURLOCK, April 17.—Worry over heavy investments in foreign bonds is believed to have caused the suicide of R. C. Geckler, 42 years of age, former Mayor of this city and Deputy Coroner, whose body was found in the lavatory of his funeral parlors here today by his wife. A single bullet hole in the temple and a 38-caliber revolver lying nearby told the story of instant death. Clutched in one hand was found an envelope containing a telegram from H. P. Cox, Oakland bond dealer, dated April 11, which said:

"Have arranged sale of securities, but will be unable to consummate and get returns before the first of the week."

The envelope also contained a letter from an attorney of San Francisco, C. P. Griffin, a friend of Geckler, evidently in reply to a request from Geckler and giving an optimistic report on the securities mentioned and stating that he would investigate further.

The amount which Geckler had invested is not known, according to Coroner C. W. Shannon, who investigated the death today, but it was undoubtedly a large sum. Shannon, who knew Geckler intimately, stated that Geckler was a man who was prone to worry.

DRIVER OF DELIVERY TRUCK HURT IN CRASH

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

FRESNO, April 17.—Driving his delivery car into the curbing in the 200 block on Abby street last night in an effort to avert collision with another car, Theodore Burke, 20 years of age, of 4830 Illinois avenue, narrowly missed serious injury. He was partly thrown out of the machine by the impact, his feet entwined about the steering wheel holding him in. Residents hurried the youth to the City Emergency Hospital, where it was found he was suffering from shock and bruised left temple.

DUCKS WARN GUARDS OF SMUGGLING EFFORT

VISALIA, April 17.—Two live ducks are being held in the "menagerie" set up by guards at the Kern-Tulare county line, north of Delano, and T. M. Kelly and J. E. Kehoe of San Francisco were haled before Justice of the Peace Clack, charged with evading quarantine orders in trying to smuggle the ducks across. The San Francisco men are reported to have been turned back at the county line on their refusal to give up the ducks. Later, according to report, they returned sans ducks—but the birds disclosed their presence by loud quacks from beneath the rear seat. No action has been taken by the judge.

THIS SALE FOR SATURDAY—NOT FRIDAY

For Easter You'll Want Van Raalte CHIFFON SILK STOCKINGS Sheer as Morning Mist

$2.50

—In sunset, blush, tanbark, tortoise, black and gunmetal—shades that go with most any Easter frock.

—3 PRS. FOR $6.90; if you want to save considerable!

Main Floor, North Bldg.—Jacoby's

—Whether Coats be of Poiret Twill, velvetones or novelty downy fabrics—they'll be quite the thing in the Easter promenade! These are the very kinds you'll find at Jacoby's!

—AND WHAT BEAUTIFUL AFFAIRS THEY ARE—wrappy, straight line or regulation styles, just as you wish! In most instances, the beauty of the material alone combined with its smart style gives the coat distinction, while others have touches of summer squirrel or other novelty bits by way of trimming! Sizes 16 to 44.

—Particularly pleasing is the lowness of their prices! It will pay you to look around a bit before you see these—then there'll be no doubt in your mind as to the lowness of Jacoby prices!

Third Floor, South Bldg.—Jacoby's

EASTER! And Jacoby's Is Ready With a Myriad of GLORIOUS NEW HATS—at the Low Price—$5.00

—One can scarcely venture forth Sunday without a ... —and isn't it the best sort of news to find that Jacoby's has more of these wonderful hats for which it's become famous at $5.00—

—The manufacturer surely must have been imbibed with the Easter spirit when he designed these hats and made them for they're all simply "glorious"—but we're most sure he has no intention of selling them at $5.00 as every one of them deserves shouts for higher prices!

—They're made of Canton crepe, taffeta, bengaline, milan, timbo, horse hair and combinations—and the styles are "different" yet becoming—for misses and matrons!

—Easter colors—and truly "Eastery" in every way!

Third Floor, North Bldg.

Washable Fabric Gloves—95c

—From a very famous maker whose name stands for quality and beauty! These are gauntlet style! Frill or band cuffs!

Main Floor, South Bldg.—Jacoby's

Glos and Silk BLOOMERS Wear Extra Well—at $2.95

—We're told they'll wear better than the all-silk ones ... find them cut good and full and well reinforced where ... heaviest!

—And they're so soft and clingy that they help attain ... straight silhouette in a most delightful way!

Main Floor, North Bldg.

Hemstitched Bordered MARQUISETTE Made Into Plain Curtains Free—29c

—Isn't it just like Jacoby's to lower the price of a popular curtaining like marquisette—and then make it into plain curtains free of charge, too?

Fourth Floor, South Bldg.—Jacoby's

1000 Prs. MISSES' and CHILDREN'S PATENT STRAP SLIPPERS—An Easter Sale—$

—Mothers—did you ever dream of hearing about a sale of misses' and girls' patent leather slippers in strap styles—right before Easter—at such a ridiculously low price!

—It's true that it doesn't happen very often—so we're expecting the biggest kind of a crowd in Jacoby Basement all day Saturday!

—They come in sizes 5 to 8, 8½ to 11, and 11½ to 2.

500 Girls' Wash Dresses, $1.33 $1.79

—And they're for girls 7 to 14 years, too, if you please!

—Not in months—we might say years—have we had such wonderful girls' dresses to sell so ridiculously low!

—And mothers are going to know the very minute they see them that the quality of materials—the pretty styles—and their good workmanship are far beyond the ordinary!

—They're made of various kinds of wash weaves, including ginghams, crepes and others!

Second Floor, North Bldg.—Jacoby's

CHILDREN'S SHOES—$1.49 to $2.

TO START CHURCH SUNDAY

Wilshire Congregationalists to Break Ground for New Edifice on Easter; Elaborate Ceremonies

Ground will be broken for the new Wilshire Boulevard Congregational Church, at Wilshire and Plymouth Boulevard, Sunday at 4 p.m. Impressive services in which civic organizations, churches and city officials will join have been arranged.

The program will open with the singing of a number of appropriate selections by the "Sammies" singsters. The congregation will join in singing hymns and the invocation will be pronounced by Rev. William R. Marshall.

MAYOR TO SPEAK

Community leaders, including Mayor Cryer, President Von Kleinsmid of the University of Southern California, Prof. W. A. Bryan, Gaylord Wilshire, Vesrling Kersey, Edward A. Dickson, Judge Benjamin F. Bledsoe and Dr. John A. Eby, will speak briefly.

The ground will be dedicated by Rev. Frank Dyer, pastor, and the congregation. Dr. Dyer will deliver a short address before the ground is formally dedicated. The ground-breaking ceremonies then will follow. These will be in charge of E. P. Clark, A. R. Varian, W. A. Moses, L. P. Sims, Master Robert McCormick and Bonar Dyer. Rev. C. J. Taft will conduct the coronation and pronounce the benediction.

The new church will combine Spanish and Gothic features of architecture, but details are to be worked out in a free way adapted to the needs of the plan and to an expression of the church's particular purpose.

HALL FOR SCHOOL

The edifice will contain sittings for about 1000 persons in the nave. It will have two pulpits, the preaching pulpit and the civic pulpit as in St. Mark's Church at Venice. Near the tower, which will dominate the church, will be a chapel for weddings, baptisms and communion services.

The church also will have a hall for social and educational purposes with a kitchen and pantry adjoining, a Hall of Youth, smaller meeting rooms for different organizations and rooms for a complete and well-graded religious school.

Barker Was Advised to Quit Stage

"Criticism of one's work is the best spur toward improving it," says Reginald Barker, whose latest screen release is the Mayer-Metro production "Women Who Give," and who has just completed the filming of Meredith Nicholson's "Broken Barriers." "Whether it is favorable or adverse, it always encourages me to do something better.

"I remember well the criticism of my first play, which I produced when I was 16 years of age. If I had heeded it I would have renounced the stage then and there. It was in a Los Angeles paper and was in these words:

" 'Charity will throw a veil over what happened at Elk's Hall last night. The main event evidently was the appearance of Reginld Barker in white tights and a slippery guttral voice. Somewhere he has received a dose of elocution and his relatives were no doubt entranced by the actor-like way he threw it out.' "

Toys are seldom bought in Portuguese East Africa because most of the children above the age of 10 are sent to the Union of South Africa or Europe for education.

SALVATION ARMY HOME DEDICATED

Officials of District Present to Open Branch for Scandinavians

High officials of the western district of the Salvation Army, comprising thirteen Western States; the Swedish Consul and several hundred Scandinavian members of the Salvation Army participated last night in the dedication of the new home of the local Scandinavian branch of the Army at 824 West Sixteenth street.

The dedication marked the attainment of a goal which the Scandinavian branch has been striving for more than a decade.

Among the officials of the district who took part in the ceremonies were Commander Adam Gifford of San Francisco; Brigadier C. Christopherson, district commander of the Scandinavian branch for the western district, San Francisco; Col. T. W. Scott, property secretary of the Salvation Army, western district, San Francisco; Col. E. Smeeton, financial secretary of the western district, San Francisco; Brigadier R. Boyd, Southern California divisional commander, and Adjt. E. Benson, head of the local Scandinavian branch.

The new home of the Scandinavian branch, valued at approximately $35,000, represents a financial outlay of half that amount because of a fortunate buy in real estate a year ago and work contributed by the organization in the construction of the building. The site, purchased for $11,500, is now valued at twice that amount. The hall is a building 38x85 feet, comprising a large assembly hall and a commodious kitchen. In the rear of the hall is a five-room flat which will house the office and the living quarters of Adj. Benson and his family.

Adjt. Benson has been at the head of the branch for the past two and a half years.

CHINESE, PIPES AND OPIUM TAKEN IN RAID

A raid by Hollywood vice squad police broke up early yesterday an asserted opium smoking joint at 4504 Melrose avenue, arrested four Chinese and confiscated a small supply of opium and pipes. The arresting squad was headed by Officer Ferrara and the four prisoners are Lau Kai, 29 years of age, Louie Sin, 33, Loe Wgin, 28, and Lee Lee, 27.

BURGLARS GET SHOES

Burglars entered the store of the B. B. Sugarman Company, 320 South Broadway, early yesterday and stole twenty-five pairs of shoes. Later a member of the pawnshop detail arrested J. F. Waddell in a pawnshop at First and Main streets, as he was attempting to dispose of shoes. It was declared the shoes were identified as those stolen from the store.

Lancaster Folk to Offer Annual Easter Service

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

LANCASTER, April 17.—An event of unusual interest to the people of Lancaster nd of the Antelope Valley in general is the annual sunrise Easter service to be held at Granite Point next Sunday morning. The people of the entire valley, without regard to church affiliations, have been invited to attend.

A large gathering of men, women and children will assemble on the summit of the rugged hill top just before the break of day and will commemorate with a program of appropriate services the first resurrection morning.

JUDGE ASKS REPORT ON FRESNO OFFICIAL

FRESNO, April 17.—Denying the defense motion for a new trial after arguments today, Judge Butler of Marin county referred the case of Charles F. Dillon, former City Commissioner, convicted on eleven counts of embezzlement, to the probation officer for report on May 1. Judge Butler announced that he would not be bound by the report of the probation officer. Meanwhile attorneys for the State and for Dillon were given opportunity to file briefs on questions of law involving whether Dillon can be sentenced for embezzlement on the charges of which he was found guilty last Saturday. Dillon was previously convicted of charges of falsification of records of the city and his sentence to San Quentin is now in appeal.

GOOD FRIDAY RITUAL AT PORTERVILLE PLAN

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PORTERVILLE, April 17.—Good Friday services will be conducted in the Congregational Church from 12 o'clock until 3 o'clock. All ministers of the city will participate in the exercises, each giving a short discourse on the last words of Jesus as he hung upon the cross. A special music service will also be a feature. Easter Sunrise Services will take place on Scenic Heights at the foot of a cross erected last Easter by Boy Scouts. Dr. H. S. Davidson, pastor of the Congregational Church, will preside. Rev. F. C. Stannard of the First Baptist Church will give the sermon, while other pastors will take part in the invocation, scripture reading and Benediction. C. L. Howes, director of the recently organized oratorio society, will direct the music.

WOMAN WANTED HERE ARRESTED IN BAY CITY

Mrs. Ola Holst was arrested yesterday at San Francisco, according to information received by the Sheriff's office. She is accused by Mrs. Lucy Stevens of luring her on an automobile ride on which she was robbed. Marshall Oaks, said to be suspected as one of the robbers, is also under arrest at San Francisco, it was reported. Deputy Sheriff Denison will leave today to bring the prisoners back.

CITY BOND DELIVERY MADE

Issue of $10,000,000, Second Largest in Local Municipal Financing, Taken to Bank

The Los Angeles city government was $10,000,000 richer last night than it was yesterday morning as the result of the delivery of municipal bonds totaling that amount to the Bank of Italy, one of the members of a syndicate which purchased the securities under open competitive bidding from the City Council.

For two weeks Mayor Cryer, City Clerk Dominguez and City Treasurer Powell had worked nights, days and Sundays signing the bonds, and the final signature was affixed on Wednesday evening.

Police guards were called for yesterday morning by City Treasurer Powell and the boxes filled with bonds were carried from the City Treasurer's vaults to a waiting truck and taken to the Bank of Italy for delivery to the syndicate. The bonds were counted over and checked and delivery was accepted by representatives of the banking syndicate, which in turn handed over to the City Treasurer checks on the Federal Reserve Bank.

The bonds delivered yesterday were of the following issues: $6,000,000 outfall sewer, $2,500,000 City Hall site, $500,000 playground, $500,000 viaducts and $500,000 Public Library.

This is one of the largest single bond transactions in the city's history, being only exceeded by the delivery more than a year ago of the $13,500,000 power bonds to the Harris Trust & Savings Bank in Chicago by City Treasurer Powell.

SUES IN ARREST

Woman Asks $50,000 Damages in Asserted False Charge

Charging she was arrested and imprisoned in a dark cell for twenty-four hours on an asserted false charge of operating an automobile while under the influence of intoxicating liquor, Mrs. Pearl Sloan yesterday filed suit in the Superior Court for $50,000 asserted damages against L. J. Cunningham and Edward H. Dahlgren.

The defendants in the action were said to be motorcycle officers of Southgate and to have caused the arrest of Mrs. Sloan. The plaintiff said she was acquitted of the charge at a hearing March 22, last, before Justice Miller of Huntington Park.

HERBERT TO APPEAR IN PILGRIMAGE PLAY

Henry Herbert, famous character actor, has again been selected to take the part of Jesus of Nazareth in the Pilgrimage Play which will open Monday, July 7, in the natural amphitheater at entrance to Cahuenga Pass, it was announced yesterday. George L. Eastman, chairman of the Pilgrimage Play Association board of directors declared that a splendid cast had been assembled and that Hollywood's famous Passion Play would be better than ever before.

MAN GETS DECREE

Thomas O. Emmett, after numerous invitations from his wife, Willie F. Emmett, to get out, one day took her at her word and left, he told Judge Summerfield at the hearing of his suit for divorce. She besought him to return, he declared, but when he was through he was through. He was given a divorce.

WINS SLANDER SUIT

Mrs. Victoria Bardoneschi felt that certain remarks passed by Agostina Giulio damaged her to the extent of $25,000, for which sum she sued, but Judge Fleming, after hearing the suit, pared her estimate down to $100 and awarded her that amount in a decision filed yesterday.

Services for Good Friday in City Churches

Good Friday services are to be conducted throughout Los Angeles in the various churches today. Several union meetings are included in the program.

At the First German Methodist Church, Protestant Evangelical churches will join in the closing service of the series of holy week noonday gatherings. Rev. M. Howard Fagan, pastor of the Wilshire Boulevard Christian Church, will deliver the sermon.

Evening services at the Angelus Temple will be held by Aimee Semple McPherson. A special musical program by the Hollywood Bowl chorus of 500 voices, led by Mrs. J. J. Carter, has been arranged.

Lutheran Churches of the Missouri Synod will conduct a meeting in the Morosco Theater at noon, with Prof. Walter Maier delivering the sermon.

Bishop J. J. Cantwell will officiate at the Cathedral of St. Vibian at 9 a.m. at the mass of the presanctification. He will also preach the sermon at the evening Good Friday services. Another mass will be said by Rev. F. J. Conaty in the cathedral chapel, Ninth and Green streets, at 9 a.m.

The First Congregational Church will be the scene of a three-hour service at noon under the auspices of St. Paul's Episcopal Cathedral. The services will be opened by Dr. Carl S. Patton and the sermon will be given by Rev. William MacCormack.

At the Immanuel Presbyterian Church, Dr. Herbert Booth Smith will conduct services at 4:30 p.m. At the Hoover-street Baptist Church, Rev. L. T. Barkman will conduct services.

CHINESE BRAWL IN FAN TAN ARGUMENT

A fan-tan dispute that arose between Chuck Yee and John Quan in a Chinatown game yesterday ended, police say, when Chuck Yee brought a pistol down hard on top of John Quan's head. Police were called and Detective Lieutenants White and Dryden arrested Chuck and took John to the Receiving Hospital. The latter had a scalp wound.

PRIVATE DETECTIVE'S SON ADMITS FORGERY

John Edward Shevlin, said to be the son of a private detective, of 1843 Lake Shore avenue, admitted yesterday to Assistant Captain Wynn and Detective Lieutenant McCauley that he had forged and passed checks amounting to $300 on local department stores, the officers said. He also admitted, they declare, that his age is 19 years instead of 18, as he gave it when arrested Wednesday.

SPEEDERS SWELL RECEIPTS

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

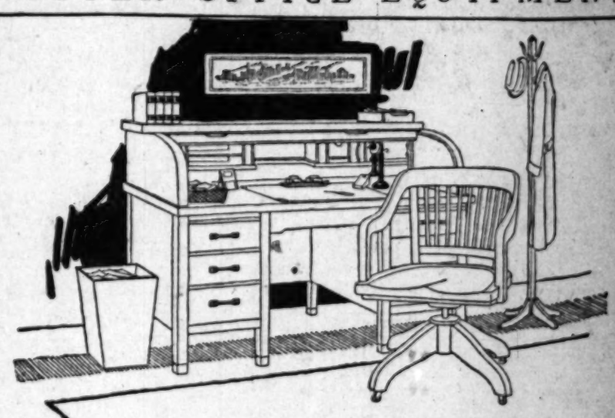
SOUTH PASADENA, April 17.—Nine speeders paid their respects and considerable cash to Recorder Crump in the Police Court here yesterday. A total of $150 was paid into the court in fines. Three persons charged with traffic-rule violations failed to appear.

TRAFFIC MISHAP MAY BE FATAL FOR WOMAN

Mrs. Sarah Flisher, 64 years of age, of 2542 Boulder street, was perhaps fatally injured last night in a traffic accident on Brooklyn avenue near the intersection of Soto street. She was struck down by a machine said to have been driven by Benjamin Edelstein of 2722 Folsom street and suffered a fractured skull and other serious injuries. The woman was attended at the Receiving Hospital. Physicians said she would probably die.

A device for threshing grain that may be operated on a table in the house, has been patented.

BETTER OFFICE EQUIPMENT



"It serves its purpose" is a phrase that has ever been a four-wheel-brake on progress. The Stage Coach served its purpose as did the quill pen and the Letter Press. In many otherwise fine and impressive offices today there are to be found old, antiquated pieces of office furniture which were new when business men lunched at the Pico House. They serve their purpose! That is, the old battered desk will stand without collapsing; the scarred and squeaking files will still hold letters (though you cannot locate them;) the uncomfortable typewriter desk can still groan under the weight of the machine and cause its occupant to glance uneasily at the clock throughout the day. But think of the impression they create upon callers, and upon the members of the organization who must live with these old-timers. Fine, substantial office equipment helps progress.
